Railway Union Asking 25 Per Cent Pay Boost

Also Demands Increase in Pensions, Health Program With Costs Paid by Carriers

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen—the key operating union in the current work rules dispute — has served demands on the nation's railroads for a 25 per cent wage increase.

Also among demands served Sunday by the 78,000-member union were supplemental pensions and company-paid health coverage. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers previously asked the nation's railroads for pay increases.

In Washington, a spokesman for the American Association of Railroads said the organization would have no comment pending a study of the demands.

Board's Findings

An arbitration board issued recommendations Tuesday that could involve the elimination of up to 33,000 firemen's jobs.

The five operating unions and the railroads were to settle wages and other issues between themselves under the Emergency Rail Arbitration Law passed by Congress in August to halt the threat of a strike then. The arbitration board was given only the firemen and train crew issues to settle.

Failure of negotiations could result in the dispute going back to Congress Feb. 25, the expiration date of the Rail Arbitration Law.

Raise Called Overdue

H E Gilbert, president of the BLF&E, said wage adjustments for locomotive engineers, locomotive helpers (firemen), hostlers and hostler helpers represented by the brotherhood were long overdue.

Gilbert said the last wage increase became effective March 1, 1961. He said the railroad industry is operating at near-peak prosperity despite official management statements to the contrary.

Included in the wage demands was a stipulation for a daily earnings minimum of $40 for engineers and $35 for firemen in all classes of road service.

The current wage scale was not available.

2 Members of Cabinet, Budget Chief See Johnson

BY KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called two Cabinet officers and his budget director to the White House today for conferences on economic and defense matters.

The sessions with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Budget Director Kermit Gordon follow hard on the heels of a busy Sunday at the White House for the new President.

While at his desk Sunday, Johnson drafted a letter to defense contractors asking their cooperation in cutting defense costs, and the White House announced the dates when West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, Italian President Antonio Segni and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home will visit the President.

Presents Fermi Award

Johnson begins his work today with an early morning visit from Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League. In late afternoon Johnson presents the $50,000 Enrico Fermi Award to controversial nuclear physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer.

Oppenheimer directed the Los Alamos Laboratory where the atom bomb was developed during World War II. In 1954, he was declared a security risk by the Atomic Energy Commission. The commission did not question his loyalty, but by a 4-1 vote barred him from further access to atom secrets.

Last April, the White House announced that in recognition of his contribution toward developing the bomb, the AEC had selected him to receive the Fermi Award, one of science's most coveted honors.

Leoni, Betancourt Candidate, Leading At Venezuela Polls

Huge Turnout of Voters Despite Terrorist Threats

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Raul Leoni, candidate of Venezuela's anti-Castro government, surged into a strong lead today in the tabulations of the presidential election.

Leoni

With unofficial tabulations one-third completed, Leoni held a margin of nearly 90,000 votes over his closest rival.

The mounting vote for Leoni appeared to indicate ronusednig appeared to indicate resounding popular support for the strong stand outgoing President Romulo Betancourt has taken against Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime.

A big victory by Leoni, candidate of Betancourt's Democratic Action party, would hand the Castroite terrorist underground its second major setback since Sunday, when voters turned out in record numbers despite threats of attacks by snipers.

The unofficial results of the tabulation of 33 per cent of more than 3 million votes: Leoni, 293,332; Jovito Villalba of the Republican Democratic Union, 205,281; Arturo Uslar Pietri, an independent, 189,812; Rafael Caldera of the Social Democrats, 176,178; Wolfgang Larrazabal of the Democratic Popular Force, 83,631.

The pro-Castro Armed Forces for National Liberation threatened death to those who voted and kept up the bombing, sniper fire and sabotage with which it sought during the campaign to provoke a military overthrow of Betancourt.

Voters Defy Terrorists

The voters were not intimidated. Officials estimated that a record 3.4 million persons, about 96 per cent of the eligible voters, cast ballots.

During the day a police agent was killed and his wife wounded in a gun fight between a terrorist gang and police and troops in Caracas.

Five bombs exploded in Caracas, including one in an apartment building hallway that injured a child. Special patrols disarmed 30 other bombs.

Major gun battles broke out after nightfall and after the polls closed. Avenue Urdaneta in downtown Caracas was a no man's land of machine-gun and small arms fire.

Injuries From Crash Fatal to Appleton Man

Ber: Weisen's Death Hikes State Road Toll to 810

OSHKOSH—An Appleton man Bert Weisen, died Sunday afternoon at Mercy Hospital from injuries received in a three-car accident on the U.S. 41 bridge over Lake Butte des Morts on Saturday morning.

The death raised the state's highway toll for the year to 810, compared to 879 one year ago.

Weisen, 59, 1030 Glendale Ave., suffered a skull fracture, crushed ribs and a broken leg, according to Winnebago County Coroner Arthur Miller. The accident happened at 9:12 a.m. Saturday. Weisen died at 12:55 p.m. Sunday.

A total of 11 persons were injured in the accident. Weisen's widow, Mrs. Elsie Weisen, 56, is in serious condition at the hospital with head injuries.

Slippery Surface

The accident happened when a northbound car driven by Neil Shafer, 30, Racine, skidded on a curve on the slippery bridge surface and went into the southbound lane, colliding headon with the car driven by Weisen. A third car, driven by Frank Iwan, 28, Chicago, then hit the rear of the Weisen auto.

Four other passengers in the Weisen car were injured. Donald Gilbert, 34, 1300 E. Marquette St., Appleton, suffered chest and leg injuries; his wife, Pauline, 30, received a broken nose, and their two children, Mark, 4, and Mary, 2, received minor injuries. Five persons in the Shafer car were hurt but none seriously.

Weisen's death raised the 1963 Winnebago County traffic toll to 22.

Nine persons died on Wisconsin roads during the Thanksgiving holiday period.

Fatal Injury

Marvin Anacker, 44, of Wausau was injured fatally this morning when the semi-trailer unit he was driving left Highway 66 about 13 miles northeast

Reynolds Asks Added Efforts For Urban Aid

Says Wisconsin Must Act or Leave Benefits to Others

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON—Recognizing Wisconsin's traditional reluctance to accept federal aid programs, Gov. John Reynolds today keynoted the conference on urban renewal by urging that the state's local governments step up their participation in federal urban help programs.

Reynolds said he understood the historic conservative philosophy of Wisconsin, but he said, if Wisconsin does not take advantage of urban renewal programs, tax dollars paid by Wisconsin residents go to "more energetic" states and cities.

Promotes Stability

Reynolds said urban renewal, in his view, is part of the device of federal assistance to states' "assuring economic stability to all of our nation."

"We must participate in these programs if we are to participate in the economic life of this country," Reynolds said.

About 200 local government officials, state officers and representatives of business groups were registered for the one-day conference on urban renewal.

Hatlo, Creator Of Popular Cartoon, Dies

Hatlo

Hatlo, who also created the "Little Iodine" comic strip, died yesterday of a heart attack at the age of 65, after an illness of several years.

The Hearst King Features Syndicate sent "They'll Do It Every Time" around the world to more than 700 papers. Hatlo was reported to have made $300,000 annually at one time.

("They'll Do It Every Time" appears daily in the Post-Crescent.)

Cartoon Replacement

Brought to California from his native Providence, RI, at the age of one, Hatlo later quit high school to work alongside his father in the composing room of the Los Angeles Times. He transferred to the newspaper's art department at a slash in pay and from 1914 to 1918 penned sports and editorial cartoons.

He joined the San Francisco Bulletin, and then The Call, after brief jobs as publicity man for an auto agency and ad agency.

One day in 1928, The Call's managing editor informed him that "we've just lost 'Bug House Fables.' You'll have to draw something to fill up the space until we buy another feature."

Hatlo then drew the first "They'll Do It Every Time." It and "Little Iodine" were syndicated in the early 1930s.

Hatlo had worked for the last 18 years in his studio at the family home, "Wits End," on the Monterey Peninsula, south of San Francisco.

Inonu Resigns Post as Turkish Prime Minister

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Prime Minister Ismet Inonu, 80, resigned today.

He had returned only Saturday from Washington, where he attended the funeral of President Kennedy.

In his absence, two members of his governing coalition — the new Turkey party and the Peasants Nation party — decided to pull out. This left Inonu in the position either of forming a new government or calling parliamentary elections.

Reports that Inonu was to be assassinated circulated in Turkey Saturday and a heavy security guard was thrown around him as he arrived from the United States.

Agency Shop Bans Put Up to States

U. S. Supreme Court Issues Decision in Florida Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided today state courts may enforce state bans on agency shop labor contracts.

Justice Douglas delivered the 8-0 decision.

Justice Goldberg, former secretary of labor, took no part.

Workers under agency shop contracts do not have to become union members but must pay the equivalent of dues and fees which members pay.

Florida Case

Douglas said that, in the case ruled on today, the Florida Supreme Court had held that a negotiated union-security agreement violated the right to work provision of the Florida Constitution, and that state courts have jurisdiction to provide a remedy.

"We agree with that view," said Douglas.

The Supreme Court on June 3, 1963, ruled that agency shop contracts are permissible under federal law, but said they may be prohibited by state law. The same day the high tribunal upheld the Florida Supreme Court in its findings that the agency shop violates the state's right-to-work law.

Left unanswered then was the question whether enforcement of state bars against agency shops is up to the states or the National Labor Relations Board. The high court called for new arguments on that issue and they were heard on Oct. 16-17.

The Florida case was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court by Local 1625 of the AFL-CIO Retail Clerks Union. The local had an agency shop agreement with Food Fair, Inc., stores in Miami. A group of non-union employes of Food Fair protested against paying fees to the union and the Florida Supreme Court ruled in their favor.

Right-to-work laws prohibit contracts requiring union membership by workers in a plant.

Holiday Traffic Deaths at 526 to Set New Record

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A record 526 deaths occurred on the nation's highways in traffice accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend.

Reports of fatalities during the final hours of the 102-hour period pushed the toll above the 514 of the 1962 Thanksgiving weekend which was the highest since 1958 when The Associated Press initiated tabulations for the fall holiday. The lowest was 442 in 1960.

The toll was recorded during the period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, until midnight Sunday.

The National Safety Council did not estimate a toll in advance of the holiday. Officials said Thanksgiving is a family holiday and highway travel is about the same as a non-holiday weekend at this time of year.

The Associated Press, for comparative purposes, made a survey of a nonholiday period of 102 hours from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 13, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 17, and counted 477 traffic deaths.

Man Accused of Threat to Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert A. Weatherington, 40, was to be arraigned today in General Sessions Court on a charge of making an oral threat against the life of President Johnson.

Secret Service agents arrested Weatherington at his home Saturday night.

Police said Weatherington has a record of erratic behavior.

According to agents, Weatherington complained that he had been discharged by the Army Corps of Engineers because of a nervous condition. He alleged that the President and heads of three local banks were involved in a news blackout of files which would clear his record.

The agents said Weatherington told them that unless the blackout was ended by the President, Johnson would have to die.

Acts to End Dispute

Pope Paul's Apostolic Letter to Extend New Powers to Bishops

BY BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI sent word to the Vatican Ecumenical Council today that he would issue an apostolic letter Tuesday extending new powers to all bishops.

The document apparently will be aimed at resolving a council dispute over the concept of shared power between bishops and the Pope.

Last Working Session

The announcement of the Pope's intention—which gave no details — came during the last working meeting of the council's second session.

The council also received assurances from Augustin Cardinal Bea that controversial declarations on the Jews and on religious tolerance "certainly will come up next fall" at the council's third session. The declarations had been put aside at this session.

Most debate at this final working session centered on a Christian unity schema. The Council has ceremonial meetings Tuesday and Wednesday, then recesses until next Sept. 14.

In the nine weeks since Pope Paul VI resumed the council, which Pope John XXIII called, the Roman Catholic prelates took decisive action in four areas. They also debated three of the 16 schemata, or topics, on their program for renewal of Catholicism and advancement of the cause of Christian unity.

They approved two schemata: One permitting major changes in the forms of Catholicism's worship and the other a statement on mass communications media.

Both topics were debated at the first council session in 1962 and revised during the recess.

In one major vote the prelates decided that theology on the Virgin Mary should be treated within the framework of a schema on the nature of the church, rather than in a separate schema devoted entirely to her. Opponents of the latter procedure argued that it would put undue emphasis on the place of the Virgin in Catholicism, one area of Catholic-Protestant disagreement.

Power of Bishop

Another key vote was held to guide the commission that will write amendments for the schema on the nature of the church. Despite considerable dissent in debate, the council fathers showed in the vote that they overwhelmingly favored the collegial concept that all bishops as a body share with the pope in authority over the church.

The council also debated schemata on the nature of the church, on bishops' powers and diocesan government, and on Christian unity or ecumenism.

The ecumenism schema was before the council today. The members still had not been

School Closing Upheld By Court in Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Virginia Supreme Court said today Prince Edward County had the right to close its public schools to avoid racial integration.

In a 6-1 decision, the majority said the Virginia Constitution gives its localities the option of operating or not operating public schools.

The dissenting judge was Chief Justice John Eggleston, who held that the State Legislature was obliged to provide public education in the county which abandoned it four years ago.

The final adjudication in the long-fought school case hinged in part on the action of the Virginia high court. The case is already before the U.S. Supreme Court on its latest trip and Eggleston's dissent offered this forecast.

"The refusal of the highest court of this state to recognize here the rights of the citizens of Prince Edward County guaranteed to them under the Constitution of the United States is a clear invitation to the federal courts to step in and enforce such rights I am sure that invitation will be promptly accepted. We shall see."

Prince Edward abandoned its public school system in 1959 in the face of court-ordered integration. It took the move by refusing to appropriate local matching school funds.

A private educational foundation immediately organized a school for white pupils. Negroes turned down offers of assistance in opening similar private schools and continued to fight in the courts.

The first break in the education blackout for Negroes came last September when a free privately financed system was set up and is now providing education for the Negroes. The new free schools are being held in former public school buildings.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Thomas Jennerjahn, Rockford, Ill., a sister of the bride. Bridesmaid was Miss Judith McClone.

Richard Kaphingst acted as best man. John Tews was groomsman. Ushering duties were shared by Richard Tews and Ronald Reetz.

The couple was honored at a reception at the Elk's Club.

Couple to Reside at Royalton

ROYALTON — Wedding promises were exchanged at 11 a.m. Saturday at St. Bridget Catholic Church by Miss Karla Thomack and Benny Amador, New London. The Rev. C. Luke Lietermann performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jensen, route 1, Manawa, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Carmel Amador, New London, and the late Mr. Amador.

The couple's honor attendants were Mr. and Mrs. John Amador, New London, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

St. Bridget church hall was the setting for a reception.

Mrs. Amador is employed at Community Hospital, New London. After a southern Wisconsin wedding trip, the newlyweds will reside at Royalton.

June Wedding Planned by Engaged Pair

OSHKOSH — The engagement of Miss Doralee Esther Bartelt and Toby Craig Meyer has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin H. Bartelt, 1030 Otter Ave. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Meyer, 616 E. Third St., Kimberly.

Miss Bartelt attended Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, and is advertising manager at Johnson Hill's Store. Mr. Meyer served in the Navy.

A June wedding is planned.

Why Alfred Burned The Cakes

Students of English history never get the full story of how King Alfred came to burn the cakes. Only in this column can you get the complete hand and the play-by-play account.

Opening lead — ♣ Q

West led the queen of clubs, and the lady of the cottage put the dummy down and stood behind King Alfred for a few seconds. Alfred won the first trick with the king of clubs and led the king of diamonds next.

When both defenders followed suit, the lady of the cottage went into the kitchen to heat the cakes on the stove. It was clear that King Alfred would cautiously give up the second diamond trick to make sure of running the rest of the suit. That would give him ten tricks, and the last rubber would then come to its end.

Little did the lady know that West, a crafty Saxon, read the meaning of her trip to the kitchen. Even a thousand years ago a lady didn't beat up the cakes until the last hand was being played.

When King Alfred led the jack of diamonds at the third trick, West played a crafty ten of diamonds. Alfred naturally assumed that East held the queen, for surely West would have covered the jack if he had held both the queen and the ten. So Alfred won the trick with dummy's ace of diamonds.

It is a matter of history that the queen did not drop. The lady of the cottage came back to find that King Alfred was down two and that the rubber had to go on.

The rubber went on for five more hands, and meanwhile those cakes were still on the stove. So was King Alfred; the lady of the cottage roasted him on both sides.

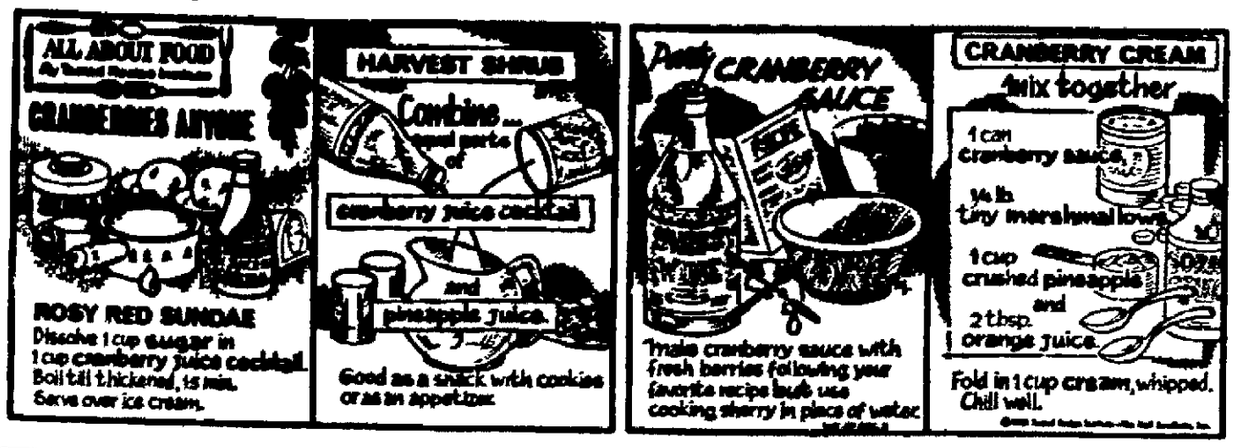

History doesn't record what happened to West, but we have our suspicions. People who make the King look foolish don't live long enough to get into history books.

Your Problems

Ann Suggests Husband Tell 'Nagging' Wife His Grievances

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why is society so merciless to the middle-aged husband who leaves his nagging, selfish, overweight wife to enjoy the company of some pleasant woman who has the sense to praise him occasionally and makes him feel like a man? I Landers

How could his business colleagues honor him with a dinner when he leaves his socks on the floor, blows his nose too hard and forgets to pick up the dry cleaning? Such a man, of course, is not worthy of affection. A pat on the arm in public will help get across the idea to friends that they are a devoted couple. But if he wants more than a peck on the cheek when they get home she says, "At our age? You must be a sex maniac."

Millions of husbands would probably take a powder tomorrow if they didn't fear the label of "heel" for walking out and leaving "the poor thing" with the children, the house, the car, and the bank account. Me—I just left.—Color Me Gone

Dear Friend: There's no point in trying to reach you since you are already Gone. But to other husbands who feel as you do, I'd like to suggest that you spell out your feelings, frankly and promptly, not to me but to your wife—or should I color you yellow?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've never written to a newspaper in all my life, but I simply must comment on the letter from the woman who signed herself, "Topnotch secretary." In my opinion she is a Top-Notch Trouble-Maker who has, I suspect, something beyond a professional interest in her boss.

I, too, work for a "terrific guy" but he is married and has a family, which means he's off-limits so far as I am concerned. I don't care if his wife phones him 30 times a day. If the calls annoy him then HE can tell her. Furthermore, her presence in the office is of no concern to me. She can pitch a tent in the reception room. I couldn't care less.

A Top-Notch secretary knows what to keep her nose out of. And at the head of that list is Family Matters.—Peace It's Wonderful

Dear Wonderful: Thank you for an astute observation. You'd make an excellent member for my recently formed "Mind Your Own Business Club." Welcome to the fold.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have dealt repeatedly with the problem of friends and relatives who insist on visiting the sick in hospitals—but one more time won't hurt. I'm a nurse who recently had surgery so now I understand this problem from all angles.

Some hospitalized folks enjoy visitors. It's good for their morale. These people are the aged, the handicapped, children who must be confined for long periods of time, and fracture cases on the mend. Unfortunately, they are not the ones who get the company.

Usually the woman who had a baby this morning or the man who had a coronary last night get the long line of visitors.

When I was a hospital patient I entertained more guests in my room than I ever entertained at home. I was happy to check out of the hospital so I could get some rest.

Please, Ann, say it again. Do your hospitalized friends and relatives a favor and leave them alone unless they send for you. R.N. of PA.

Dear R.N., I am happy to say it again. "Do your hospitalized friends and relatives a favor and leave them alone unless they send for you."

Greatest of Losses Suffered By Three President's Parents

BY VIRGINIA PALMER

So few parents have lived to see what Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy once called "the culmination of my dreams" — a son in the White House.

Yet of the four Presidents who were assassinated, three left loving parents to suffer this greatest of all losses.

At their son's inauguration on that bitter cold, snowy January morning less than three years ago, the former Ambassador and his wife sat side by side and witnessed the events as no other American parents had ever done.

Bette Hollander

Winter Rite Planned by Engaged Pair

Dec. 28 has been chosen as the wedding date of Miss Bette Hollander and John R. Imhof. The couple's engagement was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hollander, 1322 N. Union St. Mr. Imbof is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Imhof, Milwaukee.

Miss Hollander attended Lincoln College, Lincoln, Ill., and was graduated from the Neenah - Menasha Vocational School of Practical Nursing. She is employed at Appleton Memorial Hospital. Her fiance was graduated from the University of Wisconsin as a distinguished graduate of the AFROTC, with a degree in mechanical engineering. Lt. Imhof is with the Air Force at Lubbock, Texas.

Good Friday

When President Lincoln was slain on Good Friday (in the same year Mrs. Fitzgerald was born) his "angel mother" grieved quietly on her farm in Goose Neck Prairie, Ind.

Before leaving for Washington five years before, President-elect Lincoln had made a sentimental journey to her home. Afterward, Sarah Lincoln told others she had a weird premonition something tragic faced him.

The President's stepmother outlived him by four years, seven months.

Sweet - faced, quick - witted Aunt Eliza Garfield captured the imagination of the American public when she became the first mother to attend her son's inauguration.

Less than four months later, on July 2, 1881, Mrs. Garfield, "the star White House boarder," saw him off for the 25th reunion of his class at Williams College, in an especially jovial mood. Within the hour, a total stranger, Charles Guiteau, a disappointed office seeker, shot the soft-spoken President at the Washington depot.

Survived by Mother

"It's only a slight wound—Be careful how you tell my mother," the mortally injured man cautioned.

President Garfield died 80 days later, survived by his pioneer mother, wife and family.

Like so many others, the parents of James Garfield, William McKinley and John F. Kennedy worried when their young sons donned a military uniform. All men returned home with distinguished war records only to be sacrifired for their country.

Those who knew the closeness between William McKinley and his mother felt it was a blessing she was spared knowing of his murder. A paralytic stroke had taken the former Nancy Allison during her son's term in the White House and the entire country went into a 30-day mourning period at that time.

Outlived Son

Only one other father has outlived his President son. Dr. George T. Harding, a retired surgeon, had married three times and produced eight children, the oldest of which was the President who died of apoplexy in a San Francisco hotel in 1923. Dr. Harding lived on five years longer.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

MISTAKEN MOTHER-IN-LAW

Dear Louise: I have a problem which has caused a great deal of trouble between my family and my mother-in-law. During my pregancy, one of my close friends offered to give a baby shower for me. She verbally committed herself to several people before the invitations were mailed. The baby arrived four weeks ahead of time and my friend decided to go ahead and give the shower anyway. My mother-in-law did not think that a shower was in order. She neither replied to the invitation nor did she attend or send a gift. Was my friend incorrect by giving the shower after the arrival of the baby? And what would have been the proper thing for my mother-in-law to do since she objected so strenuously?

Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

A shower after the arrival of a baby is just as correct as giving one beforehand. There was no reason for your friend to cancel the party. Your mother-in-law should have acknowledged the invitation whether or not she approved. Her failure to do so was inconsiderate to her hostess who wished to know whether or not she was coming. Even though she disapproved, she made another mistake by purposely censuring your friend.

FOR LADIES ONLY

Dear Louise: A friend phoned to invite me to a party at her home in a nearby town one day next week. She called it a "hen party." I don't know what that means and hated to ask. I wondered if it meant that she's having chicken for dinner. Please advise.

Louise Davis Answers:

A hen party is a slang expression for a party without men.

Damage to Closed Building

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Where wallpaper and furniture are concerned, will closing a house (deep in Ohio's snow belt) for a time during the winter cause damage? We are planning six weeks in Caribbean climes. Naturally all pipes would be drained, etc. Is it O.K. to shut off heat and go?

A: Yes; lucky you!

Q: Light sleeper has a problem because of bedroom location right next to laundry room. Is there any way to lessen noise by soundproofing walls?

A: Quickest correction, and most economical, is a pair of ear plugs. Second is using laundry during normal waking hours. If not possible, because laundry needs to be used at odd hours, wall can be sound-softened with acoustical tile, heavy drapes, or both. A false wall, built an inch or so from the present wall, with insulation blown into the intervening space, will contribute greatly toward light sleeper's uninterruptions.

Q: The nails in the overhang on our house show rust over them. We plan to paint in the spring. How can we remove these rust marks and prevent their occurring again in the new paint coating?

A: Remove the rust from the nailheads with steel wool and turpentine. Then apply a dab of shellac or rust - inhibiting paint to the head. Fill the nail holes with putty to the level of the surrounding surface and touch up with house paint before applying the finish coat. Any new nails should be nonrusting variety.

SEAMS TO ME By Patricia Scott

Yule Gift For Friend

If you've been looking for the perfect Christmas gift for one of your sewing friends, a scissors case may be the answer. It's an accessory all sewing gals should have; it's decorative as well if made in gay colored felt. The case will protect scissors and shears, too often thrown around carelessly, and it is a good hiding place if there are small children in the house.

Pat Scott

Felt is wonderful to work with for several reasons. It is 72 inches wide, a non-woven fabric without grain, and it comes in a glorious range of colors. The edges don't have to be finished because they don't ravel. Sewing on felt is simple: you use a medium to long stitch (8-10 per inch), a light tension and mercerized cotton thread.

To Make:

1. Cut two rectangular pieces of felt with pinking shears, 16 inches long and 12 inches wide. The pinking shears are used for decoration.

2. Place one felt piece flat on a table. Place your scissors and shears, tape measure, thimble and other necessary supplies in position and mark the location for the little protective covers, as illustrated. Include a spot for needles and pins.

3. Cut covers for each utensil, using pinking shears for the decorative edge.

4. On one piece of felt, stitch all covers in place, as shown. Next take some soutache braid and stitch around the edge of each rectangle of felt. Place the two rectangles wrong sides together, and stitch down the center, thus holding both pieces together. Cut two pieces of buckram to fit each half and slip between felt at each side. Cut handles and pin in place.

5. Stitch around entire outside edge and the scissors case is completed.

Make your case in varied colors such as shocking pink or turquoise, the covers for utensils in white, and soutache braid in white. To use up leftover scraps, make eyeglass and compact cases by measuring the size of the article, cutting two pieces of felt with pinking shears and then stitching along the edge, leaving one end open. Then decorate in braid or embroider by hand or with the zigzag machine. Though inexpensive, the case will be greatly appreciated.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, How to Alter Your Dress Patterns, which gives complete instructions for altering so that finished garments will fit perfectly. For your copy of this guide to correct fitting, write to Patricia Scott in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Living Within Income

Women's Spare Time Can Be Used to Make Money

BY MARY FARLEY
Consultant to Money Management

From what I read in the mail, many women are getting frustrated at being constantly told how lucky the modern homemaker is, with fine household equipment that gives her all the leisure time. These women don't want leisure time. They want work. They want to earn money to help pay the bills and feed their families.

But with all there is to be done in this world, it's a tough go trying to find work that can be done in the home, with no capital and not too much time to spare.

"I have a new baby and would not like to leave my son with anybody. Are there any services or businesses I could get started in?" writes a young wife in Chicago.

"Working outside the home would be out of the question, as I tried it and found it impossible to keep a house, four children, and a job. My children are deprived of much that other children have", says a mother in Central Islip, N. Y.

A young woman in Cincinnati asks for suggestions for supplementing the family income. "My dad is deceased and mother is working, so I stay at home and do all the domestic tasks."

Letter after letter poses the same question: What can I do to make some money?

Perhaps the following, from a wife in Glendale, Ariz., will spark some of you who are bewildered:

"We are a couple in our early 30s with two children, 11 and 13. When my husband's take-home pay was just $200 a month, it was mighty hard to make ends meet—even though living costs were a little lower in those years I can testify that for any wife and mother who can sew or type, a sewing machine or typewriter—used or otherwise—can be a wonderful investment.

"We first bought the sewing machine with 36 monthly payments. I spread our clothing allowance much further with my sewing, which justified the interest or carrying charges on the machine. Over the years I made virtually everything my children were, including snowsuits.

"When the sewing machine was paid for, I spent $30 for a used typewriter, and let it be known to my friends and business acquaintances that I could handle overflow work, jobs for people who didn't usually have office help, anything in the typing field. We lived near a university and two colleges. I sent lists of my rates for term papers and theses, to each, and they were posted on the bulletin boards. The first month I earned $40—at home with no baby-sitter to pay, nor extra expenses for clothes or transportation. In a short time I was turning work away. I earned as much as $140 a month at home.

"Life is much easier now, but we never forget the way it used to be. I feel so deeply for those who are having a struggle because we've been there."

I know of another woman who earns money regularly by keeping checkbooks for individuals. She simply thought of the idea—plenty of efficient men and women just can't keep their own checkbooks balanced! She advertised her service by word of mouth.

Other ideas that have paid off are cake-decorating; gift wrapping packages for special occasions all during the year (business firms in your community might be glad to have this service for children, taking the load completely off of mothers—even to making place cards and party favors out of crepe paper, providing tablecloths or place mats and na-kins, suggesting games to be played, and delivering the "party" all tied up at just the proper time.

Some women have evolved an original doll, inexpensive to make but with personality that charmed all who saw it. Making doll clothes is another project that has brought a modest income—tailor-made clothes for favorite dolls that aren't "ready-to-wear" sizes and shapes!

Beware of 'Come-Ons'

Of course, there are a multitude of advertisements — by mail, radio, newspaper, magazines—offering "work at home". And while some of them really may have something to offer, approach these "golden opportunities" with caution. Better Business Bureaus receive daily inquiries and complaints from housewives, shut - ins, elderly persons, widows, and others who have responded to what appeared to be offers of lucrative home employment. There mick to enrich the promoter. wasn't any work—just a gim-

In order to check the reliability of an out-of-town company offering "part-time" work at home, you can write The National Better Business Bureau, 230 Park Avenue, New York 10017, N. Y.

And before you invest any money, even a dollar, in a "golden opportunity," I suggest you read a booklet entitled "Facts You Should Know About 'Earn Money at Home Schemes'". Send 15 cents for a copy, to the National Bureau at the above address. It will make you wiser before some smart promoter makes you poorer!

UW Student Tells About Holiday Visit

MADISON (AP) — "Except for the Secret Service men it was just like spending time with any other American girl" a University of Wisconsin freshman said Sunday upon his return from a visit with Lucy Baines Johnson.

Jack Olson described President Lyndon B. Johnson's 16-year-old daughter as fun-loving "with a tremendous sense of humor and a good dance step."

The 18-year-old Maiden Rock, Wis., youth spent five days in the home of the new first family and he said the Johnsons treated him "just as graciously as they had when I dated Lucy last summer."

Met Last Year

He met her last February when she gave a party for Capitol pages. Olson had been named a page by Rep. Lester Johnson, D-Black River Falls.

"I used to call her once in a while," he said. "Then we dated during the summer."

"Mostly we drove around the capital to see some of the sights I wanted to see. Occasionally we went to dinner," he said.

Olson said he had escorted her to the International Ball earlier this month in Washington and she had invited him to Thanksgiving Day dinner.

When Olson heard the news of President Kennedy's assassination, he said he was "too stunned to think." Later, he said, he went to Malden Rock, a community of 100 in Pierce County, and called Lucy.

Not Afraid

"I knew how Lucy would feel," he said. "She was pretty upset by the run of events." At first Lucy was frightened for her father also, Olson said. "After a few days, she wasn't so afraid anymore, though," he added.

A Secret Service man accompanied the young couple when they went out by themselves, Olson said. "It was more like having another friend along."

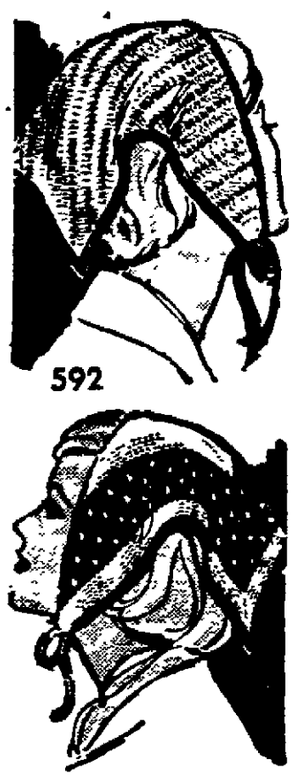

Olson explained that he paid the check for the couple's dinner and the Secret Service man paid for his own.

Olson is majoring in chemical engineering and intends to study law after he has a bachelor's degree, he said. Olson said he hopes to become a patent attorney and may practice in Washington.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Health in Hands

The triumphs of science over infectious diseases may be fleeting unless the rest of us enlist in the struggle. Our part is scrupulous cleanliness. In uncleanly surroundings, germs multiply, grow stronger and resist control.

Contamination is communicated through the air, by infested clothing, food and eating utensils, and by physical contact. The unwashed hand, however, takes the lead when it comes to transporting germs from person to person.

Health authorities state that the hands cannot be washed too often or too thoroughly. A surgaon's scrub-up is indicated before handling a baby, before preparing or eating food, and after contact with ailing persons. To that we say "amen."

Scrub - ups help to prevent the transmission of germs to others and to yourself. The cold or the skin infection you save may be your own.

The only possible drawback to keeping the hands in a hygienic state just might be a sensitive hand complexion. And even that problem can be overcome by the use of a creamy, non - alkaline cleanser. Formulated with lanolin, hexachlorophene and a low pH, the action is both nondrying and antibacterial. Soothing to the hands and irksome to germs.

Lovelier Hands

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for Lovelier Hands, a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

Mrs. Kennedy's Ordeal

Courageous From Day of Murder Until After Burial

BY FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — She chose a gay pink suit that day and was late getting started.

Her husband explained her absence to several thousand cheering Texans.

"Mrs. Kennedy is busy organizing herself," he confided in an 8:46 a.m. (CST), politicking appearance. "It takes a little longer, you know, but then she looks so much better than we do."

There was the inevitable bouquet of red roses as President and Mrs. Kennedy arrived in Dallas, Tex., that fair Friday of Nov. 22. The red clashed with the pink of her wool suit and pillbox hat.

Enthusiastic Welcome

They stepped into the big dark blue convertible they had shared on so many state occasions and the winding 11-mile motorcade began.

The crowds stood 10 to 12 deep on sidewalks and cheered them. They sat there smiling—President Kennedy, Gov. John Connally of Texas and their wives—saying what a fine welcome the Kennedys had been given after all.

Mrs. Kennedy, just resuming official activities after the death of her infant son three months ago, had not been on a speech-making tour since 1960. It was her first visit to Texas. She shook hands freely in the crowds, won cheers with a 73-word speech in Spanish, and admitted she was enjoying campaigning.

Cheered in Dallas

They had expected trouble in Republican Dallas, a center of political conservatism, but their reception was being described as "magnificent."

"Mr. President, they can't make you believe now that there are not some in Dallas who love and appreciate you," said Gov. Connally's wife, Nellie.

"You should know, you sure can't," said the President as the big car, taking them to luncheon at the trade mart, approached the six-story Texas School Depository building at 12:30 p.m.

Moment of Tragedy

Suddenly, there were those three sharp cracks that sounded more like fireworks.

Mrs. Kennedy cried out "Oh, no!" as her husband fell back, face down on the back seat, blood spurting from wounds in his head and neck.

She tried to lift him and cradle his head in her lap.

"Oh, my God! They've killed my husband," she cried.

"Jack, Jack," she called the name of the handsome, 46-year-old man who had been smiling beside her moments before. But John F. Kennedy, the man she had married 10 years ago, never regained consciousness.

The Secret Service man, who had been with her for three years, came leaping over the back of the car to throw himself spread-eagled over them. Mrs. Kennedy reached a hand to help him.

In the following story, Frances Lewine, AP reporter who covered the activities of Mrs. John F. Kennedy during her White House years, including a trip around the world, recreates in step-by-step detail the former First Lady's ordeal, from the start of the day on which the 35th President was assassinated in Dallas, through the funeral services in Washington.

Connally Shot in Back

The four in the car feared they might all be shot. As a bullet slammed into his back, Connally shouted:

"My God, they're going to kill us all."

"Get this car out of here," snapped an agent. And, the limousine made a breakneck dash for Parkland Hospital.

Mrs. Kennedy cradled her husband's head and wept. When she walked with his stretcher to the hospital emergency room, the blood stained her pink suit and soaked one stocking.

The red roses lay crushed on the floor of the car.

As she waited outside the emergency room while doctors made their futile efforts, Mrs. Kennedy seemed to know her husband was dying.

Last Rites Administered

She was dazed and shocked. A priest administered last rites. Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, friends and associates hovered about.

A medical student later described Mrs. Kennedy:

"The look in her eyes was like an animal that had been trapped, like a little rabbit — brave, but fear was in her eyes."

But in her grief, Mrs. Kennedy remembered others. She thanked the priest who administered last rites. "Pray for him (Kennedy)," she begged.

Her voice was clear and audible as she said responses to prayers with others. There were no hysterics.

Kennedy was declared dead at 1 p.m. The chief neurosurgeon, Dr. Kemp Clark, gently told Mrs. Kennedy the news she had guessed.

Like Greek Tragedy

"She, like everyone else around there had a paralyzed look. We just couldn't believe this could happen," the priest said.

The events of that day and the ordeal that followed for Mrs. Kennedy were like a Greek tragedy.

There was hardly time to think. And there was to be no privacy for this widow. She had lost an infant son three months ago and now her husband, just at a time when the family was preparing to observe the birthdays of their two children, Caroline, now 6, and John Jr., 3, and to spend a happy Thanksgiving with the Kennedy family at Cape Cod.

Prolonged Ordeal

In the 75 hours from Kennedy's death until his coffin was lowered into a grave at Arlington National Cemetery Monday, Nov. 25, Mrs. Kennedy was spared little.

The death and funeral of John Fitzgerald Kennedy and his widow's grief were a public display.

The world knew of the private and touching moment at the hospital when Mrs. Kennedy had tearfully kissed her husband's lifeless lips and put her wedding ring on his finger.

Then the bronze coffin was closed, never to be opened again in public.

Mrs. Kennedy had started to show the determination to carry on in her husband's tradition of personal courage.

In contrast to the many happy occasions, it was an eerie sight at Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland, where a great outpouring of reporters, cameramen and officials had gathered in the floodlighted 6 p.m. darkness.

Retained Composure

The Kennedys had walked gaily aboard the Air Force One jet two days before. Mrs. Kennedy had turned to wave to son John, who took the helicopter ride from the White House to see them off.

Now a great, ungainly yellow cargo lift lowered Kennedy's casket, with Mrs. Kennedy standing beside it, holding tightly to the hand of her brother-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Her face showed her anguish, but she retained composure.

A grey Navy ambulance waited. With so many there to help her, Mrs. Kennedy somehow reached out to open the ambulance door herself.

They went to Bethesda Naval Hospital. For almost 10 hours Mrs. Kennedy waited there while doctors performed an autopsy and the President's body was prepared for burial.

Took No Sedatives

Mrs. Kennedy stayed there because she did not want to leave the body, aides said. She took no sedatives.

With courage rarely seen, she began almost at once to plan the funeral. She wanted it to be "as distinguished a tribute as possible," the White House said.

She approved the burial in a site among Arlington National Cemetery's 126,000 dead, she requested an eternal flame in his memory, she started discussing plans for a monument.

Mrs. Kennedy chose to pattern Kennedy's funeral after that of Abraham Lincoln, similarly martyred almost 100 years ago.

Back in White House

At 4:25 a.m.—16 hours after he was shot — Mrs. Kennedy brought her husband home to the White House. Mrs. Kennedy would not change her clothes and the bloodstained badge was there as she followed the casket into the White House.

Once home, Mrs. Kennedy had to face her children, and make plans for a future home she quickly decided would be in Washington.

The next day, Mrs. Kennedy took her children to pray at the casket in the East room. Then more than 4,000 friends, officials, congressmen, diplomats, staff members and newsmen came to pay respects in a day-long downpour of rain that seemed to symbolize the tragedy.

Showed "Majesty"

Mrs. Kennedy stayed in seclusion and the new President left the White House to the grieving Kennedys.

In the next two days, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, 34, a former debutante and product of elegant schools, became a dramatic figure.

A London newspaper said she gave the American people "the one thing they always lacked—majesty."

While the greats of the world —kings, queens, princes, presidents, premiers—looked on, and nationwide television focused on her every heart-rending moment, Mrs. Kennedy spared herself nothing.

The funeral of John F. Kennedy came on Monday, Nov. 25 —three endless days after his assassination and on the third birthday of John Jr. The rites lasted five hours and Mrs. Kennedy stood unflinching through most of the long pageantry. But twice tears filled her eyes.

Twelve hundred persons had been invited to St. Matthews Cathedral, including Kennedy's distant Irish cousin, Mary Ann Ryan, who had entertained the President at his ancestral home in County Wexford in June.

This time with a long black veil shielding her face, Mrs. Kennedy led the eight - block march from the White House to the church with world leaders following her and the caisson.

Richard Cardinal Cushing, who had married the Kennedys, baptized their children and said the funeral mass for infant Patrick, officiated at Kennedy's funeral.

Tears came when Mrs. Kennedy had to wait halfway down the cathedral aisle while the body was placed on the caisson for the last ride to Arlington.

Caroline Weeps

Six-year-old Caroline wept, too. John Jr., hardly able to grasp the significance of it all, saluted as the coffin left the cathedral.

President Johnson Places a bouquet of red roses at the grave of John F. Kennedy in Arlington National Cemetery Sunday. Mrs. Johnson is beside the new chief executive. (AP Wirephoto)

At Arlington, after the Taps sounded and she had lighted the eternal flame, Mrs. Kennedy suddenly turned to Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chief of the joint chiefs of staff, embraced him and pressed her veiled cheek against his, her eyes filling.

But, she walked firmly out of the cemetery, clutching the flag which had covered the coffin.

Five times, Mrs. Kennedy returned to the grave in the next three days, once late at night. She took Caroline once.

She urged President Johnson to rename Cape Canaveral to Cape Kennedy in memory of her late husband's interest in space exploration—and it was done.

Then, she left for seclusion and a Thanksgiving reunion with the Kennedy family at Cape Cod.

Many memorials have been suggested the world over for Kennedy. But what could match the one his wife gave him?

Cataracts Should be Removed Immediately

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have "slight" cataracts that must eventually be removed. Should this be done now or later?

MRS. A. J.

Molner

Some diseases must be treated as soon as they are discovered, and the sooner they are recognized, the better the chance of complete cure. Cancer is one of these.

With some others it doesn't much matter whether you notice them early or late — and cataracts are a good example.

Some people with cataracts wait until they can barely see. Then they have them removed, successfully. Others have them removed early; these usually are people who have to use their eyes a great deal for fine detail work.

The result is the same in either case. Waiting, within reason, isn't going to do any harm, except that while the operation is postponed, loss of eyesight is prolonged.

Since yours were discovered early, and are "slight," and don't bother you seriously, now, just use your eyes as long as they will serve.

You'll need glasses afterward because the operation means removal of the lens which is built into the eye.

You'll have to allow some days for rest and recuperation, and having glasses fitted, but you'll then be able to see all right. It may be, and this is usually the case, that you'll have one cataract removed while the other eye is still of some use to you. And then you'll have the other one operated.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is flatulence a subject that doctors won't discuss?

Surely the medical profession can prescribe at least relief if not cure — neither digestion tablets nor baking soda is effective with me.

M.G.

The average doctor (and include me) isn't too happy about trying to offer a quick, easy remedy for flatulence. Or let's use a simpler word: Gas.

The answer for some people is so simple that they can't believe it: Don't swallow air! Babies do it. That's why we burp them. Some adults unconsciously acquire the habit of swallowing air. Then they burp.

They tend to swallow air in quantity as they eat or drink. This can be overcome by eating and drinking slowly, and never gulping. There is no pill, no medicine that will prevent air-swallowing.

Where more serious underlying causes contribute, there will be other signs. Ulcers, gastritis, gall bladder disease, hiatal hernia and so on, will make themselves known. But professional diagnosis is important because these complaints require effective treatment. And to treat effectively, you have to be sure of the trouble.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Today in History

Today is Monday, Dec. 2, the 336th day of 1963. There are 29 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1929, the U.S. government called upon China and Russia to avoid war-like measures in Manchuria and attempt to settle peacefully their dispute over the Chinese Eastern Railway. The United States notified 53 other nations of its action.

On this date:

In 1784, George Washington gave the name "Empire State" to New York in a letter to the Common Council.

In 1873, the Reformed Episopal Church in the United States was organized.

In 1919, President Woodrow Wilson sent Congress a message in which he urged the lowering of taxes and that the industry be curbed and democratized.

In 1942, the Atomic Age was born in Chicago with a demonstration of nuclear chain reaction.

In 1954, President Dwight D. Eisenhower rejected the idea of a U.S. blockade of Communist China as an act of war."

Ten years ago—U.S. ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge charged in the United Nations riots inside U.N. prison camps in Korea were directed by General Nam Il at the same time Nam Il was representing the North Korean and Chinese Communists in the armistice talks at Panmunjom.

Five years ago—Democratic Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota held an eight-hour meeting in Moscow with Soviet Premier Khrushchev sand said he saw no room for compromise on the Berlin situation.

One year ago— U.N. Secretary General U Thant expressed hope that the spirit of compromise could be extended to outstanding cold war problems between East and West.

Farm Price Trend May Be Slowing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long upward trend in prices of farm land may be due for a slowdown.

The Agriculture Department, describing the outlook as cloudy sees both price-sepressing and price-supporting forces at work.

It expects some downward pressure because of lower prices anticipated for wheat in 1964, but with expected stronger demand for exports and somewhat higher prices than had been expected likely to be a moderating factor

"However, lower net farm income in 1964 because of higher production expenses and lower cash receipts from wheat may dampen the current strong demand for land," the department says.

"Continuing pressures to increase farm size to better utilize new technology, and upward price pressures in the nonfarm economy will continue to provide strong underlying support for land prices.

"Price-depressing and price-supporting forces could be largely offsetting."

Market values of farm real estate have advanced 5 to 6 per cent annually since mid-1961, about double the annual increases of the previous two years

In mid-1963, the national index was about double the 1947-49 average and 27 per cent above 1957-59. Average values per acre were at record highs in nearly all states. Total market value of farmland and buildings was estimated at $148 billion, a national average of 134 per acre.

Learn 'Tricks' for Driving in Winter

Superhighways Dangerous at Overpasses, Intersections Worse

There are "tricks" to be learned in winter driving even on the state's superspeed highways, Patrol Richard Mauel of the State Highway Patrol said today.

Mauel aided in an investigation Saturday of an accident in which an Appleton man was fatally injured on U.S. 41 at the Butte des Morts bridge in Winnebago County. The accident may have been caused, Mauel said, due to a quick freeze of the bridge surface.

Other hazard spots on the modern roads can be found both under and over an overpass, at intersections, at entry and exit points and along the shoulders.

Snow and ice melt slowly at overpass points because they don't melt as quickly there. Also cold wind rushing through the overpass has a tendency to keep the road surface on the overpass cold and slippery.

Drivers may have a tendency to "overdrive" on a slippery road and miss their normal turnoff points. Mauel said it is illegal for drivers to "back up on a superhighway if they miss their turning point.

"Don't try to figure out the road ahead of you," Mauel said. "Just because the road is clear and smooth where you are, don't figure it will be that one mile ahead."

Ramps and entryways are dangerous due to the lack of normal traffic, and the inclines. Although ramps are cleared as regularly of snow as the roadways, the pitch of the ramp and the sudden drifts make the ramps a more dangerous place to drive.

Jockeying Dangerous

"It would be a good idea to get in one lane and stay there," Mauel said. "The fast lanes on most superhighways are always slippery. Jockeying back and forth may become dangerous."

Mauel gave the following tips for driving the superhighways this winter:

1. If you must stop, get clear of the roadway. Carry flares for emergencies. If the storm looks threatening, make arrangements to stay at a motel.

2. Always approach an overpass with caution. You can bet it will be slippery.

Study Conditions

3. Don't try to drive at the legal speed limit. You can be arrested for driving too fast for conditions, even if the car is driven under the legal speed limit.

4. If planning a long trip, check a law enforcement agency near your point of destination to determine the condition of the roads.

5. There are many intersections onto superhighways which are major traffic corners. Slow up when approaching an intersection.

Oshkosh Group Hits Fox Cities Airlines

Chamber Claims Move Is Attempt To 'Blackjack' Winnebago Into Foregoing Expansion of Airport

OSHKOSH—"The recent formation of 'Fox Cities Airlines' in Appleton is an attempt to institute shuttle service direct to Chicago thus blackjacking us in Winnebago County into foregoing any improvements or expansion of our airport," the December issue of "Chamber News," published by the Oshkosh Area Chamber of Commerce, states The issue was distributed today.

On the front page of the December "Chamber News" is the following statement under the heading "Future of the Winnebago County Airport Is in Our Hands"

"The die has been cast. Winnebago and Outagamie counties are now locked in a struggle to see which airport within the next 10-15 years will be the dominant regional airport in the Winnebagoland area, regardless of the CAB examiner's decision in the matter of the North Central Area Airport Investigation It should be apparent to anyone who has carefully reviewed the testimony, plus numerous newspaper accounts of statements from leaders in Outagamie County for the new Outagamie airport under construction, that it is not just for replacing the old airport or meeting just their general aviation needs.

Real Objective

"Their real objective is for the eventual establishment of an airport which will not only be the hub for traffic originating in the area, but will also replace Brown County's Austin Straubel Field as the route junction point for all connecting flights.

"The recent formation of 'Fox Cities Airlines' in Appleton is an attempt to institute shuttle service direct to Chicago thus blackjacking us in Winnebago County into foregoing any improvements or expansion of our airport.

"It is obvious that Outagamie County will not and cannot build the type of airport it envisions without substantial state and federal aid as well as a substantial increase in air traffic. It, therefore, follows that every effort will be made by the Outagamie County interests to oppose any physical improvements and expansion projects of the Winnebago County Airport that involve state and federal funds. They will also oppose any attempts on our part to secure improved airline service, particularly direct service to the east.

"Now is the time for all of us to be vigilant and progressive. The Oshkosh Area Chamber of Commerce pledges its continuing efforts toward maintaining Winnebago County's regional airport."

Two Men Badly Hurt in Crash Near Sherwood

Earl E. Kettner, Appleton, Has Most Serious Injuries

SHERWOOD—Two men were seriously injured in a head-on collision about 6 p.m. Sunday on State 114, two miles west of here at the intersection with State 55.

In critical condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital was Earl E. Kettner, 313 E. Murray Ave., Appleton, a passenger in a car driven by Eugene H. Summers, 29, 1806 Sanders St., Appleton.

Kettner suffered severe head injuries and a broken foot when the Summers car collided with one driven by Roger J. Braun, 27, route 1, Kaukauna.

Summers also suffered head injuries, and is a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Taken in Ambulance

They were taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance. Braun suffered a bruised right hand.

State police said the Summers auto was west bound. The report indicated Braun was attempting to turn left onto State 55 when the crash occurred.

Braun told police he was thinking about turning around when the accident occurred. Police were able to get a short statement from Summers at the hospital. He said he did not know what happened.

Authorities said the Summers car was equipped with seat belts, but they were not in use at the time of the accident.

Lawrence, St. Norbert, Ripon Colleges Get Contributions From HFC

Contributions from Household Finance Corp. have been given to Lawrence, Ripon, and St. Norbert colleges, according to D. O. Ulshafer, manager of Household Finance Corp. in Appleton.

The contributions were part of a program of gifts totaling $90,500 given to 532 privately supported co-educational and men's liberal arts colleges and universities. The checks ranged in amount from $100 to $1,000, based upon the fulltime enrollment of the individual colleges.

Five File For Spring Elections

Five more Appleton residents have taken out nomination papers for the spring election, raising the total to 18 since Friday morning.

City Clerk Elden Broehm said papers can be obtained at his office in the city hall. He reminded the deadline for filing is Jan. 28, 1964.

Obtaining papers over the weekend and today were:

Frederick S. Ziemann, 1315 W. College Ave., the incumbent 6th Ward alderman rounding out his first term on the common council. He is a forester for the Combined Locks Paper Co.

Raymond C. Emerich, 913 E. Marquette St., an accountant, interested in the 14th Ward aldermanic post.

Gerald W. Ahrens, 615 N. Lawe St., operator of Central Delivery Service, 2nd Ward alderman. He has had no previous experience.

Theodore A. Jens, 1606 N. Superior St., retired, and incumbent 16th Ward supervisor for the past three years.

Glenn E. Pelton, 939 E. Washington St., retired, incumbent 12th Ward supervisor for the past five years.

Car Sales Firm Executive Dies

Rites Wednesday for Sheldon L. Tusler, 57, of Appleton

Sheldon L. Tusler, 57, president of Tusler Motor Co., Inc., died at 6 a.m. today.

Tusler, 903 W. Taylor St., was an auditor with General Motors before coming to Appleton in 1937. He was a member of Zion Lutheran Church, the Masonic Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and the Odd Fellows.

Survivors are the widow, three daughters, three sons, a brother and ten grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Wichmann Funeral Home with the Rev. W. H. Gammelin officiating.

Servicemen Get Recordings of Yule Messages

County Red Cross Chapter Provides Service to Families

Joel D. Ebben, now serving with the U.S. Air Force in the Philippines, will be far from home this Christmas, but he will hear cheerful Christmas greetings and special messages from his parents, brothers and sister on Christmas Day.

The Joseph J. Ebben family, 109 W. Hancock St., is only one of many families who will take advantage of this Christmas service offered for the fourth consecutive year by the Outagamie County chapter of the American Red Cross.

A recording may be made by immediate families of men and women serving in any branch of the armed services overseas. Exchange students in high school or college also are invited to use the facilities for sending holiday messages to their parents.

Any Resident

Any Outagamie County resident who wishes to make a recording for a serviceman may call the Red Cross office in Appleton any time before Dec. 15 and schedule an appointment. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Red Cross suggests that all participants write up ideas and news items, keeping everything cheerful. They should time themselves for three minutes on each side of the record.

A camera has been set up again this year to snap a picture which can be enclosed with the record. A mailing folder will be provided for each record. The only cost to the families is the postage.

State Resource Men Estimate Appleton Plan Cost at $100,000

Officials of the Wisconsin Resource Development Department, the agents for distributing federal grants for planning, has indicated a comprehensive plan for Appleton will cost an estimated $100,000.

City officials were told the project, which will take two years to complete, will cost $5,000 more than anticipated.

However, the city will receive some credit for planning work already accomplished and that will be subtracted from the total cost.

Plan Commission Postpones Action on Rezoning Request

Would Block Construction of 12th Ward Luxury Apartments

Appleton Plan Commission decided to hold off action today on an unusual rezoning request, which if approved, would block construction of proposed luxury apartments in the 12th Ward.

Ald. Douglas A. Agilvie instituted the request to have about three acres of land between Riverside Cemetery and Bellaire Park changed from multiple family to single family residence district.

While this is unusual in itself, another aspect of the proceedings is that in 1961 the property had been rezoned from single family to multiple family with no opposition from residents of the area.

Luxury Apartments

Two years ago Appleton businessman Bruce Purdy had the land rezoned by the commission when he indicated plans for building luxury apartments.

However, Purdy changed his mind and sold the land to another businessman, Clarence Kramlich, who also indicated he wanted to build a four to six-unit luxury apartment building and reside there himself.

But area residents claim they heard the property is up for sale and are afraid "some out-of-towners might get hold of it." The two couples favoring the change back to single family today expressed fear many apartment units would be constructed if the land was sold to a Milwaukee developer.

Drop in Value

Residents feared the valuation of their property would drop if anything but what Purdy or Kramlich originally planned was elected on the site. They suggested the land be divided into residential lots.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen said there was about an acre of table land that could be used for construction purposes and doubted it would be suitable for residential lots.

He questioned whether the plan commission should become involved as an enforcement agency because there may have been a breach of faith between two parties. Rasmussen said the commission should deal with the question as to whether the land was best suited for single or multiple family district.

Zoning Appropriate

Rasmussen said the roughness and physical features of the land did not lend itself to single family residential developments "This zoning (multiple family) is appropriate," he added.

An attorney representing Kramlich, who is in Florida, said his client had an expensive piece of property and spent considerable money on plans for developing it. He indicated damages may be involved should the city decide to rezone the

Concert Will Have Poulenc Piano Concerto

Lawrence Symphony To Give Program at Chapel on Tuesday

Zesty orchestral works highlighted by a modern concerto for two pianos make up the Lawrence Symphony Orchestra's first program of the season at 8.15 p.m. Tuesday at Memorial Chapel. The concert was postponed from Nov. 24 because of President Kennedy's death.

Conductor Kenneth Byler, associate professor of music, heads the 60-member ensemble. His musicians come from the college and throughout the Fox Cities, 15 of them from Appleton.

Feature of the program will be the local orchestral debut of duo-piano soloists Clyde Duncan and Theodore Rehl, members of the Lawrence faculty. They will be heard in the "Concerto in D minor for Two Pianos and Orchestra" by French composer Francis Poulenc. Duncan is an associate professor, and Rehl an assistant professor of music.

Byler's program shows a particularly colorful group of works. It opens with a rollicking Mendelssohn overture, followed by one of the last symphonies of Haydn. Two of Anton Dvorak's folksy "Slavonic Dances" immediately preceed the two-piano concerto, giving contrast to the popular French melodies incorporated in the Poulenc work.

The complete program follows:

PROGRAM

Overture Ruy Blas, Op. 95 — Mendelssohn

Symphony No. 103 in E flat major (Drum Roll) — Haydn
- Adagio-Allegro con spirito
- Andante piu tosto Allegretto
- Menuetto
- Finale, Allegro con spirito

Intermission

Slavonic Dance, Op. 46, No. 1 in C major — Dvorak

Slavonic Dance, Op. 46, No. 3 in A flat major — Dvorak

Concerto in D minor for Two Pianos and Orchestra — Poulenc
- Allegro ma non troppo
- Larghetto
- Finale, Allegro molto

Bruno Krueger Former Appleton Teacher Dies

Educator, 67, Was Officer of MacDowell Male Chorus, St. Paul Lutheran Church

Bruno H. Krueger, 67, of 1911 S. Carpenter St., head of the Appleton High School business department for 33 years, died unexpectedly Sunday morning.

Krueger had retired as head of the AHS business department in 1961. He also taught night classes at the Appleton Vocational and Adult School for many years.

He was born March 6, 1896, in Tomah. He graduated from Tomah High School, and studied business at Wisconsin State College-Whitewater. He began his teaching career in the business departments of Algoma and Sturgeon Bay high schools.

Lawrence College

In 1926 Krueger came to Lawrence College on an assistantship. After receiving a bachelor of arts degree, he became head of the AHS business department.

He spent a number of summers at the University of Wisconsin, and in 1933 enrolled in the University of Chicago Business School to work toward a master's degree.

Krueger was a member of the MacDowell Male Chorus for many years, and served as its secretary-treasurer, vice president, president and board member. He was vice president of the board of St. Paul Lutheran Church and a member of the church choir.

Bruno H. Krueger

Krueger was chairman of the business section of the Wisconsin Education Association, and three times served as chairman of the business section of the Northeastern Wisconsin Education Association.

During his last year at Appleton High School, senior shorthand students won the Order of Gregg Artists gold wall plaque, given to the top 10 classes in the United States in a national contest.

During the summers Krueger sold real estate for Carroll and Carroll Realtors.

He is survived by his wife and one sister.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Paul Lutheran Church, with the Rev. F. M. Brandt, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Tomah Cemetery, Tomah. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Tuesday until 9 a.m. Wednesday, and at the church until the hour of the service.

A memorial fund is being established for St. Paul Lutheran School and Fox Valley Lutheran High School.

Children's Puzzle Harmful if Drop Of Mercury Freed

A hand puzzle which could be harmful to children has been sold out at an Appleton department store toy shop, an Appleton health department inspector said today.

William Moldenhauer said that a survey conducted last week showed that a "Squeegle" puzzle manufactured by a New York toy firm was sold at the department store, but there are none left in stock.

Moldenhauer said that if the toy is broken and the mercury is freed, the fumes could be dangerous if breathed by a small child in a closed room.

The toy is a hand puzzle in which the mercury drop is moved about a plastic container maze. Moldenhauer said he contacted several wholesale and retail toy outlets during his investigation. He said there are no such toys being sold presently.

Appleton Service Clubs to Assist Salvation Army

Appleton service clubs will help the Salvation Army with the kettle for Christmas giving for the first time this year.

The cooperative program, called the "Tree of Lights" program, is being started in Appleton for the first time. It has been used previously in other communities.

Service clubs working on the program include the Lions, Downtown Kiwanis, Northside Kiwanis, Breakfast Optimists, Y's Men, Altrusa and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

About eight members from each club will helpu man the Salvation Army collection booth in the 100 block of E. College Avenue on Monday and Friday evenings. Salvation Army Workers will keep the booth open during other shopping hours.

The money collected is used for the Christmas charities of the Salvation Army.

More Than Half 1963 AHS Grads In Schools and Colleges Now

School Guidance Department Study Shows Fairly Stable Student Pattern

More than half the members of the 1963 graduating class at Appleton High School are now attending schools and colleges.

In the 39th annual follow-up survey of AHS graduating classes, the guidance department announced 51.2 per cent of the class of 1963 is presently attending schools and colleges. This percentage accounts for 239 of the 467 graduates.

Office work accounts for 45 (9.6 per cent) and military service claimed 38 (8.1 per cent). Thirty-four (7.4 per cent) are employed in retail stores and 26 (5.6 per cent) are engaged in factory and millwork. Seventeen class members are out of town and 10 are unemployed.

Other Breakdown

Others include nine employed at garages and service stations, nine employed as telephone operators, eight working at carpentry and painting, eight working in restaurants, five classified under miscellaneous, four working on construction, four working as domestics and babysitters, three driving truck, two married and not working, two working as printers, two deceased, and two who could not be contacted.

The greatest concentration of those attending schools is found at the U W Fox Valley Center, the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Wisconsin State College-Oshkosh, and the Appleton Vocational and Adult School. Attendance at these schools numbers 55, 31, 20 and 18 respectively.

Other Schools

The numbers attending other universities include Northwestern, four; Purdue, three; and Valparaiso, three. One student each attends Bradley, Brigham Young, De Pauw, Drake, Hamline, Illinois, Iowa, Marquette, Maryland Extension in Germany, Michigan State, Missouri, Redlands and West Michigan.

Those attending Wisconsin State Colleges other than Oshkosh includes 8 at Stevens Point, seven at LaCrosse, four at Eau Claire, one at Stout and one at Whitewater. Nursing school attendance includes two at Milwaukee County, one at Methodist Hospital in Madison and one at Saint Luke in Chicago.

Lawrence College and Wartburg College each have six of the 1963 graduates enrolled. Four attend Carthage College and three each are at Carleton and Carroll colleges. Two students attend Beloit College and two attend Earlham.

Other Schools

The remaining who attend schools include six at the City College of Cosmetology, five at the Career Academy, three at Kaukauna County Teachers College, two at Patricia Stevens,

Public Hearing Set on $6 Million Budget for Neenah

Taxpayers Group Calls for Review, Elimination of 'Frills'

NEENAH — Neenah's proposed 1964 municipal budget of $6,344,061 will undergo the fine-tooth comb scrutinization of the city taxpayers tonight, at the annual public budget hearing beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Neenah Junior High School cafetorium.

The proposed budget represents a $221,901 increase over the '63 proposal. This figures to a gross tax rate increase per $1,000 property value of $3.45 and a net increase for '64 of $3.41.

The city officials and the Neenah Common Council will be on hand to hear the taxpayers and take into consideration any recommended changes in the '64 proposal.

Taxpayer Group

The Neenah-Menasha Taxpayers Association has submitted the Neenah budget to the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance for review. That report will be presented tonight. In addition members of the association have been contacting aldermen, urging them to take a firm stand on the budget and remove all unnecessary "fluff."

Tuesday night the finance committee of the council will meet to enact any additional cuts in the budget and Wednesday the budget will most likely be passed at the regular council meeting.

The total budget estimate figure may be misleading since the city expects to collect $3,210,238 in revenues other than taxes in '64.

This leaves $3,13,843 to be covered by the property tax. The '63 budget figure after revenues had been deducted amounted to $2,630,461.

Biggest single item on next year's proposal is the school board budget of $3,019,342. This amounts to a request for $1,754,613 after revenues.

If the total school board request is approved the board's share of the gross tax rate will be $14.42 per $1,000 property value, an increase of $2.02 over last year.

Other department requests after revenues are $706,168 for city expenditures, $434,161 for county and state taxes, $173,950 for city debt service and $64,950 for the board of vocational and adult education costs.

Parents to Hear Talk on Rights Of Education

KAUKAUNA — William S. Pfankuch, president of Citizens for Educational Freedom, Appleton, will be guest speaker for a meeting of St. Mary Home-School Association at 8 tonight in the school gym.

Topic of his talk will be "Parents Rights in Education" and it will deal with the aims and objectives of the organization he heads. The boys choir under the direction of Sister Cecelia Marie will sing various selections.

Fifth grade mothers under the direction of Mrs. William Van Dyke and Mrs. Alfred Schmidt will be in charge of refreshments.

Order Briefs In Survey Cost Suit on Airport

Committee Lawyer Claims Group Is Being 'Blackjacked'

OSHKOSH — Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane this morning called for the filing of briefs and set Dec. 16 as the date for further proceedings in the pending suit between A. L. Osmundsen of A. L. Osmundsen and Associates, Milwaukee, and the Citizens Committee for the Winnebago County Airport.

Osmundsen is contending he is owed $7,880 out of a $9,880 fee for preparing a study and brochure on the Winnebago County Airport in 1961 for use in an investigation of airport locations called for by then Gov. Gaylord B. Nelson.

He already has been paid $1,500 by Associated Industries, Inc., of Oshkosh and $500 by the City of Oshkosh. Named as defendants are 26 prominent Oshkosh industrialists, merchants, businessmen and labor leaders who allegedly comprised the citizens committee.

Hearing

This morning's hearing was on the request of Osmundsen's attorneys for a discovery hearing in which they will adversely examine the committee chairman, Carl A. Biederman, to prepare their complaint.

Biederman's attorney has asked that this adverse examination not be granted or, if granted, that the scope of the examination be limited.

Atty. William Crane, Oshkosh, representing Biederman, stated to the court this morning that the listing of 26 defendants was a means of "blackjacking" in order to settle a dispute and avoid publicity.

He argued that Osmundsen's attorneys have all the information they need to draw up their complaint for suit to recover what the Milwaukee consulting firm claims still is due. He also objected to Biederman providing any correspondence between the committee and Associated Industries or information as to the make-up of the citizens committee. Crane also contended that adverse examination should not be held and that the suit should be brought on through the regular procedure of filing a complaint.

Costs

He also contended that Osmundsen should provide adequate security to cover the costs for the proceedings and for the defendants, estimating this could run as high as $2,600.

Henry C. Fuller of Milwaukee, representing Osmundsen, contended an adverse examination of Biderman was necessary to determine if the suit should be on a contract matter or as a tort. He also argued that it was vital that the membership of the committee be supplied to them since the citizen committee being an unincorporated association, all members would become liable.

Since the negotiations for work done by Osmundsen with the citizens committee as the payment came from Associated Industries, Inc., Fuller maintained it was vital to learn whether the citizens committee was acting as agent for Associated Industries. That is why he wanted copies of the correspondence between the committee and Associated Industries.

He agreed to eliminate from the issues sought in the discovery hearing with Biederman the claim of non-performance of contract and the reason for refusal not to pay the balance Osmundsen contended still was due.

Crane filed a memorandum brief citing his reasons for opposing the adverse examination and setting forth several supreme court decisions. Fuller will have a week to reply to that brief and Crane another week to file a counter - reply.

Men Arrested After Fight At Tavern

WAUPACA — One man pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct and three others pleaded innocent of a similar charge Friday when they appeared before Municipal Justice George Whalen after being arrested following a fight at Club 45, one-half mile south of Clintonville.

Lloyd G. Johnson, Wind Lake, pleaded guilty and was fined $100.

Gerald Henn, route 1, Bonduel; John J. Dingeldein, Navarino, and Bruce Landsverk, Neenah, all pleaded innocent and will go to trial Friday before Justice Whalen.

Sheriff Loran Frazier said Dingeldein suffered face injuries in the melee.

Schools and Voting Are Talk Topics

Appleton service clubs will hear talks this week by educators and members of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. George Munro, president of the Appleton Board of Education, will speak to the Appleton Rotary Club Tuesday on the Appleton school system.

James Retson, elementary curriculum coordinator of the Appleton Lions Club today on "Why We Are Doing What We Are Doing in the School System."

Mrs. Chandler W. Rowe, a member of the League of Women Voters, will speak to the Northside Kiwanis Club Tuesday. She will outline the procedures to follow in taking out nomination papers and give other information on the spring election.

The Northside Kiwanis Club is planning a Christmas party Saturday. Officers for 1964 will be installed at the party.

The Breakfast Optimist Club also will hear a talk on voting procedures by a member of the League of Women Voters Tuesday.

Man Drowns Trying To Get Aid for Victim of Wreck

AARHUS, Denmark (AP)—A motorist escaped from an auto crash on a lonely road outside Horsens, Jutland, Sunday night, then drowned when he tried to get help for his wife and four other passengers.

Knud Poulsen, 34, staggered out of his car after crashing into a tree and set out into the darkness. Shortly before midnight Poulsen's body was found in a stream beside the road. Police said he apparently fell into the water as he ran toward the lights of a nearby farmhouse.

Rent Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — A rent strike by tenement dwellers in Harlem has spread to 50 buildings housing 3,700 persons.

Representatives of tenants in 34 buildings met Sunday and voted to join families in 16 tenements who have refused to pay rent until alleged building code violations are stopped.

KRA Tumbles Neenah Quint In BABA Game

30-Point Second Period Big Factor In 95-76 Triumph

NEENAH — Kimberly KRA downed Hewitt's Machines, 95-76, in the southern division Badger Amateur Basketball Association opener for both teams Saturday.

A 30-point second period was the deciding fctor in favor of the victors.

Kimberly held an 18-17 lead after the first quarter but, paced by Paul Felton's 12 points, it scored 30 points in the second while the Machinemen were limited to 16 for a 48-33 halftime score.

The villagers added to their lead with an 18-point third frame while Hewitt's picked up only 14 for a 66-47 tally. Both clubs finished strong, scoring 29 markers apiece.

Felton led the winning attack with 21 points on seven baskets and as many free throws. Lee Never hit 20 points, Tom Peerenboom added 18 and Jim Peerenboom dropped in 16.

Hewitt honors went to Rufe Ihde with 18 points on six baskets and a half dozen free throws. Bob Jedwabny hit 13. Jim Lettenberger 12 and Dick Rohe and Gordy Rush both scored 11.

Hewitt's will play at Reedsville Wednesday night in a non-league game.

Kaukauna-Little Chute Singers Stage Top Barbershop Show

Capacity House for 10th Annual Hit Program of Local SPEBSQSA Chapter

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA—For the tenth straight year, the Kaukauna-Little Chute SPEBSQSA chapter treated barbershop fans to a top notch evening of entertainment at the Kaukauna High School auditorium Saturday.

For the uninitiated, SPEBSQSA is the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

The hootenanny has its following, but just as loyal are those who turn out regularly to hear a fine blend of vocal talent unencumbered by accompaniment. The format for this tenth show was changed slightly and to many it was a pleasing switch.

All of the performers were greeted with enthusiasm by the capacity house, all receiving encores for jobs well done. Particularly outstanding were the Four Nubbins. Spencer, Iowa, a group which provided the crowd with much humor in addition to fine harmony.

Imitates Elvis

Bob Sopeland, lead, an English teacher, was the comedian of the group imitating Elvis Presly, strumming a guitar in the fashion of a modern-day teen idol, and running off a line of light patter which had tears streaming from many eyes. Interspersed with this wholesome humor, the Nubbins offered fine traditional barbershop numbers with the class and finesse of proven performers. One could easily predict a long and bright future for the four should they continue in the musical world.

Another crowd pleaser were the Fantastics, organized in May and recently named Land O'Lakes district champions. The group was arranged to substitute for the scheduled Rhapsodies, Wisconsin Rapids, at the last minute. Such numbers as "Creole Cutie" and "Brother Could You Spare A Dime" were particularly well done.

To this reviewer the group sounded much like the Schmidt Brothers of Two Rivers on some selections although outstanding was the extra play allowed to feature the bass and tenor voices.

Chicago Group

The Imperial Four, Chicago, showed why they were finalists in international competition on several occasions with their fine renditions of "An Irishman's Dream," "I Want A Girl" and "Banjos Back In Town."

A local quartet, "The Captivators," organized within the past few months, demonstrated some fine vocal talent, solid blending and gave promise of a bright future. Besides such natural barbershop numbers as "Side By Side" and "Your Nobody Till Somebody Loves You," the group also presented the unlikely barbershop number, "Beer Barrel Polka," at the Afterglow following the main show.

The Kaukauna - Little Chute chorus under the direction of Keith Eifler continued their fine showing of other years singing such favorites as "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and "Sitting On Top of the World."

Group Selection

The program opened with all quartets and the chorus on stage and after a group selection, each quartet sang a brief introductory melody. The Imperial Four offered "Wait Till The Sun Shines Nellie," the Fantastics offered "I Love My Redhead" and the Four Nubbins sang "Smile."

After several songs by the chorus, the quartets appeared again, each singing two songs before the intermission. The second half of the program featured mainly guest quartets until the closing selection when all joined voices for a finale.

"Tiger Rag"

Particularly pleasing were "On The Old Fail River Line" by the Imperial Four and "Mardi Gras" by the Fantastics. The Four Nubbins proved they could sing together with their clowning by an excellent rendition of "Just A Cottage Small." The chorus sang an ever - popular, lively number, "Tiger Rag."

Proof of the audiences' delight in the performance was the quietness during the numbers, sustained and spontaneous applause and the huge following which attended the Afterglow after sitting through two hours of the initial show. Each year the local SPEBSQSA unit seems to improve on a show which annually is a banner attraction.

Icy Road Report Issued by State

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Highway Department issued a winter road condition report today and noted that scattered slippery spots exist in the extreme northwest section of the state.

This resulted from snow that measured from one-half inch in southern portion of the region to two inches in the north. Sanding crews worked to improve conditions.

At 10 a.m. it was still snowing in the area and in the Hurley section.

Appleton Man Escapes Injury When Car Skids Off Highway

WAUPACA—Robert E. Zimmerman, 23, 2331 E. Newberry St., Appleton, escaped injury about 2 p.m. Thursday when his car left County Trunk E, one mile north of Ogdensburg, state police reported.

Zimmerman was going south when he lost control of his car on a curve. The car skidded 189 feet and rolled another 78 feet before coming to a stop in the left ditch.

County police reported Paul Preuss, route 2, Manawa, was driving north on State 54, 10 miles west of New London, when a deer ran into the side of his car about 4:45 p.m. Thursday. Damages to the car were estimated at $125.

County police said two cars were damaged early Saturday morning on County B in Ogdensburg. Sgt. Lyle McCully said Gerald Sprangers, Green Bay, was going west on County Trunk B when he set his brakes and skidded across the road and struck a car operated by Claud Lonetree, Wisconsin Rapids.

Macs Turn Back Kaukauna '5' In First Badger League Test

MENASHA — The Menasha Macs successfully debuted in the northern division of the Badger Amateur Basketball Association with a 96-84 triumph over Kaukauna Sunday afternoon at the St. Patrick gym.

The contest was close all the way but a 29-18 advantage in the final quarter turned the tide in favor of the Menashans.

Kaukauna held a 23-22 lead at the end of the first period but the Macs owned narrow 46-45 advantage at halftime. The spread remained the same after three periods as both clubs picked up 21 points. However, the 29-point last quarter brought about the 12-point victory.

Both teams had their troubles Kaukauna lost three players with five and two others were in trouble with four. Pete Burghardt and Jim Rueckl of the Macs departed and Ron Johnson, Bob Rueckl and Dick Lee all had four. In all, 56 fouls were called.

Mac scoring honors went to Bob Rueckl with 21 points. Lee and Jim Meyer both collected 19 and Jim Rueckl had 17. For Kaukauna, Fred Steger hit 19, Voet 18 and Pat Casperson 17.

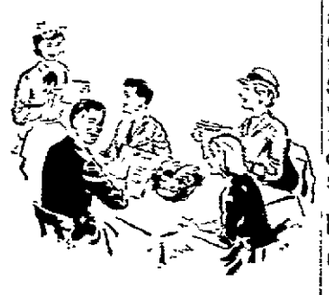

The Macs will play at White Lake either Saturday or Sunday, meet the Oshkosh State jayvees on Dec. 14 and take on the Harlem Stars on Dec. 15.

Commercial Omissions

25.6 Millions Lost By Radio and TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

COVERAGE COSTS: Broadcasting Magazine estimated Sunday that the four-day omission of commercials while reporting on events relating to the assassination of President Kennedy cost the radio and television networks $25.6 million.

The networks spent an additional $3.1 million in providing coverage, the industry magazine said.

"No government official had to tell the broadcasters what to do," the magazine said. "In a time when the trend of federal regulation has been running toward tighter editorial control, broadcasters made their own best case for editorial freedom."

FOREIGN AID: Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo, says tightened administration is needed to prevent waste and overstaffing in the foreign aid program, which he calls "a bulwark in the turning back of the Communist offensive."

McGee reported Sunday to the Senate Appropriations Committee on a special investigation he made last spring into the administration of the foreign aid program by the Agency for International Development.

Under administrator David Bell, Sen. McGee said, the agency is making "a remarkable effort to correct shortcomings and already has put into effect many of the recommendations contained in this report."

NEW MARK: For the 12th consecutive year, the number of students enrolled in colleges and universities and working for degrees is at a record high, the U.S. Office of Education announced today.

The total this fall was 4,529,000 —7.7 per cent higher than the 4,207,000 enrolled in the fall of 1962 and more than double the 2,116,000 enrolled in the fall of 1951.

Sparta Barber Says He Cut Oswald's Hair

SPARTA (AP) — Mrs. John Abbott said her husband was questioned by the Federal Bureau of Investigation Sunday about Abbott's claim that he gave a hair cut last April to Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of President Kennedy.

"The FBI was here this morning and told us not to say anything," Mrs. Abbott said. Her barber husband declined to speak to newsman.

Abbott said last week he was willing to take a lie detector test to prove he gave Oswald a haircut. The barber said Oswald waited outside the shop on a Friday night until Abbott was alone before entering the shop.

The report was the second linking Oswald to a Wisconsin visit. The other stemmed from the signature "Lee Oswald, Dallas," which appeared in the guest book of a Milwaukee area restaurant.

Detectives Quiz Friends of Slain Karyn Kupcinet

Actress, 22, Found Dead in Hollywood Apartment Saturday

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Homicide officers worked in teams today to question Karyn Kupcinet's host of friends, hopeful of finding some lead to the strangler of the vivacious, 22-year-old actress.

Miss Kupcinet, a petite brunette who had appeared in a number of top television shows, was found Saturday night in her modest apartment near the famed Sunset Strip. The body was nude and lay face down on a couch.

The actress was the only daughter of Irv Kupcinet, a Chicago newspaper columnist and television moderator.

TV Actor

Among those questioned was Andrew Prine, 27, a television actor identified as Miss Kupcinet's steady boy friend until a recent disagreement caused them to break up.

Prine, a co-star of the "Wide Country" series, told investigators he knew nothing of the slaying but had telephoned Karyn twice Wednesday evening to discuss their differences.

Investigators said he may have been the last person to hear her voice when he placed his second call about midnight. Officers believe the slaying took place in the early hours Thursday.

Dead 3 Days

Detectives said the actress' body lay undiscovered —possibly for three days—until actor Mark Goddard and his wife, Marcia, 25, visited the modest apartment Saturday evening. They were concerned, they said, about her failure to answer their telephone calls for two days.

She had been a dinner guest in their home on Wednesday.

U. S. Education Commissioner to Attend Workshop

WASHINGTON (AP)— Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R - Wis., said today U.S. Commissioner of Education Francis Keppel has agreed to attend the higher education workshop he is sponsoring Dec. 14 at Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point, Wis.

Some 50 administrators and deans will participate in the workshop for Wisconsin state colleges.

Laird, who will preside at the Stevens Point meeting, said that if this proves successful he will plan a similar one at the University of Wisconsin and a separate one for private institutions of higher education in Wisconsin.

During his 11 years as a member of the House Appropriations Sub-committee on Health, Education and Welfare, Laird said, he has found that smaller colleges in Wisconsin and throughout the nation were not taking part in existing programs available to them.

"It is a great disappointment to me," he said, "that 90 per cent of all the aid that is made available in 37 categorical federal - aid programs for higher education goes to the 100 largest institutions in the United States.

"The small, independent and state - financed colleges are not keeping up with these programs. This is not fair to the faculty or the students attending these institutions."

As an example, Laird said, Congress last year made avilable $1.5 billion for research grants and higher education aids, but 90 per cent of that went to the 100 larger universities and colleges.

Laird said the reason he is setting up the higher education workshop at Stevens Point is so the state colleges can become familiar with the programs.

Checks of 2 State Men Are Not Delivered

MADISON (AP) — The pay checks of Howard E. Koop, commissioner of administration, and Frank P. Zeidler, director of the Department of Resource Development, were not delivered this weekend on the advice of Atty. Gen. George Thompson.

Their checks for the month of November were withheld by State Treasurer Dena Smith, who had asked Thompson for an opinion last week.

Thompson, a Republican as is Mrs. Smith, said Sunday he based the decision on arguments prepared for the State Supreme Court which has been asked to referee an appointment dispute between the Republican dominated State Senate and Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds.

The attorney general said he would argue in an appearance before the court today that Koop and Zeidler are the rightful incumbents of the offices because there are no other claimants. He said that if the court upholds his contention, he will instruct Mrs. Smith to issue their checks.

The Senate refused to confirm Reynolds' appointment of the two, and the governor attempted to circumvent the Senate action by reappointing them.

The Koop and Zeidler appointments are among many involved in the dispute.

Wisconsin Senator Says Hatred Must Perish in America

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D - Wis., said Sunday the United States has been "on a collision course with hatred and violence for a long time" and "our democracy cannot survive unless hatred perishes."

Addressing the 50th anniversary dinner of the Anti - Defamation League of B'Nai B'rith, Nelson said hatred must be recognized as a disease, "a definable form of mental illness and one which we all must guard against."

Nelson said Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy demonstrated to the nation "how a real person can react to the most terrible tragedy without seeking refuge in the hideout of hate."

It would have been understandable, Nelson said, had Mrs. Kennedy "cried out in hatred at that empty window" from which came the shots that killed her President husband.

But, Nelson, said Mrs. Kennedy "realized that the way to triumph above hatred is to vow that you will not let it win in you or anywhere else. When senseless hatred stole her husband, she moved to protect what was left—her own dignity and that of her children, and the shaken confidence of an entire nation."

Lawyer Claims

Oswald Case Facts Will Bolster Ruby's Defense

BY FINIS MOTHERSHEAD

DALLAS (AP) — A defense lawyer predicts the findings of federal investigators will bolster the case of Jack Ruby, who shot down the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

There are increasing signs, meanwhile, of probable delay in the murder trial of Ruby, tentatively set to start a week from today.

Ruby, 52, owner of a downtown strip tease joint, remained under close guard today in the county jail. He has been held without bond since the televised shooting Nov. 24 of Lee Harvey Oswald, charged with firing the shots which killed Kennedy and a Dallas policeman two days earlier.

Oswald Report

"When the government's report of the Oswald case comes out," defense lawyer Tom Howard said Sunday night, "I believe then that public opinion in favor of Ruby will be stronger than ever because it will prove conclusively there was absolutely no connection between Ruby and Oswald."

District Atty. Henry Wade, who has said he will demand the death penalty for Ruby, declined to go into this aspect of the case.

Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, mother of the slain suspect, asserted she was sure her son did not kill President Kennedy. In angry tones, she blamed authorities on guard and asked in a Fort Worth interview why Oswald, who sought to renounce U.S. citizenship when he went to Russia in 1959, was not under surveillance.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and city police continued to dig for evidence. Official silence cloaked any fresh discoveries. It was indicated they would need considerable time to sift reams of notes left by Oswald, an avowed Marxist.

Howard, a veteran of criminal law trials, all but said he would seek postponement of the Ruby trial on a state charge of murder, set for Dec. 9 in a Dallas U.S. District Court. Earlier the lawyer said he expected the defense to be ready by that date.

"We need considerable time to develop our case," Howard said Sunday night. "I don't see how we could be ready before February."

Mail Delivery

Every mail delivery brought more donations for the families of Dallas policeman J. D. Tippit, whom Oswald was accused of killing as the officer tried to stop him for questioning, and for Oswald's Russian-born wife and two small daughters.

The Tippit fund was estimated at $65,000 before counting was suspended for the weekend.

Howard reported receipt of about 300 letters and telegrams, including one from a Los Angeles man pledging $500 for the defense of Ruby. He said several applauded the slaying of Oswald and only four were unfavorable in tone.

Mrs. Kennedy and Children Return To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her children, Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, have returned to the White House after a Thanksgiving weekend reunion with the Kennedy family at Hyannis Port, Mass.

A crowd of several hundred massed at Hyannis' Barnstable Airport to see them off, but only White House staffers, newsmen and Photographers were at chilly Andrews Air Force Base Sunday night when a two-engined air force plane returned the Kennedys to the capital.

Mrs. Kennedy, dressed in black, was bareheaded. The children were dressed in blue coats. With them were Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Mrs. Lee Radziwill, and a niece, Sydney Lawford, daughter of the late President's sister, Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Pilot Said Killed In Crash of U2

LAGRANGE, Ga. (AP) — A U-2 plane which crashed in the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 20 carried the pilot to his death, the Air Force says.

Members of the family of Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr., said Sunday the Air Force had notified them Saturday that Hyde went down with the plane after a mission over Cuba.

A Coast Guard cutter found the wreckage of the high level reconnaissance plane about 40 miles northwest of Key West, Fla., the day after the crash.

Hunting Deaths Total 28; Two Men Killed in Plane Crash and 9 Shot

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a 14 - year - old boy wounded by his own rifle in the closing hours of Wisconsin's 1963 deer season raised the overall toll from the nine - day event to 28. Nine hunters died by gunshot, 17 of heart attacks.

The body of 14-year-old William J. Schroeder was found Sunday night in a drainage ditch near his Monroe County home several hours after he had started out alone with his rifle. Authorities said the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Schroeder apparently was climbing out of the snowy ditch when he slipped and his rifle discharged. The bullet struck him in the head.

The death toll in a similar nine-day season a year ago was 17, with three killed by gunfire, 13 by heart attacks and one by asphyxiation.

Jack Duescher, 27, and Robert Cummings, 28, both of Black River Falls, who had been trying to sight deer from the air, died Sunday when a single - engine plane owned and piloted by Duescher crashed in a woods about five miles east of Black River Falls.

Seeking Deer

Jackson County authorities said the pair had been hunting and decided to take the plane up in an effort to find more deer. Other hunters saw the plane flying about 50 feet above tree level before it crashed.

Duescher, a student at La Crosse State College, was the son of Mrs. Cherokee Guy, operator of a Black River Falls night club. Cummings, married and the father of one child, worked at the Veterans Administration hospital in Tomah.

Plane Seen

Three other hunters— Donald Hanson and Edward Langer, both of Janesville, and Robert Hauger, Beloit—told authorities they saw the plane flying 50 to 60 feet above the trees. They said they heard the engine fail and then heard the crash.

The three hiked about a half mile to the wreckage and found both occupants of the plane dead. Duescher was pinned in the wreckage of the plane, which had been demolished. Cummings was thrown partially out. There was no fire.

Hunters killed by gunfire during the season that began Nov. 23 were Robert Laufenberg, 16, Alma Center; Ray George, 17, Owen; Wayne Zaborowski, 22, Lublin; William Niggeman, 40, Westboro; Fred Myers, Chippewa Falls; Milton Roessel, 28, Minong; George Thorson, 32, Exeland, and David Davidowski, 20 Superior.

Heart Victims

Heart attack victims included Walter Conrad, 68, rural Elkhart Lake; John Grosskopf, 64, rural Bowler; Harvey Peterson, 62, Villa Park, Ill.; Vernon McCartney, Prairie du Chien, Louis R. Fandry, 68, Clintonville; Dr. Harold Peters, 56, Viola; Sven Westin, 59, Elm Gorve.

Lawrence Says

Poets May be Inspired by Recent Tragedy

Mrs. Kennedy's Behavior Showed Mastery of Self

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The untold story of Jacqueline Kennedy may inspire the poets of tomorrow to write the epic of a tragedy almost unparalleled in history.

Lawrence

Three times in a matter of seconds did death whiz by her—the wife of the President of the United States and the mother of their two little children. Only a few inches spared her the same fate that befell her husband. Instantly he lay prostrate in her lap. She saw the bleeding body—his head injured beyond description and never uncovered again.

As Jacqueline Kennedy went to the hospital in a speeding car, as she waited for the final word of the physicians, as she traveled by plane to Washington and emerged there in the same blood-bespattered dress that she had worn at the moment that changed history, there was no outward sign of the grief which she felt within. She could have collapsed in tears. She might have sought the solace of solitude. But she exhibited instead the courage of a person who felt an overwhelming sense of duty. She alone could express the wishes of a wife and the nation's first lady. She began to think of her husband as the fallen President of the United States—as the man to whom the people generally would wish to pay solemn and significant tribute She gave to the aides at the White House helpful suggestions. She arranged for the details of the funeral service and the street procession to the church.

Walked Half-Mile

Jacqueline Kennedy, her eyes straight ahead, walked the half-mile from the White House to St. Matthew's Cathedral as she led the members of the government of the United States and many dignitaries from foreign governments—all of them afoot Her face, as she stood at the grave at Arlington Cemetery was impassive — shrouded but undaunted. The whole world saw this mastery of self—an example to everybody that she was thinking of the great sacrifice her husband had made to public service. On the hillside where her husband is buried, she lit a flame which is to burn by day and by night—a symbolic testimonial this time not to an unknown but to a known soldier who also gave his life for his country. She came in the evening a few hours after the funeral and knelt beside the grave, where she wept in the darkness —unobserved by the multitude.

Still in her 30's, Mrs. Kennedy has been in the public eye as a gracious hostess to heads of state, to artists, to poets, to distinguished authors. She has dedicated herself to the arts and to the encouragement of cultural as well as charitable endeavors. She is fond of horseback riding and water skiing. Yet, despite her many activities, she has never failed as the mother of two little children, ever anxious about their schooling and the overemphasis that could come to them from their conspicuous position in life.

To all the world Jacqueline Kennedy presented last week an image which the "London Evening Standard" epitomized as "majesty." But people everywhere, hundreds of millions of them, did weep tears and manifest their sympathy. A typical letter — which came to a Washington friend from a French newspaper woman in Paris, a grandmother who has watched historic events for a long, long time — is quoted here:

Radio Flash

"I heard a flash on the radio: 'Kennedy shot! Badly wounded!' It was a terrible shock. I could not believe it. But I hoped the news had been exaggerated. I let the radio stay on, my heart beating rapidly and about 20 minutes later the tragic news reached my ears—he was dead! I cannot tell you the sorrow which was mine. From that moment on, the telephone began to ring. My friends and acquaintances were calling to tell me how shocked, horrified and grieved they were.

"You cannot have any idea of the deepness of the grief that has spread all over this country. Everybody — yes, everybody — shares the pain that has fallen on the United States. Everybody is concerned. For me it was a terrible blow. I could not eat, could not sleep, could not work. It was as if I had lost somebody very dear to me. And when I say 'I,' I should say 'we' — friends, acquaintances, unknown people in the streets They could not speak of anything else. Never have I seen such a unanimous, general mourning. Words are unable to express the general feeling How many people have I seen with tears in their eyes!"

Human Grief

What lessons do such manifestations of human grief teach us? It is that the hearts of peoples everywhere can be united irrespective of geography or nationality.

But even as the world poured out its sympathy, a lonely woman strolled along the sandy shore of Cape Cod last Saturday comforted only by the living memorial at her side — two beautiful children braving the winds and watching the pounding surf.

Jacqueline Kennedy's intimate thoughts these last few days may never be known, but there might have passed through her mind sentiments like those expressed just 200 years ago by George Wither, an English poet, who penned "A Widow's Hymn." It reads in part as follows:

"How near me came the hand of death,
"When at my side he struck
my dear,
"And took away the precious breath
"Which quicken'd my beloved peer!...
"Lord! Keep me faithful to the trust
"Which my dear spouse reposed in me:
"To him now dead preserve me just
"In all that should performed be!
"For though our being man and wife
"Extendeth only to this life,
"Yet neither life nor death should end
"The being of a faithful friend."

Troubled Project

Moonshot Equipment To Canaveral Soon

BY RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The television-toting Ranger VI mooncraft should have its faulty electronic parts replaced and be ready for shipment to Cape Kennedy, Fla., by mid-December.

Even then, the boss of the trouble - plagued project to crash-land cameras on the moon gives Ranger VI only one chance in four of complete success.

And the U.S space agency is paying $5 to $6 each for diodes in the follow-on Surveyor moon craft instead of the 35 cents paid for the bad diodes now being removed.

News Revealed

This came to light Thursday in Associated Press interviews with the managers of the two programs to scout the moon for manned exploration.

Harris Schurmeier, Ranger boss at the U S space agency's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said he expects replacement diodes to arrive next week and that if nothing else goes wrong Ranger VI should be launched in the first quarter of 1964

Diodes are tiny electronic parts which do the work of radio tubes in spacecraft control systems. Some diodes in the spacecraft, originally scheduled to be launched last month, were found to be faulty and the shot was postponed.

1 Chance in 4

"Of course, a million and one things can happen before launch," Schurmeier said. "We've done all we could to make Ranger VI work but there still is only one chance in four of complete success for the mission."

Walker Giberson, manager of the Surveyor project to "soft-land" cameras and other instruments on the moon in 1966, said the decision to reject cheap commercial parts for his vehicle was made two years ago, long before Ranger ran into its latest troubles.

Cost Difference

"Costwise there won't be too much difference because, with the lessons learned from Ranger, we have reduced the number of electronic components from 224 to about 50 to 60," Giberson said.

The diode incident was the latest in a series of troubles in the Ranger series, which has yet to claim a success. The first two Ranger shots were test firings, not intended to hit the moon. The next two missed the moon and the fifth landed but failed to send back signals.

Several Rangers and Surveyors must make successful flights before scientists can design craft to land safely on the moon's surface.

Economy Did Not Falter During Recent Crisis

BY SYLVIA PORTER

It is a tribute to the basic strength of the United States and to the defense network we have created for the U.S. dollar in the past two years that so little has happened in our economy since President Kennedy's assassination.

Porter

This is scarcely a facetious comment. Often what does not happen in the sphere of finance is more important than what does happen — and last week was a dramatic illustration of this point.

The powerful governors of the Federal Reserve System did not find it necessary to call a special meeting to ease credit to bolster a faltering economy because the economy didn't falter.

The Treasury's debt managers did not find it necessary to alter their financing plans to reassure a panicky U S government securities market because investors in government securities did not panic.

The central bankers of the free world did not find it necessary to take extraordinary steps to protect the U S. dollar from a speculative raid because the very existence of the dollar's defense network killed off speculation and the dollar held firm.

No Action

Wall Street's leaders did not find it necessary to act to prevent a disorderly slump in stock prices because when the markets reopened last Tuesday, what disorder existed was more on the up than downside.

The nation's top businessmen did not find it necessary to downgrade their programs for spending on new plants and equipment in anticipation of a slowdown in the economy because there are no signs that Kennedy's death will be a direct cause of an economic slowdown.

Washington budget officials did not find it necessary to revise their figures on the next budget to fit President Johnson's views because Johnson's views on the budget are generally what Kennedy's were.

Sturdy Economy

So it goes. But just as President Johnson has inherited a sturdy economy and a protected dollar from Kennedy, so he has inherited the economic problems that frustrated Kennedy from the start to the end of his aborted term

Our unemployment rate is way down from the recession level of 7 per cent. But after 33 months of sustained economic advance, the over-all rate still sticks at 5½ per cent and the jobless rate among teen - agers is a shuddering 15 4 per cent

Industrial production is at an all-time high and our output of goods and services (gross national product) is climbing toward the historic milestone of $600 billion But due to our sluggish growth rate in recent years, our output is at least $30 billion below our normal capacity to produce and many factories are operating below their preferred, profitable rate.

Payment Balance

The gap between what we spend abroad and what we earn abroad — the deficit in our balance of payments — is way down from the near - catastrophic rate of $5.1 billion recorded in the second quarter. But the deficit in our international accounts for the full year of 1963 will approach $3.5 billion, another deficit is in sight for 1964 and thus red ink is a constant threat to our dollar's value.

Prices in our country have been remarkably stable in the last few years. But upward pressures are mounting and the danger of a renewed price - wage spiral can never be shrugged off.

Thus, Johnson takes over the problems as well as the achievements.

Our economic growth must be accelerated to provide jobs for our mounting labor force, to take up the slack in production, to create sufficient profits and paychecks to balance our domestic budget. Our spending abroad must be curbed and our earnings abroad must be increased to narrow the deficit in our balance of payments.

The tax reduction bill Kennedy wanted so much is a key to these goals. The speed with which Congress passes the bill now will be the first test of Johnson's power and skill as President.

Chicken Export Loss Claim by U.S. Rejected

Europe's Common Market Upped Tariff 300 Pct.

GENEVA (AP) — An independent panel has rejected the claim by the United States that it is losing $46 million a year in poultry exports because of the European Common Market's tariff increase, it was reported.

The five-man panel from Gatt — the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade — reportedly put the annual loss at $26 million.

The Common Market claimed the U.S. loss was $19 million.

Chicken War

The United States and the six-nation European trade bloc submitted their "chicken war" to the GATT panel after long negotiations. The dispute followed an increase in July 1962 of nearly 300 per cent in the Common Market tariff on imports of frozen poultry. A booming U.S. export to West Germany was wiped out

While the panel's finding is not binding, the United States and the Common Market made a gentleman's agreement to use it as the basis for further negotiations to compensate the United States for its loss.

Damage Figure

Under GATT rules, the United States can raise its own tariffs on various Common Market products to a figure equal to its loss But in this case the United States and the Common Market are expected to work out a combination of some tariff reduction by the European group and some increase by the United States.

The Common Market tariff on frozen poultry was raised last year from 4 6 cents a pound to 13.43 cents a pound. The Common Market offered in September to cut it 1.3 cents a pound, but the United States rejected the offer.

Raise Tariffs

The GATT panel's damage figure was based on U.S. trade with West Germany, which took more than 80 per cent of the U.S. poultry exports to the Common Market before the dispute started. The other Common Market Nations are France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Rural Waterford Youths Questioned About Battery Theft

WAUPACA — Two brothers from rural Waterford were questioned Saturday about the theft of a battery from a new car owned by Herbert Kaminski, route 3, Waupaca

The boys, 17 and 15 years old, were questioned by Sheriff Loran Frazier after the battery was found in the trunk of their car

Frazier and John Bonnell, county policeman, searched their car Saturday morning and found a loaded .22 caliber revolver in the glove compartment and a .22 caliber rifle in the back seat.

The boys were stopped early Saturday morning by Weyauwega Chief of Police Lawrence Schmues. Schmies became suspicious when he saw the car driving around in Weyauwega very early in the morning

Issue Building Permit

CHILTON — Authorization to construct a farm building to cost an estimated $4,500 was the only building permit issued during the past week by Roland Miller, Calumet County clerk and chief zoning administrator

U.S. Wants Pact On Lost Spacemen

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States wants treaties for the return of strayed spacemen and the collection of damages for space accidents. A resolution is being drawn up to have the United Nations go to work on them.

Informed diplomats said Saturday the resolution would have the U.N. General Assembly ask the committee on peaceful uses of outer space to "arrange for the early preparation of appropriate international agreements on liability for damages caused by space vehicles and on assistance to and return of astronauts and space vehicles."

Who's Greedy Now?

NANAIMO, B.C. Canada (AP) —Gordon Pike, a member of the scientific committee of the International Whale Commission, says whales will be extinct in the Antarctic in the next five to 15 years unless whaling methods change If they continue to be caught at the present rate—particularly by the Russians and Japanese—there will be none for commercial use, he says

Malibu Faces Changes In Name of Progress

Fabled Playground of Film Stars Now City of 10,000 With Problems

BY BOB THOMAS

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — This fabled stretch of shore, long the playground for Hollywood's famous, is facing changes that many of its residents view with alarm.

For 35 years, Malibu has harbored a large number of the screen's most famous stars. Tales of midnight revelry and nude swims remain a part of the Hollywood legend, and some may even be true. When Director Norman Main—played by Fredric March and James Mason in two versions of "A Star Is Born"—took his fateful swim into the sunset, it was at Malibu, of course.

Stars still live at Malibu — Lana Turner, Raymond Burr, Dan O'Herlihy, Mary Astor, Angela Lansbury, Frankie Laine, June Havoc, etc.

100 Per Cent Growth

So do 10,000 other people, almost 100 per cent growth in a decade. The growth has brought its problems—and much wistful remembrance of the old days.

"I don't want to push back the clock," says Angela Lansbury. "I'd like to see Malibu remain the way it is. But there are too many forces trying to change things in the name of progress."

The major cause for alarm for some residents is the proposal by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power for a $96-million nuclear power generator in the Malibu area. A recent hearing on the matter brought a storm of opposition from property owners, including Bob Hope, whose Malibu holdings are extensive.

Freeway Proposed

The other monster to some Malibuans is the proposed freeway, which would chew a path inexorably through the once-idyllic community. Many feel that Malibu would be doomed if the present route is adopted.

There have been other problems, notably water and sewers. Malibu found itself in the touchy position of having neither. The wells went dry, and a $7-million bond issue was finally voted to establish a waterworks district and get water from the Metropolitan Water District.

Progress? Malibu may have to learn to live with it.

ASTHMA & BRONCHITIS

A quick easy way to combat difficult breathing, coughing, rattling and wheeziness, due to recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis, is by taking fortified MENDACO. Acts fast to combat allergy, relax bronchial tubes and help remove thick congestive mucus. This usually eases breathing fast, allays coughing; thus promotes sounder sleep. Get MENDACO at druggists. Let it help you.

'Phony Economy' Said Cause for Milk Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today a two per cent cutback in the milk allotment for the national school lunch program was forced by "phony economy."

The senator said in a statement "the Department of Agriculture has directed its regional offices, which in turn have informed all state departments of education, that effective December 1, 1963, reimbursements for school milk will be cut."

As a result, Proxmire said, children participating in the program will either have to pay more for milk or will obtain less, or both.

Saying the cut "involves no genuine economy," Proxmire added that "as this department order reduces the milk the nation's school children drink, the price support law will require the same department to buy that much more milk to support dairy prices."

Proxmire said the Department of Agriculture had told the Senate Appropriations Committee additional funds would be needed to maintain the milk program, but the committee rejected an amendment that would have supplied the money.

2 Experts Have Movies Ready For Holidays

New Disney Cartoon, Cary Grant Comedy Called Excellent

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Those two canny film makers, Cary Grant and Walt Disney, have wrapped up a pair of dandy Christmas packages for the nation's theaters.

The attractions are "Charade" and "The Sword in the Stone," and they show the two old masters at their ingenious best.

"Charade" is the type of thing that no one does better than Grant—the sophisticated comedy-adventure. This one turns up four dead bodies before the killer gets his. But even death is treated lightly and doesn't impinge on the general fun.

Audrey Hepburn

In his 61st starring film, Grant is once more caught in the middle, with danger on all sides and a gorgeous girl clinging to him.

The girl this time is Audrey Hepburn. She plays a recent widow, whose husband spirited $250,000 of Nazi loot away from OSS buddies during the war.

There are lots of surprises, some rather farfetched, but the whole thing is carried off in such great style that you don't care.

"The Sword in the Stone" is the first new Disney cartoon feature in two years and one of the better ones. Three years in the making, it is taken from the T. H. White book detailing the formative years of King Arthur.

It is the kind of thing that the Disney artists do best. While the action is principally about humans, there are scenes in which young Arthur is turned into animals by his mentor Merlin and the wicked wizardess 'Mim; they transform themselves from one creature to another in a brilliant sequence that ranks with the best in animation history.

Finance Corp. Declares Quarterly Dividends

THORP — Directors of the Thorp Finance Corporation have declared a quarterly common stock dividend of 7½ cents per share, an increase of one - half cent over the dividend of last September, it was announced Monday by Francis J. Conway, president.

The common stock dividend is payable December 20 to shareholders of record on Dec. 12.

Conway said the common stock dividend was increased because of the improved earnings picture during the year.

A preferred stock dividend of $2.50 per share payable December 31, to stockholders of record on December 23, also was declared.

FALSE PITCH AND 'HEART ATTACK' INCLUDED IN SALESMAN'S SHOW

DEAR CY:

My wife and I are in our mid-forties and have the desire to go into the motel-management business. I have been manager of two different businesses. Having heard about a motel school, we sent them a letter. They replied and said a man would call upon us. A high pressure gentleman arrived shortly thereafter and put the screws on me to buy a four month correspondence course for around $250. Upon completing it, my wife and I would be licensed motel operators and could pick a place to manage anywhere in the U.S. at $6,000 per year. The picture he painted was so rosy, I could not believe my ears. When I told the salesman I wanted to think the proposition over, he got purple in the face and looked like he would have a heart attack. Can this deal possibly be on the up and up?

MAX FROM SAX

DEAR MAX:

This deal is completely, utterly, thoroughly and positively false! No reputable correspondence school promises employment at any price. Baron Munchausen, the arch liar himself, could not have created such a fanciful pitch for "licensing" motel jobs.

CY

DEAR CY:

I see where, in the first half of 1963, more than 50% of blue collar workers automated out of jobs were given other jobs by their company. Good for them! It's the other group who are out in the cold I am sorry for. I am also sorry for young people coming up in life who must accept the fact there is little job security anymore. Agreed?

FRED A. MUNDT

DEAR MR. MUNDT:

Yes. I believe we will, within this decade, see a greater emphasis of individualism and less reliance on job security. The figures also show 60% of the blue collar workers who lost their jobs were classified as "unskilled." They had a greater chance of being eliminated and less chance of getting retired than the other 20%.

From now on, the trend will be to acquire a good, general skill, not peculiar to one place of employment. In addition, it is going to be recognized as shrewd to have a sideline on which to rely in case of unemployment or retirement. Translation: greater reliance on one's individual abilities for security, rather than on dependence upon a large employer.

Norman Morris, director of Lifetime Careers, a home study school in Los Angeles, wrote me recently: "For a long period of time, I think people had the belief that if they joined a larger organization, they would be secure. And security is the thing the average person is seeking. With the rapid advance of technologies, employment in big concerns has become a will-o-the-wisp sort of thing." Does this mean young people should not seek work with large companies? Not at all. But relying on security in an ironclad job, rather than in one's own individual abilities, is rapidly changing.

DEAR CY:

I love my chosen work but, at age 52, am unable to secure another job. My entire career has been spent working for advertising agencies as an account executive. The company which last employed me lost its big account and something had to be done to reduce the overhead. I ended up on the street. Must I look elsewhere for employment?

ON-THE-STREET

DEAR ON-THE-STREET:

This may be brutal, but now is no time for sweet nothings. Few advertising account executives or copywriters realize that after 45 they will probably be classed as a drug on the market. According to employment agencies and recruiters I have talked to, an advertising man after 50 is practically unmerchandiseable. One employment agency even grants a 50% discount on its fee to any firm hiring a man through them who is over 50. The next step for a guy in your dilemma is usually free-lance work or becoming an "advertising consultant." After that comes self-employment in another field. I suggest you start thinking immediately about self-employment.

Pastor Honored at Surprise Program

500 Persons Attend Fete for The Rev. Sylvester Johnson

The Rev. Sylvester Johnson, pastor of St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran Church, was honored at a surprise program given by the congregation Sunday evening to mark his 25th anniversary in the ministry and as pastor of St. Matthew.

About 500 persons attended the program at Fox Valley Lutheran High School. A replica of the church which contained gift offerings from the congregation was presented to Pastor Johnson.

The Rev. F. M. Brandt, pastor of St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, conducted a brief religious service and gave a sermon. The St. Matthew adult choir and the children's choir from the upper four grades of St. Matthew Lutheran School sang. A gift from Fox Valley Pastoral Conference was presented during the service.

Seminary Classmate

The Rev. Harvey Kahrs, pastor of St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, Winneconne, a seminary classmate of Pastor Johnson, served as master of ceremonies for the program following the service.

Lester Schroeder, president of the congregation, delivered the congratulations of the congregation and spoke on happenings in the congregation during the last 25 years.

Paul Stegert, secretary of the congregation at the time Pastor Johnson was installed and still a member, recalled the pastor's arrival. Gerhard Rolloff, a new teacher at St. Matthew Lutheran School when Pastor Johnson was installed and now band and choir director at Fox Valley Lutheran High School, discussed school activities. Pastor Kahrs read congratulatory letters and telegrams.

On Committee

The committee in charge of the anniversary program included Carl Meitner, St. Matthew PTA president; Gerhard Rolloff, Alfred Gresens, principal of St. Matthew School, and Lester Schroeder. The ladies of the congregation served refreshments.

Pastor Johnson replaced the Rev. Philip Froehlke, who died in 1938. Pastor Brandt, then pastor of St. Paul Church, also was vacancy pastor at St. Matthew until Pastor Johnson was ordained and installed.

The anniversary program was a complete surprise to Johnson, who believed he was going to Fox Valley Lutheran High School to pick up his sons.

A Replica of St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran Church was presented to the Rev. Sylvester Johnson Sunday at a program honoring him on his 25th anniversary in the ministry and as pastor of St. Matthew. Making the presentation of the replica, which contained congregational offerings, is Lester Schroeder, president of the congregation. From left are Schroeder, Pastor and Mrs. Johnson, and the Rev. F. # Hilbert Man Injured as Rifle Explodes

Robert Schlors Was Test-Firing Shells He Had Hand-Loaded

HILBERT — A rural Hilbert man was injured about 9 a.m. Sunday when the 30-06 caliber rifle he was test firing exploded in his hands.

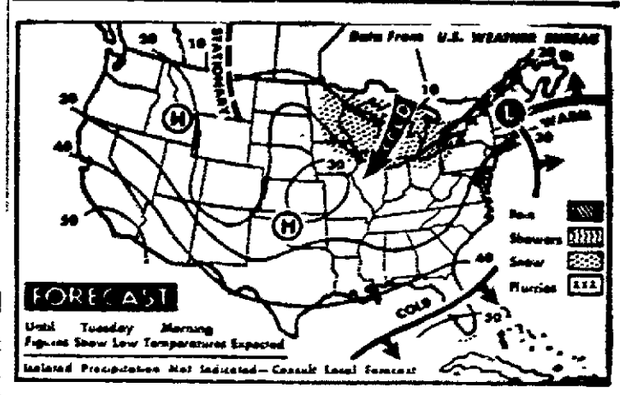

Robert Schlors, 26, route 2, is being treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital, Chilton, for a compound fracture on the index finger of his right hand and minor powder burns.

Schlors, a novice hand loader, told conservation Warden Keith Reichenbach he was test firing some cartridges he had hand-loaded when the gun exploded. The lower half of the breach blew out inflicting the hand injuries

Large Caliber Powder

Schlors said the rifle was new, but that the powder he had used in reloading was not designed for large caliber weapons.

He learned the gun powder was a fine grain powder to be used in small cartridges. The fine grain, in contrast to coarse grain in heavy caliber rifles, permitted Schlors to exceed the safe limitations for operation of the weapon.

Light Snow and Snow flurries are forecast for Monday night for the northern tier of states from the upper Mississippi valley eastward with generally fair weather elsewhere. It will be on the cold side except in the extreme southeast with temperature below the freezing point from the north and central Rockies to the north and central Atlantic states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Winter Chill Clamps Down On Wisconsin

Wisconsin temperatures flirted with the zero mark early today as the coldest weather so far this season clamped down on the state.

The mercury fell to 1 degree above zero at Stevens Point. Park Falls reported a low of 4. Green Bay 5, Eau Claire, Madison and Clintonville 7, Lone Rock 9, Wausau 6, Superior 10, Janesville 12, La Crosse 16 and Milwaukee and Beloit 17.

Another wintry touch was a dash of light snow in the Madison and Lone Rock areas Sunday evening, but only a trace remained on the ground. Early today snow began falling in the Superior area. By 6 a.m. .04 of an inch had come down.

Sunday's temperatures never got above freezing. The high was 32 at Beloit, with other maximums ranging down to Superior's 19.

It was clear in the southern part of the state this morning and mostly cloudy in the north.

New London Girl, Mother Hurt in Crash

OSHKOSH—A rural New London woman and her daughter were injured Sunday afternoon when their car went off the road to avoid a head-on collision with a car that was passing a third vehicle.

Mrs. Evelyn Ticks, 42, route 3, New London, suffered injuries of the stomach. Her daughter, Bonnie, 11, received an injury to her left wrist in the accident about 4:45 p.m. on State 110, one-quarter mile north of Lakeview Road.

According to county police, Mrs. Ticks' car was traveling north on State 110 and went onto the shoulder of the road to avoid the collision. Apparently it was sideswiped by the oncoming car and went into the ditch and tipped over.

4 Guilty of Tipsy Driving

Three Men Appear In Outagamie Court Today

Four more persons have been found guilty of drunken driving in separate court appearances.

Leroy C. Dorow, 19, route 2, Hortonville, was fined $175 and costs after he pleaded guilty to drunken driving today in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Dorow was arrested Nov. 19 by county police in the Town of Hortonia and was taken to Outagamie County jail. He was examined by a doctor and tested .20 on the breathalyzer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

His drivers license was revoked for one year.

Others Appear

Edwin W. Biese, 48, 216 S. Mason St., pleaded guilty to drunken driving. He was arrested Saturday afternoon in the Village of Black Creek.

He tested .18 on the drunkometer and was held in county jail until his court appearance today.

Dale W. Hostettler, 23, 1731 N. Clark St., was arrested Sunday in the Town of Grand Chute. He tested .22.

Fines for both were $175 each. Both appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

In Oshkosh

Mrs. Wallace Wickander, 38, 2044 W. Ninth St., Road, Oshkosh, was fined $150 by County Judge James V. Sitter Friday for drunken driving, but he stayed execution of the sentence to permit her attorney to take an appeal to Circuit Court.

She was found guilty by Judge Sitter after trial Nov. 21 and he postponed sentencing until Friday. She was arrested by Winnebago County police Oct. 19 on State 21 west of Oshkosh. She tested .16 on the breathalyzer, county police said.

Commission Delays Action On Rezoning

land back to single family after it was previously rezoned for another man to permit multiple family construction.

"If this land had been single family, Mr. Kramlich would never had bought it in the first place," he said. Reported purchase price was $50,000. He inquired if the neighbors or city wanted to buy the land, citing it was still underdeveloped, unkept property. There were no offers.

Changes Stand

Ald. Ogilvie, who originally supported rezoning from single to multiple family, is now taking the position it should be rezoning back to what it was originally.

Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th) and Commissioner George Johnson indicated they would favor the proposed rezoning

Commissioner Lloyd Doerfler raised the question as to whether the plan commission would be doing the right thing, reminding that land should be rezoned on the basis of use rather than what type of project is being considered or who the owner of the property might be.

Good Zoning

"We rezoned property on Ballard Road on the basis it was good zoning—not for a specific type building or firm," Doerfler told the group.

Public Works Director Robert Bues explained the city or owner of the property (in this case it is the city through the alderman of the ward) could institute procedures. "If we institute this rezoning, it means we must admit error or correction in the first rezoning," Bues said.

"Nothing has been said here today that would make for a valid reason to rezone the property again," Bues commented.

He warned the commission not to "become involved."

The matter was postponed for two weeks.

More Than Half AHS Graduates in College

This survey included students who received diplomas during the summer. The three foreign student graduates were listed as out-of-town students.

The number of graduates continuing in some form of school has remained fairly stable over the last five years, with no more than a 5 per cent variation during this time. The percentage attending the University of Wisconsin, Madison, has dropped from 10 5 per cent in 1959 to 6.6 per cent in 1963, while the number attending the UW Fox Valley Center has risen from 3 8 per cent to 11.8 per cent during the same period.

Nursing Schools

Nursing schools again showed a decrease in attendance, continuing a consistent trend in recent years. This fact can be partially explained by the trend toward the collegiate nursing program in which nursing students spend the first year in college and are counted as college students, the guidance department said.

The employment trend showed an increased percentage of students in the areas of office work and military service, after declines during the two previous years. However, percentage in military service is almost the same as in 1959, while the percentage in office work has dropped to 9.6 per cent from 16 per cent in 1959.

Occupations showing a decline were retail selling, factory and millwork. Greatest change was a 2.1 per cent drop in retail selling.

Because the variation from one occupation to another has been slight over the last five years, it might indicate graduates follow a rather stable pattern of occupations, the report said.

Foundation Laid for Apartment Complex Near Valley Fair

The basement foundation has been laid for a $200,000 chalet-type apartment complex on Foster Street, a block east of the Valley Fair shopping center.

Located in the Town of Menasha, the complex will consist of three, two-story buildings of masonry and wood construction. They are being erected for Roy Schumacher, Appleton, by the McClone Construction Co.

The apartments will consist of 20 furnished living units, including one and two bedroom types.

The complex, with parking facilities, should be completed by spring and will have three buildings measuring 78 by 34, 78 by 34 and 62 by 45 feet.

3 Added to UW Guidance Plan

Hortonville High Participates in Talent Program for Pupils

HORTONVILLE—Judith Glasenapp Daniel Hechel and Glenna Siebers have been selected for the academically talented students program in its fifth year at Hortonville High School.

Participating for the second year are Daniel Jentz, Patricia Schlegel and Sharon Steinert.

Charles Brenneke, Allan Krull and Becky Schroeder are in the third year of the program.

Trip to Wausau

William Morrissey, guidance director at the high school, accompanied the students to the guidance laboratory at the University of Wisconsin Extension Center, Wausau, where the staff tested and counseled the Hortonville students.

The students also participated in a wide variety of experiences designed to broaden their horizons with respect to educational and vocational opportunities; develop realistic concepts about their own strengths and weaknesses; assist in the planning of suitable educational programs; discover methods for overcoming personal and educational limitations, and provide counsel on any matter which may influence the students' fullest development.

2nd Meeting to Form Scout Troop Set for Holy Angels School

DARBOY — An organizational meeting was held last week at Holy Angels school hall to form a boy scout troop in the parish The Holy Name Society will sponsor the troop. Committee members instead decided to organize a cub scout troop.

Boys of the school were canvassed recently and parents of those boys who showed interest have been contacted and invited to a meeting at the school hall Tuesday evening. Any other interested parents also may attend. Lawrence Ebert, Kaukauna, will speak at the meeting and explain boy scouting to the group with the help of movies.

Green Bay Man Killed When Car Hits Pole, Tree

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—A well-known Green Bay golfer was killed instantly late Sunday night when his speeding car clipped off a utility pole and crashed into a tree on the city's west side. He was Joseph R. La Cosse, 25, of 921 Mather St., and he became Brown County's second traffic victim of the weekend.

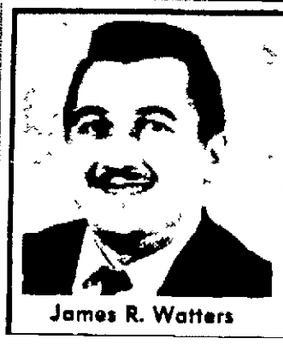

La Cosse died 30 hours after a Preble woman, Mrs. Mary Klarkowski, 69, of 317 Badger St. was killed when struck by a car while crossing in front of her home.

Witnesses said La Cosse's 1956 Buick was traveling at a high rate of speed when it began weaving as the driver lost control. The car swerved and skidded 152 feet before striking a utility pole.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph D and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph D.

Yes, and each person has to find it for himself or herself. Eleanor Roosevelt, in her last book, "You Learn by Living," told some of the things she felt were important. She listed such factors as being useful, being self-reliant, being neither a conformist nor too inflexible. She practiced, throughout her long and busy life, the principle of taking one's place in the community and becoming a part of its active life. She advised, as other successful persons have, "Don't waste your time by thinking only of yourself—wake up and live to the fullest."

Do television Western shows make sense?

Yes — No —

Yes, they make a great deal of sense—that is why they are so popular. The plot of the typical western is straightforward, simple and uncomplicated. Situations are always either black or white, good or bad, right or wrong. Problems in the show's story are solved by direct action, and are over with quickly. Professor Bergen Evans says that the TV western is the great American folk myth — like "Robin Hood" or "The Arabian Nights."

English Walnut Shells Can Be Made Into Fun-Time Hats

BY CAPPY DICK

The halves of English walnut shells can be turned into miniature hats to be placed on the heads of little statues made from photos of friends or members of your family.

Start with a half shell (Figure 1). Cut a brim from cardboard (Figure 2) and with household cement attach the walnut shell to it.

Glue the picture to cardboard and cut away the excess. With a saw, cut an empty thread spool in half and saw a slot in it. Fit the bottom of the picture into this slot. The statue will now look like Figure 3.

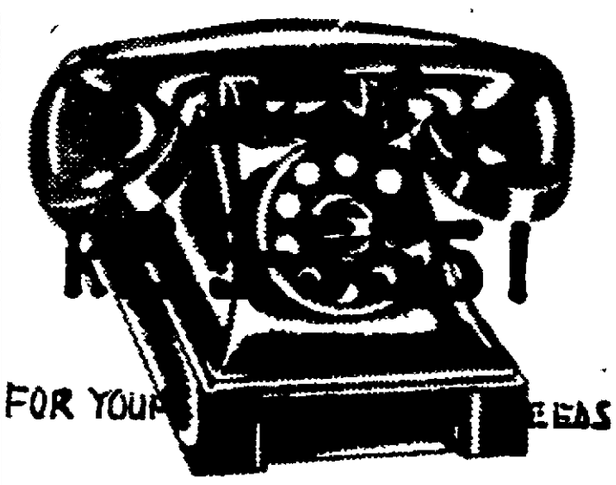

Place the walnut shell hat on top of the statue as in Figure 4.

Make several of these statues and place them on your desk as unusual little novelties.

Bobcats Edge Mustangs in Overtime, 4-3

Bob Hamilton, Rookie Center, Hero of Victory

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — With first place teetering in the balance, Green Bay's Bobcats "tricked" goalie Tom Yurkovich during a furious sudden death overtime Sunday afternoon to forgo a 4-3 victory over the Rochester Mustangs and cling to their U.S Hockey League lead.

The hero of the piece was rookie center Bob Hamilton, a recruit from Michigan Tech, who flicked the puck behind the lunging Yurkovich at 2:08 of the overtime to end the suspense, precipitated by a 3-3 deadlock at the end of the regulation 60 minutes.

The third straight victory for

Bears Come From Behind, Gain Tie

Vandy Leads Vikings to 17-3 Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota quarterback Ron VanderKelen, a bench warmer this season, proved Sunday he hasn't lost his touch. The former Wisconsin great pushed the Vikings into a two - touchdown lead before the Chicago Bears came on strong and managed a 17-17 tie in their National Football League game.

Chicago capitalized on a Minnesota fumble in the closing minutes and quarterback Bill Wade threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Joe Marconi to geep the Bears in the Western Division lead.

It was the second successive 17 - 17 deadlock played by the Bears, who last Sunday tied the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Bears hold the divisional lead with a 9-1-2 record and continue ahead of runner-up Green Bay, holder of a 9-2-1 mark.

VanderKelen entered the game with only two minutes gone when Viking star Fran Tarkenton was injured and directed the Vikins brilliantly, tossing his first NFL touchdown pass to give Minnesota a 17-3 lead in the second quarter

Tarkenton did not re-enter the game until the Bears tied it at 17-17 midway in the fourth period on the Wade - to - Marconi scoring shot

Get Big Break

The Bears got the big break of the game when Tommy Mason fumbled and Rosy Taylor recovered for the Bears on the Viking 31. Two plays later, Wade found Marconi wide open in the end zone. Rookie Bob Jencks' conversion knotted the score.

The Bears were outbattled most of the way by the team they had beaten 28-7 in Minnesota on Sept. 22. They were held to only 22 yards rushing in the first half and finally got back in the game in the third quarter. Wade capped a 49-yard march with a one - yard touchdown sneak, trimming the Minnesota lead to 17-10

Tarkenton failed to get the Vikings moving after the Bears tied it at 17 - 17 and wound up with one completion in four passes for four yards.

The Vikings moved ahead 3-0 on Fred Cox's 16-yard field goal in the first quarter. But the Bears tied it in the same period on Roger Leclerc's fielder, also a 16-yarder.

In the second period, the Vikings scored two touchdowns. The first came as VanderKelen guided Minnesota 42 yards and Tom Wilson smashed over from the two.

Vandy, who had previously completed 12 of 26 tosses as Tarkenton's substitute, cut loose with a pass play covering 53 yards with Gordon Smith on the scoring end.

Cleveland Knocks Cardinals Out of Tie for Lead, 24-10

Jimmy Brown Snaps His Own Single-Season Rushing Record

BY MIKE RECHT

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rejuvenated Frank Ryan and record-breaking Jimmy Brown kept Cleveland in a tie for first place in the Eastern Division of the National Football League Sunday as they led the Browns over St. Louis, 24-10.

The Browns are now tied for first with the New York Giants, who downed the Dallas Cowboys 34-27.

Cleveland, St. Louis and New York entered Sunday's game tied for first with the New York Giants, who downed the Dallas Cowboys 34-27.

The Cardinal defeat knocked St. Louis a game back of the pacesetters with two games left.

Brown, who went short yardage for two touchdowns, broke his own single-season rushing record by gaining 179 yards on 29 carries for a season total of 1,677 yards. He needed 30 yards to shatter the mark of 1,527 he set in 1958.

Had Been Benched

Ryan, benched two weeks ago when the Cardinals beat the Browns, 20-14. riddled the St. Louis defense with his passes for 210 yards. He threw 23 yards to Rich Kreitling for the first score and set up the other two with his long-distance tossing.

In contrast, Cardinal quarterback Charley Johnson had trouble most of the day hitting his receivers when the hard-charging Cleveland line was not on top of him.

The Browns wrapped up the game in the first half as Ryan engineered them to a 21-3 lead. He got them a touchdown the first time they got the ball after Paul Wiggin recovered a fumble by Bill Triplett of the Cardinals on the St. Louis 48. Ryan ran for a first down and then pitched to Kreitling for the score.

After the Cardinals managed their field goal, Ryan came back with a 49-yarder to Tom Hutchinson to set up Brown's dive for the score.

Ryan got the Cleveland moving again from their 27 in a march against the clock, helped by his toss to Gary Collins for 33 yards and his own 18-yard run for a first down. Brown scored with 33 seconds left.

133 Yards in Air

Ryan had 133 yards in the air on six of nine passes and Brown carried for 111 yards in 15 tries in the first half.

Triplett and Joe Childress combined to pick up most of the yardage on a 83-yard scoring drive in the third period.

Childress went over from the eight.

Moments later, the Cardinals blocked a Lou Groza field goal attempt and the tide seemed to be changing as the Cardinals backed Cleveland deep into its own territory.

But a roughing the kicker penalty that gave the Browns a first down and got them out of a deep hole in the final period killed the Cardinal chances before 32,531 fans, the largest crowd for a regular season game in St. Louis.

Carl Sawatski Put On Waivers by Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals said Sunday baseball catcher Carl Sawatski, who lives in Little Rock, Ark., has been put on waivers for possible unconditional release.

Sawatski appeared in 56 games during the 1963 season, most of the time as a pinch hitter. He batted .238 hit six home runs and had 14 runs batted in.

Texas Tech's Parks No. 1 Draft Pick

Eagles Choose Bob Brown; Redskins Take Charles Taylor

BY JACK HAND

CHICAGO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers drafted Dave Parks, a Texas Tech end, as the No. 1 pick in the National Football League draft today.

Parks is 21, 6-foot-2, 193 pounds. His home is in Abilene, Tex.

Parks was chosen by San Diego in the American League draft Saturday in the fourth round.

The Philadelphia Eagles selected Bob Brown, a 269-pound guard from Nebraska as their No. 1 draftee. They must outbid Denver, which picked him in the American League.

Brown highly regarded by most of the pro clubs, is 6-4, a native of Cleveland. He has a game remaining in the Orange Bowl at Miami against Auburn.

The draft is in inverse order on the finish of the clubs in the two divisions.

The National League surprisingly at the start followed the pattern of the AFL, which put more emphasis on linemen and defensive talent than on backfield men.

Parks is reputed to be an outstanding all-around player, a good catcher, blocker and defensive man. He has made a number of interceptions during his college career.

Five of the NFL clubs were operating by telephone from home offices, with a representative at the draft but with the coaching staff and officials at their desks giving instructions.

They are the two West Coast teams, Los Angeles and San Francisco; Dallas, St. Louis and Baltimore.

Washington, next in line, took Charles Taylor, an Arizona State halfback, who is 21 years old, 6-3 and weighs 205 pounds. He is from Grand Prairie, Tex.

A speed merchant, he has piled up considerable yardage in college as a running back. He also was good at running back kickoffs and punts.

Houston took him the second round of the AFL draft.

Steelers Play Third Deadlock Of Campaign

Michaels' Kick Ties Eagles in Last 40 Seconds

BY ED SCHUYLER JR.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 24-yard goal by Lou Michaels with 40 seconds remaining capped a fourth quarter Pittsburgh surge and gave the Steelers a 20-20 tie with Philadelphia Sunday in a wild National Football League game.

The tie, the second between the two teams this season and the third for Pittsburgh, kept the Steelers in the running for the Eastern Division crown. They have won six and lost three.

Michaels' field goal came after Ed Brown had passed the Steelers from their own 21 to the Eagles' 16. There the drive stalled.

Brown, who had four passes intercepted during the game, finally found the range in the fourth quarter when he hit on scoring tosses of 57 and eight yards to end Gary Ballman.

The Steelers came close to another TD on the final play of the second quarter when Buddy Dial made a fantastic over-the-head catch of a Brown pass and fell out of bounds on the Eagles' two.

However, the clock ran out on the play which covered 55 yards

Within 40 Seconds

Philadelphia got both of its touchdowns within 40 seconds in the second period. The first came on a 24-yard pass from King Hill to Pete Retzlaff and was set up when linebacker Dave Lloyd intercepted a Brown pass.

The second was set up when Gary Ballman fumbled the ensuing kickoff on the Pittsburgh 14 and Lee Roy Caffey pounced on the ball. It was scored on a 14-yard dash through left tackle by Tim Brown.

Mike Clark, who converted after each TD, also booted field goals of 23 and 40 yards in the second half.

Michaels also kicked a 10-yard field goal in the second period when the Steelers failed to get a touchdown after having a first down on the Philadelphia six.

The Steelers also had a first and goal situation from the Eagles two in the third period after Mike McClellan was called for interfering with Dial. But two plays later McClellan intercepted a pass in the end zone to kill the threat.

Tittle Sets NFL Record for TD Passes; Giants Win, 34-27

New York Stages Uphill Battle to Defeat Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — Y. A. Tittle set a National Football League record for touchdown passes Sunday in lifting the New York Giants to an uphill 34-27 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

New York's triumph kept the Giants in a tie for the NFL's Eastern Division lead with the Cleveland Browns, who knocked off the St. Louis Cardinals 24-10 Sunday.

Harried by a terrific pass rush in the first half, when Cornell Green intercepted two of his throws and turned them into touchdowns, Tittle came back to guide the Giants to 20 points in the last half.

His nine-yard shot to Frank Gifford and a 17-yard scoring throw to Del Shofner gave him the career record for touchdown passes. He now has 197 — one more than the record set by Bobby Layne.

The balding 38-year-old Tittle passed New York into position for one touchdown, tossing nine yards to Gifford; his passing set up the third New York touchdown, which he made himself with a one-yard smash; his passing set up a field goal and his scoring throw to Shofner was the payoff.

Jerry Hillebrand scored the first Dallas touchdown on a brilliant maneuver, first batting a Don Meredith pass into the air, then grabbing it and stepping into the end zone.

Don Chandler kicked two field goals, one for 53 yards — a Giants' club record.

Don Perkins, who ripped the New York line all afternoon, ran over three Dallas touchdowns. Amos Marsh made the other one.

A crowd of 29,653 fans watched the game played in the Cotton Bowl.

Tittle, who passed for 220 yards during the game, had three passes intercepted in the first half during which Larry Stephens and Guy Reese put a vicious rush on the aging quarterback of the Giants.

Dallas couldn't cash in on one of them when Frank Clarke fumbled a Meredith pass on the New York 17 and Erich Barnes gathered in the ball.

Marsh ran 40 yards to set up the first Dallas touchdown. Meredith's passing led to the third.

The Detroit Pistons have been having trouble winning with 10 players.

Sunday night, they tried to do it with seven.

They now have a six-game losing string.

The Pistons lost Bob Ferry in the first period, lost Don Ohl, Jack Moreland and their 75-71 halftime lead in the third period and went on to lose to the Philadelphia 76ers 132-121 in a National Basketball Association game played at Cleveland.

In the only other game scheduled Jerry West scored 37 points as the Los Angeles Lakers built their Western Division lead to 1½ games over idle St. Louis by defeating Cincinnati 114-109. The Lakers edged the Hawks 97-96 Saturday night.

Michigan Coach Reinstates Buntin

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan basketball coach Dave Strack announced Sunday that he has reinstated star center Bill Buntin, and will play the 6-foot-7 giant in tonight's home opener with Tulane.

Buntin was indefinitely suspended Thursday for what Strack termed "disciplinary reasons." Strack said he had talked things over with Buntin and their differences had been resolved He declined to say why he had suspended Buntin, an All-Big Ten selection last year, when he was the leading rebounder in the conference.

Buntin missed one game. Saturday's 90 to 76 win over Ball State at Muncie, Ind. Buntin's replacement, sophomore Jim Myers, scored 22 points.

Grid Cards Sign Two 'Futures'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis football Cardinals announced Sunday the signing of two 1963 "future" draft choices, Willis Crenshaw, a fullback at Kansas State and Bill Clay, a tackle at Arkansas.

Crenshaw, 6-foot-2, 210 pounds, was a ninth round pick and Clay, 6-foot-4, 230 pounds, was chosen on the 20th round.

A "future" is a player who has a year of college eligibility left although his class has graduated.

Gabriel Paces Rams to 21-17 Win Over 49ers

Improving LA Records Third Straight Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roman Gabriel's high velocity passes set up three touchdowns Sunday that gave the Los Angeles Rams a 21-17 National Football League victory over San Francisco.

It was the third straight triumph for the improving Rams and the fifth in seven games since the 6-4, 225-pound Gabriel took over at quarterback.

Los Angeles had to hold off a determined San Francisco last-half effort. The deciding points came six minutes into the third quarter. A Gabriel pass to Carroll Dale for 49 yards put the Rams on the five and two plays later Art Perkins pushed over from the one, making the score 21-10.

Intercepts Pass

Abe Woodson intercepted a Gabriel pass and ran it back 61 yards to set up the last 49er touchdown in the fourth period. Bobby Waters passed 14 yards to J.D. Smith for the score.

It was Waters' first play of the game. He remained at quarterback but threw two interceptions that killed 49er chances.

Gabriel's projectiles got most of the yardage and the two Ram touchdowns in the second quarter. His passes to tight end Marlin McKeever for 29 yards and Jim Phillips for 16 were the big gainers in the first scoring drive.

The surge carried 61 yards in nine plays with Dick Bass going in standing up from the 10.

Then with a 49er hanging onto his ankle, Gabriel launched a 43-yard pass to Phillips, who dragged Kermit Alexander for nine more. Three plays later Bass again scored without hindrance from the six.

McHan Fires TD

With 27 seconds left in the first half, 49er Lamar McHan threw 48 yards to Bernie Casey for a touchdown that made it 14-7 for the Rams at intermission.

Tommy Davis kicked a 36-yard third-period field goal for the other San Francisco points. He missed a 30-yarder in the first quarter. Danny Villanueva, whose punting helped the Rams, missed one field goal try and had another blocked, but kicked all three conversions.

The loss left the 49ers with a 2-10 record and the consolation prize of first choice in the league's draft Monday. The Rams are 5-7.

Mazzinghi Beats Dupas to Retain World Crown

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy retained his world junior middleweight boxing title Monday night by beating Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, La., on a technical knockout in the 13th round.

The scheduled 15-rounder was witnessed by a crowd of 9,000, many of them Italians who came to see their countryman.

Mazzinghi was favored. He weighed 153, Dupas 150¼.

Mazzinghi was declared the winner by Referee Vic Patrick after he hit the American on the jaw with a terrific right one minute. 10 seconds after the start of the 13th round.

Earlier in this round. Dupas had been floored twice but got to his feet again in an effort to stay in the fight to regain the title.

Badger Cagers Open Against Kent State

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin opens the 1963-64 basketball campaign against Kent State tonight with a team that could well be known as "Erickson's Midgets" before the season ends.

The Badgers will have to rely on speed, conditioning and ball handling in a tough, 24-game schedule.

The pattern was set when last year's top scorer, Jack Brens, was declared ineligible because of scholastic difficulties. Brens is 6-foot-8 and was Wisconsin's main scoring threat and rebounder in plans for this season. Also dropped for scholastic reasons was Gene Englund, a 6-foot-6 forward.

A pair of sophomores, Mark Zudor and Ken Gustafson must take over for Brens and Englund.

Needs Seasoning

Zudor, at 6-foot-6, will have to come along fast to give Wisconsin strength at the center post. Gustafson is 6-foot-3 and needs seasoning.

Wisconsin's other three starters are experienced, but small. Forward Don Hearden is a 6-foot senior who was the Badgers' fourth best scorer last year with a 9.1 per game average.

At the guards are Mike O'Melia, the team captain, and Jim Bohen. Each is 5-10.

Unitas Leads Colts Past Washington

Deceptive Quarterback Hits on 24 of 37 Passes in 36-20 Win

BY W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnny Unitas, as deceptive as a sideshow magician, passed for three touchdowns Sunday as he lead Baltimore to an easy National Football League 36-20 victory over Washington.

Unitas kept the Redskins in an almost constant state of confusion with his play calling. He connected on 24 of 37 passes for 355 yards and ran for key yardage himself on several occasions.

The clever quarterback sent the Colts into a 16-7 halftime lead with second quarter touchdown passes of 30 yards to John Mackey and two yards to Ray Berry, and Washington never caught up.

Sixth Victory

It was Baltimore's sixth win against six losses. Washington has a 3-9 NFL record.

Washington threatened to make a contest of it early in the third quarter, moving 80 yards in four plays to make the score 16-13. Dick James raced around end from the three for the score after a 62-yard pass to Don Bosseler put the ball in scoring position.

Jim Martin then kicked a 37-yard field goal to stretch the Colt lead. In all, Martin kicked three field goals, with the other two from nine yards and 41 yards.

Unitas broke the mage wide open in the fourth quarter with two quick touchdowns. He set up the first with a 10-yard run to the 10 after he was trapped trying to pass. Then, he sent Jerry Hill slamming through the middle 10 yards for the score.

Pass to Orr

Minutes later, Unitas took the Colts 76 yards in nine plays, this time it was a 28-yard toss to Jimmy Orr that was good for the touchdown.

Norman Snead, who completed 18 of 33 passes for 332 yards, sent Washington into a 7-3 lead early in the second quarter with a 28-yard pass to Bobby Mitchell.

Snead took Washington 72 yards in five plays in the closing minutes. The key plays were a 38-yard pass to Bill Anderson and a 34-yard toss to Tom Tracy. Don Bosseler bucked over from the one.

the Bobcats, it gave them a sweep of the series, following a less demanding 7-3 triumph in their home opener Saturday night. Only 896 fans sat in on this one, which was competing with television of the Chicago Bear-Minnesota Viking game.

Right on Cage

It was the first goal on Green Bay ice for Hamilton, a Kickland Lake, Ont., native who shrugged off his heroics, explaining, "I was right on top of the cage."

"Darryl (linemate Darryl Winnechuk) yelled for me to pass it to him and Yurkovich went that way," he grinned. "The rest was easy."

There was legitimate doubt in the waning minutes of the third period that Hamilton's opportunity would arrive. Only some tightfisted acrobatics by Bobcat goalie Jim Mattson averted a split for the Mustangs, who exerted heavy pressure in the stretch.

With Hamilton off the ice on an interference rap at 16:37 to complicate matters for the home forces, Mattson weathered one Rochester assault, then foiled another by freezing the puck with 1:08 left.

The threat had barely passed when the former University of Minnesota All-American was called upon to fend off a 10-foot bullet by Dick Carpenter, a golden Mustang opportunity, with just one minute left. A Lou Nanne stab with two seconds remaining also was batted aside, forcing the overtime.

Equal To Occasion

Rochester threatened again at 1:10 of the overtime, but Mattson was equal to the occasion and defenseman quickly deflected the rebound out of danger, before the Bobcats took charge.

Maneuvering at mid-ice, defenseman Bruce Shutte whipped a pass to John (Ivan) Ivanitz, near the boards at the right, who in turn fed Hamilton for the winning bullseye.

The Bobcats, who once had led 1-0, twice were forced to come from behind in the third period to gain the overtime. After big Ron Constantine had staked the Broncos to a 2-1 edge in the opening minute of the period with hosts shorthanded by two, towering Stu Anderson squared matters at 8:20, following a deft pass from Pete Buchmann, who had circled behind the Rochester cage to trigger the maneuver.

Bantam Billy Reichart, making his final Green Bay appearance before joining the U.S. Olympic team, fired between Mattson's skates to mount a 3-2 lead three minutes later (11:45).

It remained for Shutte, better known for his defensive skills than his sharpshooting, to pull the Bobcats even by rifling home a slap shot from the right point with 12:19 gone.

Puck Patter — Bobcat Player-Coach John Mayasich was understandably pleased with the double victory but he wasn't entirely happy with Sunday's performances.

"Nothing went," he said grimly. "And we had far too many penalties. You can't be in the penalty box all the time and win hockey games."

The Bobcats drew a total of 10 two-minute assessments.

Mayasich credited the victory to Goalie Mattson, observing, "Jimmy saved it for us — no doubt about it. Carpenter had that point blank shot there in the last minute and there were a couple of others he stopped that easily could have made the difference."

The first two fellows who scored goals for Montreal wound up in the hospital. Which may be why the Canadiens beat the Boston Bruins by only 3-1 Sunday night.

Two of Montreal's goal scorers — rookie Johnny Ferguson and Ralph Backstrom — wound up hospital cases.

Backstrom scored with only 45 seconds gone in the game. In the third period, he tangled with Doug Mohns and suffered a black eye and a five-stitch cut between the eyes.

Ferguson scored in the second period, then became involved in a battle with Ed Westfall. Players from both clubs joined the fight, and Ferguson joined the hospital list with a slashed tendon on his left thumb.

The other Sunday games produced more goals but fewer injuries, although Detroit had to play with its fourth goalie in three games — Hank Bassen following Roger Crozier, Harrison Gray and Terry Sawchuk in that order.

Bassen escaped without injury, except to his pride, as he was riddled for four goals in a 4-1 loss to Toronto.

In the only other Sunday game, Chicago and New York played to a 3-3 tie. The Hawks defeated the Rangers 3-2 on a Saturday program in which Toronto and Detroit played to a 1-1 tie and Montreal and Boston wound up scoreless.

'Y' Swimmers Win Over Fond du Lac

Bob Manwell, Steve Klein and Tim Moriarity each won two individual titles as the Appleton YMCA swim team scored a 152-54 victory over Fond du Lac here Saturday.

Manwell, in the 13 to 14 year old group, won the breaststroke and 160-yard individual medley. Klein, also in the 13-14 division, copped the backstroke and freestyle. Moriarity, in the 10-under class, copped the 20-yard butterfly and 80-yard individual medley.

The 11-12 class was the decisive one for Appleton as the local swimmers had a 70-6 advantage in that division.

Saturday the Appleton team will entertain Wausau in a dual meet.

Piton Slated to Be Minor League Baseball Chief

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Phil Piton, longtime assistant to the late George Trautman, is slated to succeed Trautman as president of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues.

The election will be held during the minor league meetings, opening officially here today.

Cards Offer Sadecki For Giants' Felipe Alou

Howie Koplitz, of Oshkosh, May be First Player Drafted

BY JOE REICHLER

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — High level trade discussions involving front liners Felipe Alou, Bill Skowron, Jim Bunning, Jim Kaat, Ray Sadecki and Claude Osteen gave promise of several major player transactions today as the National Baseball Association officially opened its 62nd baseball convention.

The most sought after player appeared to be Felipe Alou, the star right fielder of the San Francisco Giants. At least two clubs, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Tigers, have made overtures for the 28-year-old Dominican Republic native who batted .281, hit 20 homers and drove in 82 runs last season.

St. Louis has offered Sadecki, their promising 23-year-old southpaw, who divided 20 decisions with the Cards, winning four of his last five decisions. The Giants, on the lookout for a starting left-hander, expressed interest but asked the Cards to "sweeten" the offer.

Proposed Deal

The other proposed deal involving Alou is more complicated. The Tigers would like to have Alou but do not have a left-hander the Giants consider of equal value. The Giants, on the other hand, are interested in Minnesota southpaw Jim Kaat. The Twins are looking for a starting right-hander.

"We would like to have Jim Bunning of Detroit and the Tigers are interested in Alou," a Minnesota spokesman said. "I understand Calvin (Calvin Griffith, owner of the Twins) has offered Kaat to the Giants for Alou with the intention of sending Alou to the Tigers in exchange for Bunning."

A trade between the Los Angeles Dodgers and Washington Senators appears imminent. The Dodgers are said to have offered Skowron and an unidentified player to the Senators for Osteen, Washington's ace lefthander despite his 9-14 record.

More trade talk was expected today when the club officials gather for the annual draft.

The Senators, having first pick because of their last place finish in the American League were expected to select one of two pitchers, Camilo Estevis of Albuquerque or Howard Koplitz of Syracuse.

The draft was divided into two groups. The first selection was to be made from veteran minor leaguers at a cost of $25,000. Most of the activity, however, was expected to center around the first year draft, which includes young bonus players signed after Dec. 1, 1962. These may be acquired for the $8,000 price.

Last year, the majors selected 56 players at a record outlay of $695,000. Of these, 45 were first year men.

The Cards announced Sunday they had given veteran catcher Carl Sawatski his unconditional release.

Remaining Bowl Berths Hinge on Results of Army-Navy Contest

Cotton, Gator, Liberty Contests Still Need Teams

BY BOB GREEN

The majority of the major college football bowl berths still unfilled hinge on just one game —Army-Navy.

When that one is decided, the Cotton Bowl visitors' spot will be filled—either by Navy or Pitt. And when the Cotton Bowl is decided the others are expected to fall in line just like knocking over the first of a row of dominoes.

Here's the way it works: The Rose, Sugar, Orange and Bluebonnet bowls have their teams. Still to be filled are the visiting roles in the Cotton and Gator a both spots in the Liberty.

Second-ranked Navy is the top contender for the Cotton Bowl berth, but won't go if it loses to Army in their classic clash in Philadelphia on Saturday. It may not go even if it wins.

No. 2 Contender

Fifth-ranked Pitt is the No. 2 contender with an 8-1 record and with one game to go, against Penn State Saturday. Pitt, however, also is considered a candidate for some of the other bowls, so they all must await the outcome of the Army-Navy clash.

The Middies definitely won't go if they fail in their bid for their fifth straight victory over Army. If they win, the whole delicate situation will land in lap of the Pentagon and may even end up on the desk of President Johnson.

If Navy doesn't go, the honor almost certainly will go to Pitt, which has lost only to Navy and marked up its eighth victory with a 31-20 decision over Miami, Fla. Saturday night.

Washington won its way into the Rose Bowl on the running of fullback Junior Coffey in a 16-0 triumph over Washington State that sealed the Big Six title Saturday. The Huskies take only a 6-4 mark into the game against Big Ten champ, Illinois, 7-1-1.

Auburn gained the Orange Bowl spot opposite Nebraska on the strength of its 10-8 upset of Alabama, engineered largely through the efforts of substitute quarterback Mailon Kent.

Despite the setback, Alabama made it into the Sugar, where it will oppose Mississippi, which had to have a fourth-period field goal to tie Mississippi State 10-10.

Brilliant Don Trull scored all three touchdowns in the 21-12 Baylor victory over Rice which put the Bears in the Bluebonnet against LSU.

Dartmouth gained a share of the Ivy League title by upsetting Princeton 22-21 while Yale knocked off Harvard 20-6.

Here's a list of post-season football games involving major college teams:

JAN. 1

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. — Illinois, 7-1-1, vs. Washington, 6-4.

Orange Bowl at Miami — Nebraska, 9-1, vs. Auburn, 9-1.

Cotton Bowl at Dallas — Texas, 10-0, vs. opponent to be named — probably Navy, 8-1, or Pittsburgh, 7-1.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Mississippi, 7-0-2, vs. Alabama, 7-2.

DEC. 28

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. — North Carolina, 8-2, vs. opponent to be named — field includes Mississippi State, 6-2-2, Air Force, 6-3, Syracuse, 8-2.

Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia — Syracuse, 8-2, top candidate for host spot. Other spot wide open.

DEC. 21

Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston — LSU, 7-3, vs. Baylor, 6-3, pending school's official approval.

Deer Kill May Be Up About 25 Per Cent

West Central Area Expected To Lead State

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Conservation Department has estimated that the kill in the 1963 deer hunting season probably will approach 60,000, or about 25 per cent higher than a year ago.

The 1963 season, the same nine-day run as a year ago, ended Sunday evening. However, hunters have until tonight to register their animals and final figures are not expected before the middle of the week.

In a report Saturday night, the department said the kill on the opening weekend was 28,599. Traditionally, about 50 per cent of the season bag is taken during the first two days.

Largest Bag

The largest bag was expected to come from the west central area, where registrations had exceeded 18,000 up to Saturday. Last year the area provided 14,143 deer.

The kill in the Mississippi River counties was up 20 per cent, and it was up about 25 per cent in Jackson, Monroe, Wood and Clark counties.

Final figures for the 11 counties in the southern zone showed a bag of 2,580 deer. The top county in the zone was Grant with a registration of 619 animals.

The state's top bag was 168,911 in a seven-day, either sex season in 1959. The 1960 kill reached 105,966.

St. John Sets 11 World Marks In Pin Tourney

Marion Ladewig Successful in Her Title Defense

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim St John of St. Louis rewrote the record book Sunday as he won the $48,000 seventh annual World's Invitational Bowling Tournament by the widest margin in history.

St. John, 33, who still resides in Chicago although bowling for a St. Louis brewery, set 11 world's records on his path to the title and the $7,500 first prize.

The slender St. John finished almost 30 points ahead of second place Johnny Meyer of Nesconset, N.H., who had 314.17 Petersen points as compared to 343.26 by St. John. Meyer collected $3,750 as a runner-up and Bill Johnson of Kansas City got $2,000 for his third place finish.

In the women's division, the defending champion and three-time winner of the event, Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., donned her fourth crown by beating lefty Joanne Chapman of Blencoe, Iowa, in the final round.

St. John, a former Navy career man, averaged 233 for the 64 games in the finals of the 10-day tournament.

Don Carter, 37, of St. Louis, who had won five of the six previous tournaments, was far off his usual pace and finished his long grind on the new lanes at McCormick Place in 15th place and a prize of $915.

Mrs. Ladewig, 49-year-old grandmother, obviously tired at the 48-game grind in four days. But she still had enough left to shoot 246 in her first game and kill whatever chance Mrs. Chapman might have had of taking the title, and the first prize of $4,000.

In certifying her claim as the woman bowler of the year and making another drive toward The Associated Press title of Woman Athlete of the year, Mrs. Ladewig averaged 199 plus for 48 games in the women's field.

Mrs. Ladewig finished with a total of 223.16 Petersen points to 221.39 for Mrs. Chapman and 217.18 for Helen Duval of Berkeley, Calif., who finished third.

An 11-point scoring edge in the final quarter led the Xavier High School to its 39th consecutive junior varsity basketball triumph, a 66-51 decision over Marshfield Columbus Saturday night at Marshfield.

Mike Heideman's 23 points lead the Hawks who had only a 31-30 lead at halftime and were in front 43-39 at the three quarter mark.

Larry Van Dyke counted 17 for the Hawks and Steve Schmieder added 14 and also turned in a fine defensive game.

Boston's Babe Parilli, taunted by a chant and faced with a long stay at the unemployment office, salvaged his job and the Patriots' title hopes just in time to set up a key clash with Houston that may finally decide the American Football League's Eastern Division scramble.

Early last week Boston Coach Mike Holovak threatened Parilli with the loss of his job if he was unable to move the club against Buffalo. Then, in the second period Sunday, Fenway Park fans began to chant for Parilli's substitute, Tom Yewcic. They got him.

But they got Parilli back at the start of the third quarter, and the 10-year pro veteran completed an amazing flip flop, passing for one touchdown, then scoring the clincher himself for a 17-7 victory over the Bills.

The victory moved the Pats, 6-5-1, into a tie for first place in the East with Houston, which is 6-5 after being shut out for the first time in 45 games—27-0 by San Diego's Western Division leaders. The Patriots meet the Oilers in Houston this Sunday.

First in 54 Games

The New York Jets, meanwhile, remained in contention in the East with a 5-5-1 record by blanking Kansas City. It was the first shutout in 54 games for the defending league champion Chiefs, bogged down with a 2-7-2 record.

The league's only other game was played Thanksgiving Day, with Oakland defeating Denver 26-10 and remaining two games behind the Chargers. The leaders meet at Oakland Sunday, with the Chargers needing a victory to clinch their third title in the AFL's four-year history.

The Patriots were unable to get inside Buffalo territory under their own power in the first half and the Bills pulled out to a 7-0 lead on an 80-yard drive in the second quarter capped by Cookie Gilchrist's two-yard run. Then Parilli struck back at his taunters.

He pitched a pass over the middle to Larry Garron, and Garron raced the rest of the way on a 44-yard touchdown play. The next time Boston got the ball, Parilli heaved a 63-yarder to Art Graham and four plays later cracked the final two yards for the deciding touchdown.

Fire McDonald At Tennessee

Young Assistant, Doug Dickey, Is Likely Replacement

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Doug Dickey, young assistant coach at the University of Arkansas, was reported today to be Tennessee's choice as head football coach to succeed ousted Jim McDonald.

McDonald, fired Sunday after compiling a 5-5 record this fall, was named assistant athletic director to Bob Woodruff.

McDonald had been appointed head coach last June 20, following the dismissal of Bowden Wyatt.

The university's athletics board meets today at which formal announcement of the hiring of Dickey is expected.

Decline Comment

Dr. Earl Ramer, board chairman, declined comment on published reports that Dickey would get the job. However, he said the new coach might be named at the meeting.

Dickey is 31 and has been on Coach Frank Broyles' staff at Arkansas since 1959. He is the Razorbacks' offensive backfield coach.

Dickey was quarterback at the University of Florida in 1952-53 under Woodruff.

The dismissal of McDonald came somewhat as a surprise.

The Volunteers, under McDonald, ot off to a poor start, dropping four of their first five games. But the team improved steadily and in November finished with victories over Tulane, Kentucky and Vanderbilt and a good showing against Mississippi despite a 20-0 loss.

Loyola Quint Opens Against North Dakota

Cincinnati Beats George Washington In Its Opener

BY TED MEIER

Coach George Ireland's Ramblers from Chicago Loyola will have four returning starters in their lineup tonight when they open defense of their national collegiate basketball championship against North Dakota.

Only All-America Jerry Harkness, who graduated, is lost from the team that compiled a 29-2 record and upset Cincinnati in the NCAA finals last year.

So it's no surprise that the talented Ramblers are heavily favored to repeat as the nation's best in The Associated Press' pre-season poll. They're lop-sided favorites to win their opener against little North Dakota, which absorbed an 80-50 drubbing from DePaul Saturday.

The opening night results generally followed form, with Minnesota's 76-66 victory over Kansas State the only major surprise.

Ranked Second

The Violets of NYU, ranked second in the AP poll, also open this week along with the sixth-ranked Sun Devils of Arizona State and the No. 10 Oregon State Beavers. NYU opens Wednesday at Cornell, Arizona State on Tuesday against Western New Mexico at Home and Oregon State at Washington State tonight. The latter game was postponed from Saturday.

The other teams in the pre-season top ten. the Cincinnati Bearcats, the Duke Blue Devils, the Wichita Wheatshockers, the Ohio State Buckeyes, the Michigan Wolverines a nd the Kentucky Wildcats all scored impressive victories on opening night

Cincinnati, No. 3, crushed George Washington 101-65 behind Ron Bonham's 31 points. Duke, No. 4. humbled Penn State 92-62 as Jeff Mullins tallied 25 points. Wichita, No. 5, took Wyoming 82-67 as Dave Stallworth got 36 points. Ohio State, No. 7, thumped California at Davis 68-62 with Gary Bradds netting 20 points.

Michigan, No. 8, walloped Ball State 90-76 as Cazzie Russell and Jim Myers filled in capably for the suspended Bill Buntin with an aggregate 52 points. Kentucky, No. 9, had little trouble with Virginia 75-64 as Cotton Nash and Ted Deeken scored 56 points between them.

Rick Falk's 25-foot shot at the buzzer gave Northwestern an 80-78 victory over Western Michigan and West Virginia nipped Furman 67-65 on Ricky Ray's jump shot with one second left in two other thrillers.

Alston Signs For 11th Year With Dodgers

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Walter Alston. dean of active major league managers in point of continuous service with one club, signed for his 11th season with the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers today.

Alston immediately announced he wants to retain all his coaches. including Leo Durocher.

Since Alston became manager in 1954, the Dodgers have won four National League pennants and three world championships They have finished second three times. third once. fourth once and seventh once. They never won a World Series before he became manager.

The coaches. besides Durocher, are Pete Reiser, Joe Becker and Greg Mulleavy.

Ryan, Pass Defense Make Difference for Cleveland

BY MIKE RECHT

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Frank Ryand and a pass defense both missing two weeks ago. made the difference Sunday as the Cleveland Browns whipped St Louis, 24-10, in a crucial National Football League game.

But the Browns still needed the help of a penalty to slow the fast-finishing Cardinals and gain revenge for the 20-14 licking St Louis dealt them two weeks ago

"Something went out of the team on that penalty," said Cardinal quarterback Charley Johnson, "but that didn't beat us."

Away Sooner

Johnson was correct. It was the combination of Ryan and defense and Johnson's own bad day. The Cardinal quarterback completed 25 of 34 passes for 284 yards and two touchdowns in the victory over the Browns, but he hit only 9 of 26 for a net of 19 yards Sunday.

"Our pass rush forced Johnson to get the ball away sooner than he wanted to." said Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier. "It enabled our linebackers and backs to work together."

"I just waited too long to take advantage of the things they were giving us." Johnson said. "They cut off the inside pass they gave us in Cleveland, but they gave us the outside and I didn't take advantage of it. And I didn't help with my throwing either."

Ryan, on the other hand, was superb Benched during the first meeting of the two teams, he played the entire game Sunday, hitting for one touchdown and setting up the other two with his passes.

Collier gave the simple explanation. "When the passers are passing and the catchers are catching," he said, "It all looks easy."

Claim Record For Black Bear In Wisconsin

GLIDDEN (AP)— Two New Berlin hunters claimed the Wisconsin record for black bear today with an enormous animal weighing 665 pounds dressed. The Conservation Department says the heaviest bear bagged previously weighed 640 pounds.

It was the second beast of more than 600 pounds to be reported since the hunting season opened last Saturday. Sixteen - year-old Linda Lunsman killed a 635 pounder near Danbury with a single carbine shot in the head earlier in the week.

Today's prize — an animal which apparently would h a v e weighed well over 700 pounds alive— was shot by Otto Hebany and Donald Strubel, w h o were hunting on the H. R. Krans Logging Camp area five miles east of Glidden. Krans was hunting with them but said he did not shoot.

The men said they came upon the bear in a den dug out beneath a pile of logs, when it raised its head. After it w a s slain, the three had to ask help from four other hunters to drag the carcass to a nearby truck.

The bear, 7 feet 10 inches from nose to tail, with a 72 - inch chest, is on display at Glidden.

Appleton JV Win Streak Halted By Madison West

Madison West ended Appleton High School's 3-season junior varsity basketb a l l winning streak at 22 straight here Saturday night.

The Junior Regents expanded a narrow, 30-28 halftime lead to score a 68-54 victory. AHS pulled within six points. 50 - 44, early in the fourth quarter but then faded under a barrage of Madison goals.

The scoring was led by the visitors' Werth, with 24 points. Mike Ziemann hit 20 for the Junior Terrors.

Want Ad Information

Closing Time

Want ads accepted to 4:00 p.m. the day before day of publication. For Monday—Before noon Saturdays. For Sundays — Before 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

Corrections or Cancellations

Want ad corrections or cancellations accepted to 8:30 a.m. for the same day publication. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

IMPORTANT

Composition costs will be charged, if an ordered ad is cancelled before publication.

After an ad is ordered, it cannot be changed before one publication.

When cancelling an ad, demand a "kill number." No claims is recognized on ads cancelled without it. The number of days ad is published determines the rate of such ads.

Adjustments

The Appleton Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for verbal statements in conflict with its established rules, policies or rates.

All claims for adjustments or refunds must be made within 7 days after expiration of ad.

Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which make the advertisement less valuable, should be corrected the first day, when one extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

NOTICE

The Appleton Post-Crescent is exercising all precautions to avoid publishing any fraudulent or misleading advertising. However, if any ad appearing in the classified columns of the Post-Crescent can be proven fraudulent or misleading, we would appreciate your informing us immediately.

Economy and Defense Topics At Conference

2 Members of Cabinet, Budget Chief See Johnson

BY KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called two Cabinet officers and his budget director to the White House today for conferences on economic and defense matters.

The sessions with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Budget Director Kermit Gordon follow hard on the heels of a busy Sunday at the White House for the new President.

While at his desk Sunday, Johnson drafted a letter to defense contractors asking their cooperation in cutting defense costs, and the White House announced the dates when West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, Italian President Antonio Segni and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home will visit the President.

Presents Fermi Award

Johnson begins his work today with an early morning visit from Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League. In late afternoon Johnson presents the $50,000 Enrico Fermi Award to controversial nuclear physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer.

Oppenheimer directed the Los Alamos Laboratory where the atom bomb was developed during World War II. In 1954, he was declared a security risk by the Atomic Energy Commission. The commission did not question his loyalty, but by a 4-1 vote barred him from further access to atom secrets.

Last April, the White House announced that in recognition of his contribution toward developing the bomb, the AEC had selected him to receive the Fermi Award, one of science's most coveted honors.

Leoni, Betancourt Candidate, Leading At Venezuela Polls

Huge Turnout of Voters Despite Terrorist Threats

BY PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Portly, bespectacled Raul Leoni, candidate of President Romulo Betancourt's Democratic Action party, held an early lead in unofficial presidential election returns today after an overwhelming turnout of Venezuelans voted in defiance of death threats from pro-Communist terrorists.

Leoni

Unofficial returns from about 5 per cent of the votes gave Leoni 44,399 votes; Arturo Uslar Pietri, a wealthy independent, 36,542; Rafael Caldera, Social Christian party, 27,803; Wolfgang Larrazabal, Popular Democratic party, 16,357; Raul Ramos Gimenez, dissident Democratic Action, 6,828, and German Borregales, of the rightist Authentic National Movement, 442.

Slow Countying of Votes

Counting of votes was delayed by the number of presidential and congressional candidates.

Leoni, who has compared his worker-peasant party to Britain's Labor party, looked to votes from the interior and oil-rich Zulia state, where his party is strong, to pile up his margin of victory.

Uslar Pietri was running far ahead in Caracas where the Democratic Action party ran last in the 1958 election.

The pro-Castro Armed Forces for National Liberation threatened death to those who voted and kept up the bombing, sniper fire and sabotage with which it sought during the campaign to provoke a military overthrow of Betancourt.

Voters Defy Terrorists

The voters were not intimidated. Officials estimated that a record 3.4 million persons, about 96 per cent of the eligible voters, cast ballots.

During the day a police agent was killed and his wife wounded in a gun fight between a terrorist gang and police and troops in Caracas.

Five bombs exploded in Caracas, including one in an apartment building hallway that injured a child. Special patrols disarmed 30 other bombs.

Major gun battles broke out after nightfall and after the polls closed. Avenue Urdaneta in downtown Caracas was a no man's land of machine-gun and small arms fire.

Injuries From Crash Fatal to Appleton Man

Bert Weisen's Death Hikes State Road Toll to 810

OSHKOSH—An Appleton man Bert Weisen, died Sunday afternoon at Mercy Hospital from injuries received in a three-car accident on the U.S. 41 bridge over Lake Butte des Morts on Saturday morning.

The death raised the state's highway toll for the year to 810, compared to 879 one year ago.

Weisen, 59, 1030 Glendale Ave., suffered a skull fracture, crushed ribs and a broken leg, according to Winnebago County Coroner Arthur Miller. The accident happened at 9:12 a.m. Saturday. Weisen died at 12:55 p.m. Sunday.

A total of 11 persons were injured in the accident. Weisen's widow, Mrs. Elsie Weisen, 56, is in serious condition at the hospital with head injuries.

Slippery Surface

The accident happened when a northbound car driven by Neil Shafer, 30, Racine, skidded on a curve on the slippery bridge surface and went into the southbound lane, colliding headon with the car driven by Weisen. A third car, driven by Frank Iwan, 28, Chicago, then hit the rear of the Weisen auto.

Four other passengers in the Weisen car were injured. Donald Gilbert, 34, 1300 E. Marquette St., Appleton, suffered chest and leg injuries; his wife, Pauline, 30, received a broken nose, and their two children, Mark, 4, and Mary, 2, received minor injuries. Five persons in the Shafer car were hurt but none seriously.

Weisen's death raised the 1963 Winnebago County traffic toll to 22.

Nine persons died on Wisconsin roads during the Thanksgiving holiday period.

Fatal Injury

Also Demands Increase in Pensions, Health Program With Costs Paid by Carriers

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen—the key operating union in the current work rules dispute — has served demands on the nation's railroads for a 25 per cent wage increase.

Also among demands served Sunday by the 78,000-member union were supplemental pensions and company-paid health coverage. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers previously asked the nation's railroads for pay increases.

In Washington, a spokesman for the American Association of Railroads said the organization would have no comment pending a study of the demands.

Board's Findings

An arbitration board issued recommendations Tuesday that could involve the elimination of up to 33,000 firemen's jobs.

The five operating unions and the railroads were to settle wages and other issues between themselves under the Emergency Rail Arbitration Law passed by Congress in August to halt the threat of a strike then. The arbitration board was given only the firemen and train crew issues to settle.

Failure of negotiations could result in the dispute going back to Congress Feb. 25, the expiration date of the Rail Arbitration Law.

Raise Called Overdue

H. E. Gilbert, president of the BLF&E, said wage adjustments for locomotive engineers, locomotive helpers (firemen), hostlers and hostler helpers represented by the brotherhood were long overdue.

Gilbert said the last wage increase became effective March 1, 1961. He said the railroad industry is operating at near-peak prosperity despite official management statements to the contrary.

Included in the wage demands was a stipulation for a daily earnings minimum of $40 for engineers and $35 for firemen in all classes of road service.

The current wage scale was not available.

U. S. Supreme Court Issues Decision in Florida Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided today state courts may enforce state bans on agency shop labor contracts.

Justice Douglas delivered the 8-0 decision.

Justice Goldberg, former secretary of labor, took no part.

Workers under agency shop contracts do not have to become union members but must pay the equivalent of dues and fees which members pay.

Florida Case

Douglas said that, in the case ruled on today, the Florida Supreme Court had held that a negotiated union-security agreement violated the right to work provision of the Florida Constitution, and that state courts have jurisdiction to provide a remedy.

"We agree with that view," said Douglas.

The Supreme Court on June 3, 1963, ruled that agency shop contracts are permissible under federal law, but said they may be prohibited by state law. The same day the high tribunal upheld the Florida Supreme Court in its findings that the agency shop violates the state's right-to-work law.

Left unanswered then was the question whether enforcement of state bars against agency shops is up to the states or the National Labor Relations Board. The high court called for new arguments on that issue and they were heard on Oct. 16-17.

The Florida case was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court by Local 1625 of the AFL-CIO Retail Clerks Union. The local had an agency shop agreement with Food Fair, Inc., stores in Miami. A group of non-union employes of Food Fair protested against paying fees to the union and the Florida Supreme Court ruled in their favor.

Right-to-work laws prohibit contracts requiring union membership by workers in a plant.

Political Stability Aim in South Korea

SEOUL (AP) — President-elect Chung Hee Park says his political opponents "should assume a constructive posture to bring about political stability and try to alleviate the economic hardships of the people."

Reynolds Asks Added Efforts For Urban Aid

Says Wisconsin Must Act or Leave Benefits to Others

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON—Recognizing Wisconsin's traditional reluctance to accept federal aid programs, Gov. John Reynolds today keynoted the conference on urban renewal by urging that the state's local governments step up their participation in federal urban help programs.

Reynolds said he understood the historic conservative philosophy of Wisconsin, but he said, if Wisconsin does not take advantage of urban renewal programs, tax dollars paid by Wisconsin residents go to "more energetic" states and cities.

Promotes Stability

Reynolds said urban renewal, in his view, is part of the device of federal assistance to states' "assuring economic stability to all of our nation."

"We must participate in these programs if we are to participate in the economic life of this country," Reynolds said.

About 200 local government officials, state officers and representatives of business groups were registered for the one-day conference on urban renewal.

The Green Bay delegation met

Hatlo, Creator Of Popular Cartoon, Dies

Hatlo

Hatlo, who also created the "Little Iodine" comic strip, died yesterday of a heart attack at the age of 65, after an illness of several years.

The Hearst King Features Syndicate sent "They'll Do It Every Time" around the world to more than 700 papers. Hatlo was reported to have made $300,000 annually at one time.

Cartoon Replacement

Brought to California from his native Providence, R.I., at the age of one, Hatlo later quit high school to work alongside his father in the composing room of the Los Angeles Times. He transferred to the newspaper's art department at a slash in pay and from 1914 to 1918 penned sports and editorial cartoons.

He joined the San Francisco Bulletin, and then The Call, after brief jobs as publicity man for an auto agency and ad agency.

One day in 1928, The Call's managing editor informed him that "we've just lost 'Bug House Fables.' You'll have to draw something to fill up the space until we buy another feature."

Hatlo then drew the first "They'll Do It Every Time," it and "Little Iodine" were syndicated in the early 1930s.

Hatlo had worked for the last 18 years in his studio at the family home, "Wits End," on the Monterey Peninsula, south of San Francisco.

He is survived by his widow Lois, and 14-year-old son James Jr.

Inonu Resigns Post as Turkish Prime Minister

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Prime Minister Ismet Inonu, 80, resigned today.

He had returned only Saturday from Washington, where he attended the funeral of President Kennedy.

In his absence, two members of his governing coalition — the new Turkey party and the Peasants Nation party — decided to pull out. This left Inonu in the position either of forming a new government or calling parliamentary elections.

Reports that Inonu was to be assassinated circulated in Turkey Saturday and a heavy security guard was thrown around him as he arrived from the United States.

Holiday Traffic Deaths at 526 to Set New Record

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A record 526 deaths occurred on the nation's highways in traffice accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend.

Reports of fatalities during the final hours of the 102-hour period pushed the toll above the 514 of the 1962 Thanksgiving weekend which was the highest since 1958 when The Associated Press initiated tabulations for the fall holiday. The lowest was 442 in 1960.

The toll was recorded during the period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, until midnight Sunday.

The National Safety Council did not estimate a toll in advance of the holiday. Officials said Thanksgiving is a family holiday and highway travel is about the same as a non-holiday weekend at this time of year.

The Associated Press, for comparative purposes, made a survey of a nonholiday period of 102 hours from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 13, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 17, and counted 477 traffic deaths.

Man Accused of Threat to Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert A. Weatherington, 40, was to be arraigned today in General Sessions Court on a charge of making an oral threat against the life of President Johnson.

Secret Service agents arrested Weatherington at his home Saturday night.

Police said Weatherington has a record of erratic behavior.

According to agents, Weatherington complained that he had been discharged by the Army Corps of Engineers because of a nervous condition. He alleged that the President and heads of three local banks were involved in a news blackout of files which would clear his record.

The agents said Weatherington told them that unless the blackout was ended by the President, Johnson would have to die.

Acts to End Dispute

Pope Paul's Apostolic Letter to Extend New Powers to Bishops

BY BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI sent word to the Vatican Ecumenical Council today that he would issue an apostolic letter Tuesday extending new powers to all bishops

The document apparently will be aimed at resolving a council dispute over the concept of shared power between bishops and the Pope.

Last Working Session

The announcement of the Pope's intention—which gave no details — came during the last working meeting of the council's second session.

The council also received assurances from Augustin Cardinal Bea that controversial declarations on the Jews and on religious tolerance "certainly will come up next fall" at the council's third session. The declarations had been put aside at this session.

Most debate at this final working session centered on a Christian unity schema. The Council has ceremonial meetings Tuesday and Wednesday, then recesses until next Sept. 14.

In the nine weeks since Pope Paul VI resumed the council, which Pope John XXIII called, the Roman Catholic prelates took decisive action in four areas. They also debated three of the 16 schemata, or topics, on their program for renewal of Catholicism and advancement of the cause of Christian unity.

They approved two schemata: One permitting major changes in the forms of Catholicism's worship and the other a statement on mass communications media.

Both topics were debated at the first council session in 1962 and revised during the recess.

In one major vote the prelates decided that theology on the Virgin Mary should be treated within the framework of a schema on the nature of the church, rather than in a separate schema devoted entirely to her. Opponents of the latter procedure argued that it would put undue emphasis on the place of the Virgin in Catholicism, one area of Catholic-Protestant disagreement.

Power of Bishop

Another key vote was held to guide the commission that will write amendments for the schema on the nature of the church. Despite considerable dissent in debate, the council fathers showed in the vote that they overwhelmingly favored the collegial concept that all bishops as a body share with the pope in authority over the church.

The council also debated schemata on the nature of the church, on bishops' powers and diocesan government, and on Christian unity or ecumenism.

School Closing Upheld By Court in Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Virginia Supreme Court said today Prince Edward County had the right to close its public schools to avoid racial integration.

In a 6-1 decision, the majority said the Virginia Constitution gives its localities the option of operating or not operating public schools.

The dissenting judge was Chief Justice John Eggleston, who held that the State Legislature was obliged to provide public education in the county which abandoned it four years ago.

The final adjudication in the long-fought school case hinged in part on the action of the Virginia high court. The case is already before the U.S. Supreme Court on its latest trip and Eggleston's dissent offered this forecast.

"The refusal of the highest court of this state to recognize here the rights of the citizens of Prince Edward County guaranteed to them under the Constitution of the United States is a clear invitation to the federal courts to step in and enforce such rights. I am sure that invitation will be promptly accepted. We shall see"

Prince Edward abandoned its public school system in 1959 in the face of court-ordered integration. It took the move by refusing to appropriate local matching school funds.

A private educational foundation immediately organized a school for white pupils. Negroes turned down offers of assistance in opening similar private schools and continued to fight in the courts.

The first break in the education blackout for Negroes came last September when a free privately financed system was set up and is now providing education for the Negroes. The new free schools are being held in former public school buildings.

Two Men Badly Hurt in Crash Near Sherwood

Earl E. Kettner, Appleton, Has Most Serious Injuries

SHERWOOD—Two men were seriously injured in a head-on collision about 6 p.m. Sunday on State 114, two miles west of here at the intersection with State 55.

In critical condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital was Earl E. Kettner, 313 E. Murray Ave., Appleton, a passenger in a car driven by Eugene H. Summers, 29, 1006 Sanders St., Appleton.

Kettner suffered severe head injuries and a broken foot when the Summers car collided with one driven by Roger J. Braun, 27, route 1, Kaukauna.

Summers also suffered head injuries, and is a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Taken in Ambulance

They were taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance. Braun suffered a bruised right hand.

State police said the Summers auto was west bound. The report indicated Braun was attempting to turn left onto State 55 when the crash occurred.

Braun told police he was thinking about turning around when the accident occurred. Police were able to get a short statement from Summers at the hospital. He said he did not know what happened.

Authorities said the Summers car was equipped with seat belts, but they were not in use at the time of the accident.

New London Girl, Mother Hurt in Crash

OSHKOSH—A rural New London woman and her daughter were injured Sunday afternoon when their car went off the road to avoid a head-on collision with a car that was passing a third vehicle.

Mrs. Evelyn Ticks, 42, route 3, New London, suffered injuries of the stomach. Her daughter, Bonnie, 11, received an injury to her left wrist in the accident about 4:45 p.m. on State 110, one-quarter mile north of Lakeview Road.

According to county police, Mrs. Ticks' car was traveling north on State 110 and went onto the shoulder of the road to avoid the collision. Apparently it was sideswiped by the oncoming car and went into the ditch and tipped over.

G. H. Pringle New Head of Mead Company

George H. Pringle was elected president of the Mead Corporation to succeed D. F. Morris who died in November. The announcement was made by H. E. Whitaker, chairman of the board.

The Gilbert Paper Co. of Neenah is a subsidiary of the Mead Corporation. The corporation's executive offices are in Dayton, Ohio.

James W. McSwiney was elected executive vice president to succeed Pringle. McSwiney has been group vice president since 1962.

George H. Sheets is senior vice president, a new post in the Mead Corporation. He has been group vice president at White Papers since 1962.

Following a meeting of the board last week, Paul F. Miller Jr., a general partner of the investment-banking firm of Drexel and Co., Philadelphia, was elected a member of the Mead Corporation board of directors. He replaced William L. Dempsey, also a partner in the banking firm, who resigned. Miller lives in Gladwyne, Pa.

Mrs. James Rabida leads the seventh grade Junior-Hi group which meets Thursdays in the bank. She is assisted by Miss Mary Bloomer and Miss Lori Ammerman. The sponsor is Mrs. Harold Buhl.

In addition to the individual group sponsors, the Chilton Woman's Club serves as general sponsoring unit.

Foundation Laid for Apartment Complex Near Valley Fair

The basement foundation has been laid for a $200,000 chalet-type apartment complex on Foster Street, a block east of the Valley Fair shopping center.

Located in the Town of Menasha, the complex will consist of three, two-story buildings of masonry and wood construction. They are being erected for Roy Schumacher, Appleton, by the McClone Construction Co.

The apartments will consist of 20 furnished living units, including one and two bedroom types.

The complex, with parking facilities, should be completed by spring and will have three buildings measuring 78 by 34, 78 by 34 and 62 by 45 feet.

Santa Will Receive Letters Faster With North Pole Zip Code

Although it is rather early in the season, some youngsters may be interested in knowing Santa Claus' ZIP code number when letters to Santa time comes around—its 99701.

Post office officials today said youngsters, when mailing letters to Santa, should address the letter to the following:

Santa Claus-North Pole—99701

Several letters have already been received by the postal department here. Replies will be made to the sender.

Man Who Apparently Dreamed of Intruder Sentenced to Jail

A rural Kaukauna man who apparently dreamed a man walked into his bedroom with a gun, then awoke and jumped through a window and ran to his neighbors for help Thursday night was sentenced to 20 days in the Outagamie County jail on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Patrick Kerrigan, 38, route 1, Kaukauna, said he had been drinking before he went to bed, but claimed that the man who entered his bedroom was not part of a dream.

Kerrigan's neighbors called the Outagamie County sheriff's department when Kerrigan would not leave their home. Kerrigan was taken to the Outagamie County jail where he was treated for cuts.

Greek Girl 'Adopted' By Menasha Woman

Mrs. R. E. Thickens Lends Support To Child Under Foster Parents Plan

MENASHA — Taxiarhoula Psarrou, 11, an olive-skinned, dark-eyed Grecian girl, has new hope for overcoming the problems besetting so many youngsters in depressed areas in foreign lands, thanks to Mrs. R. E. Thickens, 360 Park St.

Mrs. Thickens has financially adopted Taxiarhoula through the Foster Parents Plan, Inc., New York. For the little girl it means freedom from working long hours in the olive orchard and perhaps the realization of her ambition to be a teacher.

A few years ago Mrs. Thickens financially adopted a little French girl who is supporting herself now.

Taxiarhoula is 4 feet, 9 inches tall and weighs 73 pounds. She lives with her widowed mother and a brother, Alexander, 18, in a little village on the island of Mytilene off the coast of Turkey. Together they own 20 olive trees and work in other orchards to piece together a mere 33 cent a day on which to live.

Mother Ill

Her mother suffers from anemia and an abdominal ailment. Her father died in 1954 after a long illness. They live in a sparsely finished, primitive dwelling which is typical of the village.

Foster Parents' Plan (PLAN), 532 Park Ave. South, New York, is a non-profit, non-propaganda, non-sectarian, government - approved organization dedicated to aiding financially destitute children in foreign countries. Its purpose is to guide the foster child toward economic independence and subsequently to responsibility for his family and service to his country.

Social

PLAN maintains a corps of social workers and local directors who select the candidates for the foster child program. They match the child with a "foster parent" who wants to help support a child of a specific age and nationality.

A foster parent adopts the child financially, not legally, by contributing $15 a month for the child's support for at least a year. The foster parent receives pictures and a case history of his foreign relative as well as occasional letters of thanks and information.

One PLAN foster child wrote to his foster parent after he had become independent, "Nobody can tell me or my family Americans are bad. I know how good they really are."

'Free Campus Program' at New London High Praised

Principal Robert Sutter Points to Increase in Honor Roll Students

NEW LONDON — The free campus program at New London's Washington High School is a success according to Robert Sutter, principal. He has compared the number of honor students now with the 1961-62 first quarter honor roll and found a substantial increase.

Due to increased enrollment, a merit student program was started last year and at the start of the new school year the entire student body was given free campus privileges. The only time students must be in school is when they have a class, during their free periods they may leave school.

According to figures compiled by Sutter in 1961-62 there were 634 students in the school's four classes and this year the number climbed to 712. The number of honor students increased from 31 to 40 and the percentage of pupils on the honor roll went up from 4.9 per cent last year to 5.6 per cent of the total number of students in the first quarter this year. The grade average of pupils on the honor roll also went up from 3.71 points last year to 3.78 this year. Students with a grade average of 4 went up from five to seven.

Achievement Standards

Sutter said while these figures cannot be considered as a absolute indication, they would suggest that the "free campus" program is maintaining, and possibly bettering the achievement standards for the pupils.

"It is fully realized that the greatest test of the program is yet to come with the arrival of inclement weather," Sutter said. Only a very small percentage, about five per cent, are causing most of the troubles with absences and the like, he said.

"More telephone calls and letters have been sent to parents reporting truancy, but these truancy cases are no more or less than other years. They appear to be more because of the constant study made daily. The average student body in all high schools has a truancy enrollment that levels at 10 to 15 per cent. There are no more truancy cases in Washington High School today under the 'free campus' plan than under the supervised study hall organization," Sutter commented.

Five Academic Subjects

Of the 40 students on the honor roll for the first nine weeks, 50 per cent live in the city and the rest live in rural areas and ride school buses. Ninety-five per cent of the honor roll students are enrolled in courses such as mathematics and science and 99 per cent of the students carry five academic subjects plus physical education and music.

Seniors on the honor roll are Curt Fuhrman, Beverly Grosnick, Lana Johnson, Arthur Luedtke, Judith Meyer, Joseph Mullarkey and Phil Wilson. Juniors — Connie Bast, Jan Demming, Mark Demming and Sharleen Weege. Sophomores—Shirley Affeldt, Robert Babcock, David Brensike, John Egan, Marjorie Fietz, Lois Gauerke, Mary Harn, William Kaufman, Richard Loss, Gerald Olesen, Marcia Radtke, Larry Seefeldt, Stanley Teschke, Teresa Sgroi, Lynnette Steingraber, Susan Ulmet, Katherine Vander Heyden, Vicki Harvey, David Winckler, Judy Woeshnick and Kathleen Ziemer.

Freshmen on the first nine weeks honor roll are Susan Backes, James Bassewitz, Willis Behnke, Linda Hammerberg, Jane Klinzing, Edward Loss, Susan Voeks and Tod Woods.

Committees Of Waupaca A of C Named

WAUPACA — Four Waupaca Association of Commerce committees have been named by Robert Knerr, president, as the association concludes its fiscal year and plans for 1964.

The nominating committee consists of Clifford E. Johnson, chairman, Ervin Nicholaison, Paul Niles, Tom Godfrey and Darold Kramer. Members of the planning and budget committee are Kenneth Glover, chairman, Douglas Loomis and Frank W. Egan.

The annual banquet committee consists of C. K. Petersen, chairman, R. M. Danielsen and John Brooks. C. H. Stordock was named chairman of the brochure committee assisted by Melvin Mather, Egan and Gordon Doerfler.

The four committees will report on their activities at the breakfast meeting of the board of directors at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10, at the Arcade Restaurant.

Hunters Deny Shining Deer

WAUPACA — Martin Beyersdorf, 31, route 1, Iola, and Donald Mocricke, 29, route 1, Marion, both pleaded innocent of shining deer and having uncased guns in a car. They appeared Saturday before Municipal Justice George Whalen.

They were arrested Friday in the Town of Wyoming. Their trial will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 11, in Municipal Court. Each furnished $200 bond.

Brother-in-Law a Bully, Man Claims

Larry Johnson, 25, Menasha, Faces Count of Attempted Murder

OSHKOSH — A Menasha policeman Friday afternoon quoted Larry Johnson, 25, 1100 Mayer St., Menasha, as saying he could not take any more bullying by Ramon John and that is why he shot him.

Johnson was bound over to plead Dec. 9 to a charge of attempted murder after a preliminary hearing Friday before County Judge James Sitter. Bond was continued at $15,000.

Johnson is charged with shooting his brother-in-law, Ramon John, 34, 525 Second St., Menasha, in the Wayside Inn the evening of Nov. 20.

John is recuperating at Theda Clark Hospital in Neenah from two wounds received in the shooting.

Arrested at Home

Patrolman Charles Evans of the Menasha police department said he was with Patrolman Richard Dehn of the Winnebago County police and Richard Wick of the Menasha police when they arrested Johnson at his house later that night. He said he was in the back seat with Johnson in Dehn's squad car on their way to the Menasha police station.

Evans testified he asked Johnson why he had shot John.

He quoted Johnson as replying, "Ray John was nothing but a big bully" and that he was always bullying Johnson and the others. "I had enough of it and would not take it any more."

Evans also said he told Johnson John might die and Johnson replied, "I don't care."

Watching Traffic

Dehn also testified Friday afternoon but said he could not hear all of the conversation between Evans and Johnson as he was driving and had to concentrate on watching traffic. Wick had returned to the police station in a Menasha squad car.

Joyce Shepardson, who was on duty at the Wayside Inn as bartender, said she thought the shots were firecrackers until she was asked to call for an ambulance and to call police. John and Johnson had been playing "poker pool" with Russell Parker, Menasha, William Dowling Jr., Neenah, and James Manier, Menasha. Those three testified Friday morning as to the incidents preceding the shooting, which they thought at first was a joke and a game between John and Johnson. They said they thought Johnson was firing blanks until they saw John slumped on the floor and bleeding.

Three Rounds

Miss Shepardson said she served three rounds of seven-ounce glasses of beer to the men from the time she came on duty at 6 p.m. that night until the shooting incident, believed to have occurred shortly before 7 p.m.

She testified she did not hear them argue in the room containing the pool table. The room adjoins the bar room. She said she saw Johnson come in and that he had his hands in his pockets. She said Johnson was in the pool room only a few minutes.

She testified Johnson did not say anything to her when he came in or when he left. The others also testified earlier that Johnson had not said anything when he returned to the tavern after being gone about 15 to 20 minutes just prior to the shooting.

Three Shots

The bartender said she heard three shots. The others testified they were in the tavern slightly more than three hours, drinking beer and playing "poker pool."

The three companions said there had been a "slight" disagreement at one time involving Johnson and John about whose turn it was to buy a round of drinks and that John had gone to the bar room and bought a round. They said Johnson tried to give them each a dime for the drinks. John bought, but they declined to accept the money.

No Joking

The men said they all had told Johnson it was his turn to buy, but there was no joking or chiding of Johnson when he did not buy at the end of that game of pool. The bottom two losers were to buy the round of drinks, they said.

Participants in the pool game also said that all of them had played another game of pool after the disagreement between Johnson and John. Johnson left, they said, returning 15 minutes later with the gun.

Judge Sitter denied a defense motion to dismiss the attempted murder charge against Johnson and set Dec. 9 for the filing of information and the plea to that charge by Johnson.

Door County Judge Named

Edward G. Minor Succeeds Retiring Grover Stapleton

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—A veteran Republican lawyer today was named to the chief court of Door County as Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds chose Edward G. Minor to succeed retiring County Judge Grover M. Stapleton.

The governor had been expected to name a Republican in the county which has shown top-heavy Republican voting majorities for years but the selection of Minor over other other available candidates was a minor surprise. Reynolds explained that he has known Minor for most of his adult life and that he is a "very able lawyer."

Minor formerly practiced law in Sturgeon Bay, served three terms as district attorney of the county and most recently was in the public eye as U. S. attorney for the Eastern Federal Court District in Milwaukee a Republican appointment during the Eisenhower administration.

Minor is 65. He and his wife have two sons, Edward Jr., a dentist in Florida, and Morrison, an Appleton chemist.

The judge-designate's father, the late Edward S. Minor, was a Republican congressman from the old Ninth District in northeastern Wisconsin from 1898 to 1910. The new judge will take office Sunday.

He was born in Washington, D. C., got his early education in Sturgeon Bay and was graduated from Marquette University Law School in 1923.

After practicing in suburban Milwaukee County he returned to Door County where he was district attorney from 1944 to 1950.

Judge Stapleton is leaving the bench under the terms of the Judicial pension law which requires retirement at the age of 70 years.

Judge Minor in a statement released from the executive office here said he was "greatly pleased" by the appointment and that "I think I can do a good job."

Appleton Man Escapes Injury When Car Skids Off Highway

WAUPACA—Robert E. Zimmerman, 23, 2331 E. Newberry St., Appleton, escaped injury about 2 p.m. Thursday when his car left County Trunk E, one mile north of Ogdensburg, state police reported.

Zimmerman was going south when he lost control of his car on a curve. The car skidded 189 feet and rolled another 78 feet before coming to a stop in the left ditch.

County police reported Paul Preuss, route 2, Manawa, was driving north on State 54, 10 miles west of New London, when a deer ran into the side of his car about 4:45 p.m. Thursday. Damages to the car were estimated at $125.

County police said two cars were damaged early Saturday morning on County B in Ogdensburg. Sgt. Lyle McCully said Gerald Sprangers, Green Bay, was going west on County Trunk B when he set his brakes and skidded across the road and struck a car operated by Claud Lonetree, Wisconsin Rapids.

Bowmen Move Indoors

New Backstops Ready For Waupaca Archers

WAUPACA — New backstops with room for 20 targets will be used for the first time when the King Archers officially opens their indoor season, according to Frank Kernen, club president.

The backstops have cupboard space for storage under the targets and shooting cushions about five feet high, six feet long and 16 inches thick. They are made of tiered cardboard to stop the arrows and allow for easy extraction.

Some of the archers, who have not been devoting time to hunting, have been using the new equipment in pre-season practice sessions.

60 Members

Kernen said the club has about 60 members and throughout the indoor season, average attendance at the regular Thursday night session is about 40.

This year, the club will enter five team scores in mail matches as well as conducting regular league shoots. Mail matches are contests with other archery clubs in the state. They are "mail" matches because scores are mailed to a secretary who keeps records.

Last year, the junior team of the King Archers placed first in the junior team events of the mail matches.

Mail Entries

King Archers will enter mail match scores in men's and women's divisions in both barebow and sight, and a junior team. The juniors had six wins and no losses last year.

When the season opens in December, the club will sponsor free lessons for children and beginners from 6:30 to 8 p.m. on Thursday nights. Regular club shoots will start at 8 p.m.

Mail matches will start in January.

During the last two years, the club hosted the annual Wisconsin Archery Association state championship indoor shoot. Another annual event is the summer league event at the outdoor range, featuring cardboard deer targets.

Field Archery

Central Wisconsin league field archery event will be held the last Sunday in July at the club's outdoor range at the Chain O'-Lakes Conservation Club.

Other officers of the club are Marvin Mather, vice president; Norman Matheson, secretary; Mrs. Norman Matheson, treasurer, and Miss Bette Adams, scoring secretary.

Members of the club who claimed their deer during the archery season are Matheson, Dennis Schoenick and Gerald Jorgenson.

Deer Bolts Into Auto

13-Year-Old Girl Treated for Injuries Coming From Crash

CHILTON — A 13-year-old rural Chilton girl was injured when a deer bolted into the side of a car on U.S. 151 about three miles east of here at 11:15 p.m. Nov. 27, a county police accident report filed Sunday shows.

Joan Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Henry Wagner, route 4, Chilton, was cut on the forehead and around both eyes by glass shattered by the impact. She was a passenger in a car driven by her brother, Alfred, 17.

The girl was treated at a Chilton doctor's office. Damage to the car was estimated at $200.

Cars driven by Donald F. Nickel, 27, Chicago, and Robert Kobriger, 25, 324 E. Brooklyn St., Chilton, were involved in a collision at the intersection of Park and Brooklyn streets about 12:50 p.m. Saturday.

City police said Nickel pulled away from the stop sign just as Kobriger turned onto the street. Damage was estimated at more than $100. There were no injuries.

Social Survey Being Made In Waupaca

Study Aimed at Making State Better Place to Live

CLINTONVILLE — Mrs. Arna Larson, 97 13th St., is presently engaged in a sociological research in Waupaca county designed to "make Wisconsin a better place in which to live."

She is working for the survey research laboratory of the University of Wisconsin. Under a pre-arranged, scientific plan, Mrs. Larson is conducting interviews in 20 urban and rural homes in the county.

Mrs. Larson said respondents talk freely about political trends and ideas, religion, migration of people, problems of the aged, labor unions and other topics suggested by the research laboratory.

Remain Anonymous

She identifies herself, but the persons on whom she calls are anonymous to her and to the laboratory which planned the survey. Since they are never identified except by a house number or a description of a farm, they talk more freely, Mrs. Larson said.

She explained exact words of respondents, even the thoughts they volunteer, are recorded. Information is compiled, edited, and forwarded to the research laboratory where it is identified by only a number. There is never a wrong answer since the research laboratory is interested in their beliefs, thoughts and their honest responses.

Before the start of the interviewing by Mrs. Larson, all "occupants" were notified of the survey. In the event the house had been vacated or razed she is not permitted to call at a neighboring home. There are no substitutes, she said.

The University pioneered a similar survey venture in 1960 and it is believed this type of survey is more accurate than Gallup polls.

Mrs. Larson studied at the University for a week last September in preparation for the survey.

Waupaca 40 et 8 to Meet at New London

NEW LONDON — The Waupaca County 40 et 8 voiture will hold its annual ladies night meeting at the New London American Legion clubhouse Wednesday night. A dinner will be served starting at 7:30 p.m.

NaGreen Hotel Purchased by 3 Businessmen

Trio Lists Plans To Remodel, Reopen Area Landmark

WEYAUWEGA — The NaGreen Hotel, which was gutted by flames June 10, has been purchased by three businessmen who plan to remodel the 64-year-old landmark and reopen it for business.

The trio who purchased the hotel from former owner Clarence NaGreen are Lowell Taylor, Potter Hutchinson, Weyauwega and P. J. Caravetta, Wrightstown.

Work has already started on removal of the third floor which was badly damaged when the fire swept from the basement to the roof.

Taylor, who is owner and manager of Taylor Cheese Co., said plans call for a two story building which will have hotel accommodations on the second floor and an enlarged dining room area on the first floor. Part of the hotel area will be converted to apartments, he said. Along with the enlarging of the first floor dining room, the Chatter Box, a cocktail lounge and dance area in the basement, will be improved and enlarged and the first floor cocktail lounge and coffee shop will be renovated.

Before the fire there were two dining rooms. They will be converted into one large dining room constructed so that it can be divided in to three smaller rooms when needed.

The blaze which struck the 30-room hotel broke out in or near the Chatter Box in the basement. Before Weyauwega and Waupaca firemen could bring the flames under control the basement and first floor were gutted and then swept upward through the walls missing the second floor and damaged most of the third floor.

The hotel was purchased by the trio of businessmen at a recent auction. Hutchinson operates an insurance business in Weyauwega and Caravetta is the owner of a Wrightstown Cheese company.

No reopening date has been set at the present time.

BORROW WISELY

While our business is that of making loans for homes, we realize that we do an injustice to an individual when we enable him to borrow beyond his capacity to repay. It means much worry, sleepless nights and possible loss.

Years of experience have given us an unusual insight into the planning of a mortgage. And when we do, we are just as interested in helping a customer get out of debt as we are in loaning the money.

Changes Suggested for State Aid for Schools

UW Education Researchers Conduct Study Showing Financial Setup Needs Changing

A survey by education researchers at the University of Wisconsin at Madison suggests that present state programs of aid to public schools may need revision.

The 311-page survey of four states, titled "Economic Impact of State Support Models on Educational Finance," finds that commonly-accepted methods of determining both a school district's financial need and ability to meet educational needs are in need of revision.

The study contends that usual criteria such as number of pupils or number of staff do not really satisfactorily describe the educational need of a given community.

Moreover, the assessed valuation of the community is not the best measure for determining ability to pay, according to the survey. Study director LeRoy J. Peterson, UW professor of educational administration, said, "Educational support cannot be considered in a vacuum." There is a need to consider other tax requirements in the community such as municipal and county levies, instead of considering only the property tax, he added.

Proposes Improvements

The survey presents a hypothetical model of an improved aid program. Prof. Peterson said this model is not based on political considerations, but represents what the survey team thought would soive the problem.

The model calls for using the total public service requirements of a community as a basis for state aid and using net personal income as the basis for need. The amount a community receives would be based on what proportion of the state average could not be met by the community itself.

The survey was supported by funds from UW, the Ford Foundation, and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Part of Urban Studies

The Ford Foundation has given money to the UW Extension Division to support an urban studies program, and it was some of this grant which helped to finance the survey.

Associate director of the survey was Prof. Richard J. Rossmiller. Co-investigators were Profs. Stewart D. North and Howard E. Wakefield.

Districts in four states—Wisconsin, New Jersey, Tennessee and Oregon — were studied. This gave a broad geographical representation as well as a sample of differing types of state aid programs, Prof. Peterson said.

Within each state, six kinds of school districts were surveyed. These were metropolitan center, medium-sized city, small city, established suburb, developing suburb and agricultural service center.

Prof. Peterson said the findings of this survey ought to "make anyone uncomfortable to continue with the present kind of state aid program."

Work on Remodeling the NaGreen Hotel at Weyauwega started Tuesday when workmen started removing the third story. The hotel, which was badly damaged by fire June 10, has been purchased by Lowell Taylor, Potter Hutchinson, both of Weyauwega and P. J. Caravetta, Wrightstown. The remodeled hotel, when completed will include hotel and apartment accommodations, an enlarged dining room, two cocktail lounges and a coffee shop. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Hilbert Man Injured as Rifle Explodes

Robert Schlors Was Test-Firing Shells He Had Hand-Loaded

HILBERT — A rural Hilbert man was injured about 9 a.m. Sunday when the 30-06 caliber rifle he was test firing exploded in his hands.

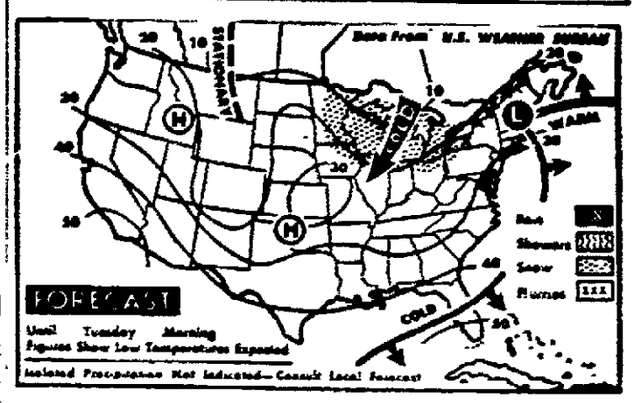

Robert Schlors, 26, route 2, is being treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital, Chilton, for a compound fracture on the index finger of his right hand and minor powder burns.

Schlors, a novice hand loader, told conservation Warden Keith Reichenbach he was test firing some cartridges he had hand-loaded when the gun exploded. The lower half of the breach blew out inflicting the hand injuries

Large Caliber Powder

Schlors said the rifle was new, but that the powder he had used in reloading was not designed for large caliber weapons.

He learned the gun powder was a fine grain powder to be used in small cartridges. The fine grain, in contrast to coarse grain in heavy caliber rifles, permitted Schlors to exceed the safe limitations for operation of the weapon.

Light Snow and Snow flurries are forecast for Monday night for the northern tier of states from the upper Mississippi valley eastward with generally fair weather elsewhere. It will be on the cold side except in the extreme southeast with temperature below the freezing point from the north and central Rockies to the north and central Atlantic states (AP Wirephoto Map)

4 Guilty of Tipsy Driving

Three Men Appear In Outagamie Court Today

Four more persons have been found guilty of drunken driving in separate court appearances.

Leroy C. Dorow, 19, route 2, Hortonville, was fined $175 and costs after he pleaded guilty to drunken driving today in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Dorow was arrested Nov. 19 by county police in the Town of Hortonia and was taken to Outagamie County jail. He was examined by a doctor and tested .20 on the breathalyzer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

His drivers license was revoked for one year.

Others Appear

Edwin W. Biese, 48, 216 S. Mason St., pleaded guilty to drunken driving. He was arrested Saturday afternoon in the Village of Black Creek.

He tested .18 on the drunkometer and was held in county jail until his court appearance today.

Dale W. Hostettler, 23, 1731 N. Clark St., was arrested Sunday in the Town of Grand Chute. He tested .22.

Fines for both were $175 each. Both appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

In Oshkosh

Mrs. Wallace Wickander, 38, 2044 W. Ninth St., Road, Oshkosh, was fined $150 by County Judge James V. Sitter Friday for drunken driving, but he stayed execution of the sentence to permit her attorney to take an appeal to Circuit Court.

She was found guilty by Judge Sitter after trial Nov. 21 and he postponed sentencing until Friday. She was arrested by Winnebago County police Oct. 19 on State 21 west of Oshkosh She tested .16 on the breathalyzer, county police said.

2nd Meeting to Form Scout Troop Set for Holy Angels School

DARBOY — An organizational meeting was held last week at Holy Angels school hall to form a boy scout troop in the parish. The Holy Name Society will sponsor the troop. Committee members instead decided to organize a cub scout troop.

Boys of the school were canvassed recently and parents of those boys who showed interest have been contacted and invited to a meeting at the school hall Tuesday evening. Any other interested parents also may attend. Lawrence Ebert, Kaukauna, will speak at the meeting and explain boy scouting to the group with the help of movies.

3 Added to UW Guidance Plan

Hortonville High Participates in Talent Program for Pupils

HORTONVILLE—Judith Glasenapp Daniel Hechel and Glenna Siebers have been selected for the academically talented students program in its fifth year at Hortonville High School.

Participating for the second year are Daniel Jentz, Patricia Schlegel and Sharon Steinert.

Charles Brenneke, Allan Krull and Becky Schroeder are in the third year of the program.

Trip to Wausau

William Morrissey, guidance director at the high school, accompanied the students to the guidance laboratory at the University of Wisconsin Extension Center, Wausau, where the staff tested and counseled the Hortonville students

The students also participated in a wide variety of experiences designed to broaden their horizons with respect to educational and vocational opportunities; develop realistic concepts about their own strengths and weaknesses: assist in the planning of suitable educational programs: discover methods for overcoming personal and educational limitations, and provide counsel on any matter which may influence the students' fullest development.

Bruno Krueger Former Appleton Teacher Dies

Educator, 67, Was Officer of MacDowell Male Chorus, St. Paul Lutheran Church

Bruno H. Krueger, 67, of 1911 S. Carpenter St., head of the Appleton High School business department for 33 years, died unexpectedly Sunday morning.

Krueger had retired as head of the AHS business department in 1961. He also taught night classes at the Appleton Vocational and Adult School for many years.

He was born March 6, 1896, in Tomah. He graduated from Tomah High School, and studied business at Wisconsin State College-Whitewater. He began his teaching career in the business departments of Algoma and Sturgeon Bay high schools.

Lawrence College

In 1926 Krueger came to Lawrence College on an assistantship. After receiving a bachelor of arts degree, he became head of the AHS business department.

He spent a number of summers at the University of Wisconsin, and in 1933 enrolled in the University of Chicago Business School to work toward a master's degree.

Krueger was a member of the MacDowell Male Chorus for many years, and served as its secretary-treasurer, vice president, president and board member. He was vice president of the board of St. Paul Lutheran Church and a member of the church choir.

Krueger was chairman of the business section of the Wisconsin Education Association, and three times served as chairman of the business section of the Northeastern Wisconsin Education Association

During his last year at Appleton High School, senior shorthand students won the Order of Gregg Artists gold wall plaque, given to the top 10 classes in the United States in a national contest.

During the summers Krueger sold real estate for Carroll and Carroll Realtors.

He is survived by his wife and one sister.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Paul Lutheran Church, with the Rev. F. M. Brandt, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Tomah Cemetery. Tomah Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Tuesday until 9 a.m. Wednesday, and at the church until the hour of the service.

A memorial fund is being established for St. Paul Lutheran School and Fox Valley Lutheran High School.

Winter Chill Clamps Down On Wisconsin

Icy Road Report Issued by State

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Highway Department issued a winter road condition report today and noted that scattered slippery spots exist in the extreme northwest section of the state.

This resulted from snow that measured from one-half inch in southern portion of the region to two inches in the north. Sanding crews worked to improve conditions.

At 10 a.m. it was still snowing in the area and in the Hurley section.

Peter Geniesse of Green Bay receives his mission cross from the Rev. Raymond Zagorski of Appleton before the main altar in the Shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe in Mexico. Father Zagorski, Green Bay diocesan director of the Papal Volunteers for Latin America (PVLA), and assistant pastor at St. Mary Catholic Church, Appleton, met Geniesse in Mexico after he had completed a four-month training period, and traveled with him to Antofagasta, Chile, where he will be one of three Papal Volunteers sponsored by the Green Bay Diocese.

Appleton Priest Observes Missions in Latin America

Father Zagorski Travels to Chile With Green Bay Papal Volunteer

The "international flavor" of Catholic missionary work in Latin America impressed the Rev. Raymond Zagorski, Green Bay diocesan director of PAVLA, on a three-week tour of Central and South American countries this fall.

Father Zagorski traveled to Antofagasta, Chile, with Peter Geniesse, Green Bay, who will serve there as the second PAVLA (Papal Volunteers for Latin America) volunteer from the Green Bay Diocese. They visited missions which are experimenting with new approaches, in several countries on the trip to Chile.

Father Zagorski, who also is assistant pastor of St. Mary Catholic Church, Appleton, said the advantage of the trip was the opportunity to see definite places and people the program deals with, and to get "a more concrete idea of where we are sending people and what conditions they will be living under."

Visited Missions

Geniesse met Father Zagorski in Mexico City after completing a four-month training course at the intercultural formation school in Cuernavaca, Mexico. They visited missions in Mexico, Guatemala, Panama, Bogota, Colombia, Lima, Peru, and Santiago, Chile, before reaching Antofagasta.

Many of the missions have priests, nuns, brothers and lay volunteers of several different nationalities, in addition to local workers, they learned.

The PAVLA work sponsored by the Green Bay Diocese in the Antofagasta Diocese is itself international in flavor. The lay volunteers include Geniesse and Miss Genevieve Zandala, a Manitowoc nurse, who moved to Chile after working for a year in Mexico. In January they will be joined by Miss Jeanine DuCharme, of Fort Kent, Alberta, Canada, who now is attending the PAVLA training school in Ponce, Puerto Rico. Father Zagorski visited the school on his return trip.

Geniesse will teach English and work with Catholic Action and youth groups.

Saw New Approaches

Father Zagorski and Geniesse saw the varied problems faced by the church and new approaches being used during their mission visits.

The most striking person they met, Father Zagorski said, was a Chilean Jesuit working in a slum district of Antofagasta. The priest, the Rev. Ignatio Vergara, says, "In order to know the mind of the people, you have to live with them," and he lives in the same poverty as his 8,000 to 10,000 parishioners.

He has no intention of building a church or school, and he accepts no stipends. He says he has two specialities — his "material" specialty, which is wrought iron work through which he and five men he has trained support themselves, and his "spiritual" speciality. He spends his afternoons and evenings visiting his parishioners, leading Bible groups and training lay leaders.

"Experience in Liturgy"

Attending a mass offered by Father Vergara is "a real experience in the liturgy, a real family gathering," Father Zagorski said. Before mass he takes a list of the people's problems, and during the mass he offers prayers for these specific needs. He says the mass in Latin and the people respond in Spanish. After mass the people sing hymns of thanksgiving, and the priest practices new songs with them, introduces visitors such as Father Zagorski and Geniesse, and visits with the parishioners.

"The witness of his own poverty and his identification with his people was tremendously impressive," Father Zagorski said.

Chile could easily go Communist by vote in 1964, Father Zagorski pointed out. The two other political parties are split, and unless they get together the Communists could easily get in, he said. The Communist presidential candidate, who is conducting an active campaign, says that if the United States cuts off aid, there is no alternative but to turn to the Soviets, he noted.

Support Land Reform

The Chilean bishops have developed a "pastoral plan" which includes land reform, and some church land has been turned over to the poor. The bishops also support the development of small cooperative industries among the people.

The two Fox Valley visitors took part in a unique mission being conducted throughout Chile as part of this pastoral plan. During a three week period in a parish, the mission priest visit all the homes, organize small discussion groups, take the mission into the homes by radio talks, and then lead discussions in the homes. On Saturday nights they hold a bonfire — a traditional event in Latin America — and songfest, followed by a church vigil service similar to the Easter Vigil.

After meeting in Mexico City, Father Zagorski and Geniesse visited the parish in which Miss Zandala had worked. In Guatemala they stayed with Maryknoll fathers at a mission among the Indians, where they found a strange blend of Christian and pagan customs. The witch doctors still have a strong influence there, Father Zagorski said. He brought back several of the small pagan idols which the people must turn in when they are baptized. The priests are teaching the people through a radio school and development of a cooperative farm.

Experimental Parish

In Panama, they visited with three Chicago priests operating an experimental parish in the slums near Panama City. They are seeking ways to serve large numbers and yet create a Christian community, and also are experimenting with the liturgy, Father Zagorski said. They hope to build a community center, which also will serve as a church, and a cooperative factory-school.

In Lima, Peru, they stayed with Norbertine priests who are setting up their first mission and school there. They met the Rev. Julian C. Resch, O.Praem., director of Latin American missions for St. Norbert Abbey, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Alfred Schneider, a native of Chilton, now head of Catholic Charities in Latin America.

The effect of the lay Papal Volunteers, Father Zagorski said, has been to stimulate the people of Latin America to help themselves. He said the trip impressed him with the necessity of training the volunteers to appreciate the Latin American culture and to realize they are there to help and not to change it.

Federal Law for Guards, Not Presidents, Officials

BY JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — If a Secret Service man guarding President Kennedy when he rode through downtown Dallas on Nov. 22 had been killed, it would have been a federal crime.

But the assassination of the President himself was not. It was murder under state law, so federal authorities had no jurisdiction over the case and hence no authority to investigate, to bring charges, or to prosecute the assassin in federal court.

Under existing law it is a federal crime to kill numerous federal officials while they are engaged in the performance of their duties.

In this category, in addition to Secret Service men, are judges, district attorneys and their assistants, U. S. marshals, FBI agents, postal inspectors, prison guards, game wardens, narcotics agents and others.

Congress now seems likely to make it a federal crime to assassinate, or to attempt to kill, or to conspire to kill, the president, the vice president and others in the line of presidential succession—the speaker of the House, the president pro tempore of the Senate and Cabinet members.

Legislation of this nature has been introduced in both the Senate and the House since Kennedy's assassination.

Jane Dakin, Who Killed Both Parents in 1959, May be Given Freedom

MAUSTON (AP)— Circuit Judge Bruce Beilfuss will conduct a hearing Tuesday to determine whether Jane Dakin should be given her freedom.

Miss Dakin, 22, was committed to Winnebago State Hospital in 1959 after a jury found her innocent by reason of insanity in the fatal shooting of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dakin of Mauston.

In March, she was re-examined and permitted to leave the hospital to live with Mrs. H. A. Sryzewski of Oshkosh, a hospital aide. At the hearing her conduct and ability to live outside the hospital will be reviewed by Beilfuss.

Trial Proposed for Lee Harvey Oswald

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—A newspaper proposed Saturday that the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy be given a regular trial—even though he is dead—to bring out all facts in the case.

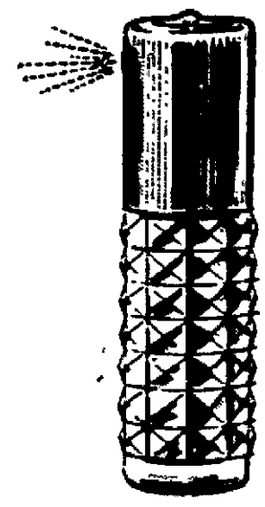

The afternoon Palo Alto Times noted in an editorial that Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of shooting Kennedy, must be presumed innocent until proved guilty.

Moscow Cost of Living Has Its Highs and Lows

Chocolate Bar May Be $1 but Monthly Apartment Rent $5

BY JOHN LLOYD

LONDON (AP)—If you wanted to buy a chocolate bar and you found it cost $1 you would grumble.

If you found that a very small, scrawny, unattractive chicken cost $3 you wouldn't like it at all.

Especially if you earned $100 a month.

But apartment rent might be $5 or $6 a month. You wouldn't grumble about that. Nor would you object to a 5-cent fare on the subway or bus, anywhere you wanted to go.

New Dress

You would not like paying two weeks' salary for a new dress or perhaps double that for a new suit. But if you were enthusiastic about everybody being alike and about everybody being lifted, en masse, to a better plane of existence, and were not fussy about the time it took, you might go along with the idea.

Twenty-seven years ago I was a correspondent in Moscow. Subsequent events took me to various other parts of the world. Only now have I had the opportunity to go back.

A city that in my time claimed two million people has six million today. Very wide avenues, straight as a die, cut through it, and five bridges span the broad river where there were next to none before. Apartment houses, all exactly the same but nevertheless large, cover a vast area on the outskirts that formerly was a dump.

City Grown

Moscow has spread as it has grown in population. A furious building enterprise is going on. People still wait for the chance to get proper living quarters. Proper means small rooms and not many, but there is good heat, there is plumbing and for many people it is more than they have had in the past.

Moscow is drab, and the people, from our point of view, dress drably. There is no elegance, no froth. But they appear to be comfortably clad, and they appear, en masse, to be not unhappy with the circumstances.

You can compare Russia only to its past. You cannot compare it to the Western world. Our ways of life are totally different, and that is not wholly a matter of the revolution.

Air of Fear

Twenty-seven years ago an air of fear cloaked Moscow and other parts of the Soviet Union. That now has been much relieved. It still is not easy to mix freely, but let us remember characteristics of a people as well as those of a state. Suspicion, mystery, intrigue always were there. Russians drink heavily and sometimes are gay, but Russians in toto are a grim rather than a frivolous people.

There is the same old mustiness in Moscow that was there 27 years ago. It is an indoor phenomenon, but it gets into your clothes and you feel you are carrying it about with you. It comes from a combination of smoke, lack of fresh air and crowded living. It is not a political thing.

Same Hotels

Westerners who visit Moscow are put up in the same hotels used 27 years ago. If any change of paint, polish or carpeting has taken place in that time, the artisans were expert at keeping alive old traditions.

Traffic is extremely light compared to that in Western cities. Parking is no problem.

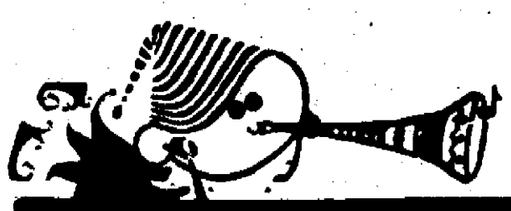

There are two channels of television. One may be showing a play, an opera or ballet, the other a circus or sports, and there is plenty of politics. By politics I mean that of the state. There are no sweet lovelies and there is no frivolity.

Twenty-seven years ago one would hesitate even to approach the gates of the Kremlin. Now people go in and out without even a check. Tours, with guides, go in to see the elaborate churches and the magnificent museum.

Can We Learn From Chicago or Detroit?

Sociologists say the movement of industry toward the Fox Valley from the southeast is inevitable. Just as inevitable, they say, is the following migration of what they call "minority groups" and "non-whites." Generally they are speaking of Negroes.

In an area like this where the Negro population has always been at a minimum, the idea of a sizeable immigration of colored people may be somewhat frightening.

Life Magazine recently documented the Negro problem in a number of large northern cities in stark and realistic terms. The Negro population of cities like Chicago and New York has been increasing at a much faster rate than anywhere in the south. This population has been concentrated in the core areas of these cities, from which it has spread. In the meantime white families have been moving to the suburbs.

Life also referred to what it called the "hour-glass" aspect of the problem. While a minority of Negroes have achieved and are achieving middle class status, the vast majority in the low income class is going downhill in an economic, educational and social sense. As industry requires more skilled hands, unemployment in this group increases. The lot of the Negro in the lowest economic strata constantly worsens.

Given the probability then, of an increase in the Negro population in cities in this area, what lessons can we learn from Chicago and Detroit?

Dr. Gilbert James, sociologist, researcher, teacher and member of the University of Wisconsin's Fox Valley Urban team, addressed a civic leaders' conference at the Fox Valley Center recently and offered a solution that is the most palatable we have heard yet.

It is a six-point program which, basically, calls for equal rights to compete in education, business, employment and housing. Strict housing regulations are a main consideration.

We are not sure Dr. James' proposal is, as it stands, as good or complete as it could be. Some changes, additions or deletions might help.

But Dr. James, in his address, added, "I hope you will kick this idea around and argue about it. I'll feel I have accomplished something if I don't do anything but rub your noses in the potential problem."

Government Housekeeping

Before President Kennedy's death, Senator Majority Leader Mike Mansfield prepared an 11,000-word statement defending the record of the 88th Congress against the label of critics as a "do-nothing" Congress. But after general remarks about the manner in which the session has done its business, he included a criticism of his own.

"The most serious (criticism) in my judgment, has to do with the day to day financial housekeeping of the government," he said. "We have got to face the fact that if we are going to have an orderly fiscal administration of this government we cannot long continue with the practice of raising every few months, as a ritual, the legal debt ceiling. Nor can we expect a rational administration of the vast and far-flung activities of the executive branch of this government if the basic appropriation bills do not become law until months after the fiscal year begins."

So far the Congress has passed only four of the twelve regular appropriation bills for the current fiscal year which began July 1, 1963.

The issue raised by Mansfield will not evoke emotional response around the country. But it is basic and fundamental and vital.

The Death of Aldous Huxley

Huxley came of a famous family. His grandfather was Thomas Henry Huxley of evolutionary reknown and a great-uncle was Mathew Arnold. His brother, Sir Julian, is known both for his biological research and his firm atheistic convictions. A half-brother, Andrew, won this year's Nobel Prize for physiology.

Aldous Huxley many times remarked that the great sorrow in his life was his inability to probe into scientific research. An eye infection as a youth so impaired his eyesight that his studies in medicine were cut short. His health was never good. Much of his delving into the mysteries of life and the eternal had to be done through the eyes of others. But he did graduate from Oxford and was of course a tremendous scholar despite his physical handicaps.

His best known popular work was Brave New World in which he demonstrated in fiction the emptiness of the planned society. The novel was not as descriptive of the evils of complete socialism as was George Orwell's 1984 but its horror was more subtle and perhaps even more devastating.

It is possible that Huxley's infirmities led him into investigations of mysticism and occult religions. He experimented with peyotl, the hallucination producing Mexican drug used in some Indian religious ceremonies. The Perennial Philosophy was a classic in the various approaches to mysticism. He was also fascinated by experiments in communal living.

Some time ago Huxley commented about a drawing he had seen. "It represents an ancient man hobbling along on two sticks, and under, in Goya's strong beautiful handwriting is a brief captoin. . . It means 'I'm still learning.' If ours were still the age of heraldry, those words and the accompanying image would be my crest and motto. An old codger, rampant, but still learning."

Christmas Shoppers Beware

The National Better Business Bureau again has issued a warning to Christmas shoppers to be on guard against the fraudulent schemes of get-rich-quick operators who are not averse to using the Christmas spirit for their dishonest plans.

Since man has a devious mind, the schemes take a number of forms. There are both telephone and mail solicitation for "charitable" organizations with the donations going into the pocket of the agent. There are mail order "bargains" in which the delivered article is a cheap imitation of the one described or pictured in the brochure. There are efforts to collect for C.O.D. packages supposedly addressed to a neighbor not at home. There is the gimmick of mailing out a claim stub which, when accompanied by some money, is supposed to bring the recipient a wonderful present. There are diluted perfumes and small print in contracts which allow no returns.

The best way to guard against such schemers is to trade with reputable firms especially those known personally to the buyer. The fly-by-nights won't be around to listen to complaints after Christmas.

Looking Backward

'Brand the Sneak,' Says Crescent

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Dec. 5, 1863.

When a person has fled from the tyrannical oppression of the crowned heads and corrupt Governments across the sea and received the benefits of our free institutions long enough to amass an independent fortune, and when our Government, bleeding and wounded at every pore, demands his assistance in staunching these wounds, the individual suddenly sells out and decamps for his native land, what thing approbious enough can be applied to him?

R. Gantenbein, a native of Switzerland and for the past four years a resident of this city (where he accumulated a good fortune), was drafted in Green Bay two weeks ago. He has since left for the old country, leaving the Government in the lurch and those in the first Class of the Enrollment to bear the burdens of the Conscription.

Shame on his manhood!

25 YEARS AGO
Monday, Nov. 28, 1938.

The possibility of a Class D baseball league in the Fox River Valley or the state generally loomed brighter after a temporary organization was formed at Appleton. Clarence O Baetz, Appleton, president of the Wisconsin State League for many years, was named chairman Otto Kaufman, Sheboygan, was chosen secretary. Named to the committee to rush completion of the temporary circuit were Dave Smith, Appleton, J. Gaserowitz, Oshkosh, Joe Clusman, Green Bay, and Kaufman.

Two Appleton men were among the four on the Lawrence College football team named to the all-Midwest Conference squad for 1938. They were Albert Novakofski, Menasha, named captain and halfback, and Vincent Jones, Appleton, selected as tackle.

10 YEARS AGO
Monday, Nov. 30, 1953.

Taking part in the Shiocton High School comedy, "Men are Like Street Cars," were Becky Erke, Glen Lillge, Nathalie Pierre, Jackie Van Stratten, Vera Mae Beyers and Helen Sommers.

Several Neenah tennis players were among state netters in the Wisconsin Tennis Association rankings. Gordon Mortensen rated sixth in the boys' singles; Alex Biolo, captain-elect of the Neenah High team, ranked 13th in the junior singles; Don Vought and Junior O'Neill rated sixth in the men's doubles.

John Wunderlich was elected prom king at Hortonville High School with the members of his court including David McNichols, Lynn Lewis, Ronald Akin, LaVern Warmbier and Donald Flunker. Kate Woods was named general chairman of the class event.

Ronald Kressin was elected president of the Freedom High School Student Council. Other officers were Cleo VandeWettering, vice president; Betty Pingel, secretary, and Janet Brown, treasurer.

The Quiet Crisis

Freedman Writes

Record Is Clear on Johnson's Attitude on European Problems

BY MAX FREEDMAN

The best way to measure President Johnson's knowledge of foreign policy is to review his opinions on some of the major problems of the past three years. Inevitably, these problems will change in coming months, and his own reaction to them will be different as he sees them from the lonely perspective of the White House. But at least this review will give us the flavor of his mind, the drift of his philosophy, the direction of his hopes. In this column there will be a review of his response to various problems in Europe, while the next column will attempt a similar review of Asian affairs.

Freedman

President de Gaulle, if he wants to break up NATO or to weaken the unity of Western Europe, will find no ally in President Johnson. The first mission which Vice President Johnson undertook for President Kennedy was to a NATO meeting in Paris. President Johnson believes very strongly in the partnership of America with Great Britain and all of Western Europe. He will oppose any fringe policy that reduces the scope of that partnership, that builds barriers of discrimination against Europe, that diminishes the central importance of Western Germany in the alliance, and that employs nuclear power as a calculated threat that carries the risk of nuclear war with Russia. On all these matters President de Gaulle will find President Johnson a strong defender of traditional American policies.

Within this context of continuity, however, there will be important differences.

ADMIRER OF DE GAULLE

President Johnson has never had any doubt about the personal greatness of President de Gaulle. He honors the French leader as a man whose distinction makes most of the other figures on the world stage look like moral pygmies. For this reason, if for no other, he regrets the note of dogmatism and complaint that has crept into American comments on French policy. He has long believed that the United States has made a mistake in allowing the conflict over policy to be regarded as a dispute between France and America. It is really a conflict between France and her European partners about the future of Western Europe.

Seen in those terms, the controversy no longer becomes a confrontation between President de Gaulle and the White House. It allows greater influence to be exerted by the European countries themselves in this discussion of high policy. Instead of regretting this development, which permits greater European participation, President Johnson will welcome it.

In addition, he will prefer to have American policy in Europe conceived less in terms of intellectual first principles than of specific practical problems. He has never liked political dogma, even when it wears an American label. He thinks we should have talked much less about a grand American design for European unity or else we should have done much more to achieve it. All too often we have merely irritated our European critics without encouraging our European friends.

On the question of American troops in Europe, he has always agreed with President Kennedy that the troops should return home the moment Western Europe wants them to leave. But he also thinks America should never threaten withdrawal in a mood of irritation or petulance; nor should it use the American military commitment as a form of political pressure. The exact size of that commitment is open to review at different times. In strictly military terms, there is much to be said for Mr. Eisenhower's proposal for a large reduction in the number of American divisions that will be kept in Europe as part of the NATO guarantee against aggression. There is far less to be said in favor of that proposal when its inevitable political and diplomatic consequences are taken into account.

President Johnson has a long and honorable history on the Berlin problem, the most important issue in European security. During the first Berlin crisis of 1961 he urged President Kennedy to be completely candid in explaining the Soviet threat to congressional leaders of both parties. He advised the President to give special attention to the views of the Republican leaders. Mr. Johnson told him that in all his experience with Congress he had never known the leaders of either party to deal with national security in a spirit of partisan political advantage. His wisdom was soon justified. At that conference the first man to propose a larger defense budget to meet the growing danger in Europe was Representative Charles Halleck, the Republican leader in the House of Representatives. Mr. Johnson has never forgotten this fact.

FRIEND TO GERMANS

When President Kennedy sent Mr. Johnson to Berlin in 1961, the least important part of this mission was his public assurances of American support to the divided city. He carried out that part of his assignment with a distinction which gave him a personal triumph; but the really important result of his mission was the foundation which it laid for closer co-operation between the German and American governments.

This history is well known to Chancellor Erhard and Mayor Brandt of Berlin. It provides a reserve fund of respect and good will on which President Johnson can draw in his relation with German leaders.

President Johnson has never believed that the fundamental issues which divide Russia and the democratic nations can be settled by negotiation. That does not mean however that he is unwilling to give reason and diplomacy their full scope in trying to reduce the burden of fear in world affairs, and to join with Russia in every measure that eases world tension. For President Johnson the principle has always been the test of recriprocity. He is ready to march with Russia every foot of the way on the hard journey to peace, provided Russia is not leading us to the abyss, and is making equivalent concessions at every stage of the diplomatic process. He thinks it is an error to be so eager to negotiate that our very eagerness becomes a barrier to successful negotiation.

Finally, there is reason to believe that President Johnson thinks Mr. Rusk is much wiser than other officials in Washington in being very cautious in his estimate of the potential gains to the United States from the Moscow-Peiping quarrel. He shares Mr. Rusk's view that many elements of the Communist controversy are subject to change, and that the American people cannot allow themselves to believe that their burdens will be miraculously lightened by an incurable conflict inside the Communist camp.

Russia will soon discover that President Johnson believes neither in the shouted slogan nor in the clenched fist. Mr. Khrushchev can win his co-operation by deserving it. There is no easier way.

Reynolds Weighs Both Sides in Recalling Legislature to Action

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Gov. Reynolds is strongly inclined to summon a special session of the state legislature to act in one way or the other on his accelerated highway construction and bonding program.

Wyngaard

Whether he will actually do so, however, remains in some doubt, principally because of the long-standing supposition among politicians that there is some political peril involved when a governor recalls a legislature. Precisely what this should be is rarely explained. But politicians like most other humans act on their beliefs and according to their training, even if the logic of such habits is not always evident.

It may be that the public ultimately grows weary of the sight of a legislature in session for periods far longer than those of earlier tradition. That is surely true about the Madison atmosphere. Capital city servants, among whom the statehouse professional governmental civil servant is a dominant factor, tend to regard the legislature as a kind of constitutional nuisance. The bureaucracy is happiest when the law-makers are at home.

OTHERS

There is probably also some risk in the exposure to failure, when the governor summons a special session. In this instance the governor cannot be sure that the legislature will do his bidding.

Under a special session call, the houses are limited to a consideration of the matters explicitly listed in the summons. Reynolds would like to confine that call to highway construction. But he may not be able to resist pressures on other topics — such as the question of discrimination in housing — which would tend to muddy the record. And even if he could confine the call to the highway question, he could not be sure of winning. He must therefore ponder the risk of repudiation, and what it may imply for his reelection campaign year record, against the political gain that may be possible in standing in 1964 as the author of the most ambitious new public works effort in the state in recent times.

There is a disposition in Madison to assume that there is majority public support for a huge new program of superhighway construction.

That may be an accurate assessment, if the public is merely polled on the question of whether it would like to have a string of new highways crisscrossing the state.

But does the public want to pay higher taxes for such a boon, and does it want the state to go into debt for the unprecedented amounts the governor urged in his original construction blueprint? There must be some doubt, at the least, in view of the taxation trends on all other levels of public services, state and local, that have established new records for advances this year.

THE ORIGIN

Yet Mr. Reynolds, thoughtful politician that he is, faced with the certainty of another powerful competition from the Republican nominee for governor, faces the gnawing question:

How to justify a reelection bid with a citation of a record of accomplishment in his first term? He has won a substantial victory in his budget program. But that is dull stuff on the campaign stump. He has been defeated on most of the other major issues, local government reform, constitutional revision, civil rights, etc.

He must occasionally reflect on the brilliant improvisation of his predecessor, Gaylord Nelson, in the same situation three years ago. Nelson hit upon his outdoors recreation land acquisition program, with results no less than marvelous, in his circumstances. He was able to identify himself with a cause that has no enemies. He was given unlimited speech and publicity opportunities, and more important, to draw a curtain over his own previous difficulties and lack of success in dealing with a hostile legislature of his time.

The present governor will be strongly tempted to use highway expansion, with its associated values of tourist promotion, industrial expansion and the rest, in the way that Nelson hit upon the natural resources conservation issue.

Cigaret Smoking Has Relevance to Crime

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I was having lunch with three friends, all of whom are heavy cigaret smokers. The conversation turned to crime and punishment, and all three felt quite strongly that what we need is stricter and more severe punishment of criminals in this country.

Harris

When asked why, they agreed that it would act as a "deterrent." If criminals knew that they would be subjected to long and harsh punishment, they insisted, such knowledge would deter them from committing or repeating criminal activities.

I laughed loudly and impolitely, and they turned on me with annoyance. I pointed to the cigarets we were all smoking furiously. "Tell me," I said, "does what we know about cigaret smoking deter us?"

The plain fact of the matter is that the need to commit crimes, like the need to sustain oneself on tobacco, is not rational. And it cannot easily be deterred by rational considerations. Every cigaret addict knows this.

Over the years, the "punishment" for cigaret smoking has become more severe. Where once we only suspected a health menace, now we are practically certain that heavy smoking contributes to heart disease, lung cancer, and other grave illnesses.

Yet at the same time that our knowledge of the penalty has increased, our per capita consumption of cigarets has also increased. More people are smoking more cigarets now than ever before, despite the severity of the "sentence" handed down by medical authorities.

Why should this be so? On the conscious level, at least, there are two reasons: first, we don't care what happens to other people from excessive smoking; and second, we don't think it's going to happen to us.

So is this not exactly the way in which the criminal thinks about his life? The fact that others get caught does not concern or bother him; and he remains steadfast in his belief that he will not get caught himself — and if he does, upon release from prison, he promptly resumes his old ways, just as firmly convinced that he will not be caught again.

The ordinary criminal thinks that crime is a good thing to go into, and that the pleasures outweigh the possible pain or penalty — and so does the confirmed smoker. Neither of them is deterred, even by the thought of death. It is a truism among penologists that when pickpockets were publicly hanged on Tyburn Hill, the remaining pickpockets made their biggest hauls among the crowds watching the hangings.

We are not deterred by objective reality, because we are not moved by objective reality. Our penological system, as it exists today, is a gigantic and wastefully expensive joke society plays on itself.

Can We Learn From Chicago or Detroit?

Sociologists say the movement of industry toward the Fox Valley from the southeast is inevitable. Just as inevitable, they say, is the following migration of what they call "minority groups" and "non-whites." Generally they are speaking of Negroes.

In an area like this where the Negro population has always been at a minimum, the idea of a sizeable immigration of colored people may be somewhat frightening.

Life Magazine recently documented the Negro problem in a number of large northern cities in stark and realistic terms. The Negro population of cities like Chicago and New York has been increasing at a much faster rate than anywhere in the south. This population has been concentrated in the core areas of these cities, from which it has spread. In the meantime white families have been moving to the suburbs.

Life also referred to what it called the "hour-glass" aspect of the problem. While a minority of Negroes have achieved and are achieving middle class status, the vast majority in the low income class is going downhill in an economic, educational and social sense. As industry requires more skilled hands, unemployment in this group increases. The lot of the Negro in the lowest economic strata constantly worsens.

Given the probability then, of an increase in the Negro population in cities in this area, what lessons can we learn from Chicago and Detroit?

Dr. Gilbert James, sociologist, researcher, teacher and member of the University of Wisconsin's Fox Valley Urban team, addressed a civic leaders' conference at the Fox Valley Center recently and offered a solution that is the most palatable we have heard yet.

It is a six-point program which, basically, calls for equal rights to compete in education, business, employment and housing. Strict housing regulations are a main consideration.

We are not sure Dr. James' proposal is, as it stands, as good or complete as it could be. Some changes, additions or deletions might help.

But Dr. James, in his address, added, "I hope you will kick this idea around and argue about it. I'll feel I have accomplished something if I don't do anything but rub your noses in the potential problem."

Government Housekeeping

Before President Kennedy's death, Senator Majority Leader Mike Mansfield prepared an 11,000-word statement defending the record of the 88th Congress against the label of critics as a "do-nothing" Congress. But after general remarks about the manner in which the session has done its business, he included a criticism of his own.

"The most serious (criticism) in my judgment, has to do with the day to day financial housekeeping of the government," he said. "We have got to face the fact that if we are going to have an orderly fiscal administration of this government we cannot long continue with the practice of raising every few months, as a ritual, the legal debt ceiling. Nor can we expect a rational administration of the vast and far-flung activities of the executive branch of this government if the basic appropriation bills do not become law until months after the fiscal year begins."

So far the Congress has passed only four of the twelve regular appropriation bills for the current fiscal year which began July 1, 1963.

The issue raised by Mansfield will not evoke emotional response around the country. But it is basic and fundamental and vital.

The Death of Aldous Huxley

One of the deaths overlooked during the days of national mourning was that of Aldous Huxley, surely one of the most prolific and thoughtful writers of our age.

Huxley came of a famous family. His grandfather was Thomas Henry Huxley of evolutionary reknown and a great-uncle was Mathew Arnold. His brother, Sir Julian, is known both for his biological research and his firm atheistic convictions. A half-brother, Andrew, won this year's Nobel Prize for physiology.

Aldous Huxley many times remarked that the great sorrow in his life was his inability to probe into scientific research. An eye infection as a youth so impaired his eyesight that his studies in medicine were cut short. His health was never good. Much of his delving into the mysteries of life and the eternal had to be done through the eyes of others. But he did graduate from Oxford and was of course a tremendous scholar despite his physical handicaps.

His best known popular work was Brave New World in which he demonstrated in fiction the emptiness of the planned society. The novel was not as descriptive of the evils of complete socialism as was George Orwell's 1984 but its horror was more subtle and perhaps even more devastating.

It is possible that Huxley's infirmities led him into investigations of mysticism and occult religions. He experimented with peyotl, the hallucination producing Mexican drug used in some Indian religious ceremonies. The Perennial Philosophy was a classic in the various approaches to mysticism. He was also fascinated by experiments in communal living.

Some time ago Huxley commented about a drawing he had seen. "It represents an ancient man hobbling along on two sticks, and under, in Goya's strong beautiful handwriting is a brief captoin. . . It means 'I'm still learning.' If ours were still the age of heraldry, those words and the accompanying image would be my crest and motto. An old codger, rampant, but still learning."

Christmas Shoppers Beware

The National Better Business Bureau again has issued a warning to Christmas shoppers to be on guard against the fraudulent schemes of get-rich-quick operators who are not averse to using the Christmas spirit for their dishonest plans.

Since man has a devious mind, the schemes take a number of forms. There are both telephone and mail solicitation for "charitable" organizations with the donations going into the pocket of the agent. There are mail order "bargains" in which the delivered article is a cheap imitation of the one described or pictured in the brochure. There are efforts to collect for C.O.D. packages supposedly addressed to a neighbor not at home. There is the gimmick of mailing out a claim stub which, when accompanied by some money, is supposed to bring the recipient a wonderful present. There are diluted perfumes and small print in contracts which allow no returns.

The best way to guard against such schemers is to trade with reputable firms especially those known personally to the buyer. The fly-by-nights won't be around to listen to complaints after Christmas.

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Dec. 5, 1863.

When a person has fled from the tyrannical oppression of the crowned heads and corrupt Governments across the sea and received the benefits of our free institutions long enough to amass an independent fortune, and when our Government, bleeding and wounded at every pore, demands his assistance in staunching these wounds, the individual suddenly sells out and decamps for his native land, what thing approbious enough can be applied to him?

R. Gantenbein, a native of Switzerland and for the past four years a resident of this city (where he accumulated a good fortune), was drafted in Green Bay two weeks ago. He has since left for the old country, leaving the Government in the lurch and those in the first Class of the Enrollment to bear the burdens of the Conscription.

Shame on his manhood!

25 YEARS AGO
Monday, Nov. 28, 1938.

The possibility of a Class D baseball league in the Fox River Valley or the state generally loomed brighter after a temporary organization was formed at Appleton. Clarence O. Baetz, Appleton, president of the Wisconsin State League for many years, was named chairman. Otto Kaufman, Sheboygan, was chosen secretary. Named to the committee to rush completion of the temporary circuit were Dave Smith, Appleton, J. Gaserowitz, Oshkosh, Joe Clusman, Green Bay, and Kaufman.

Two Appleton men were among the four on the Lawrence College football team named to the all-Midwest Conference squad for 1938. They were Albert Novakofski, Menasha, named captain and halfback, and Vincent Jones, Appleton, selected as tackle.

Taking part in the Shiocton High School comedy, "Men are Like Street Cars," were Becky Erke, Glen Lillge, Nathalie Pierre, Jackie Van Stratten, Vera Mae Beyers and Helen Sommers.

Several Neenah tennis players were among state netters in the Wisconsin Tennis Association rankings. Gordon Mortensen rated sixth in the boys' singles; Alex Biolo, captain-elect of the Neenah High team, ranked 13th in the junior singles; Don Vought and Junior O'Neill rated sixth in the men's doubles.

John Wunderlich was elected prom king at Hortonville High School with the members of his court including David McNichols, Lynn Lewis, Ronald Akin, LaVern Warmbier and Donald Flunker. Kate Woods was named general chairman of the class event.

Ronald Kressin was elected president of the Freedom High School Student Council. Other officers were Cleo VandeWettering, vice president; Betty Pingel, secretary, and Janet Brown, treasurer.

Record Is Clear on Johnson's Attitude on European Problems

BY MAX FREEDMAN

The best way to measure President Johnson's knowledge of foreign policy is to review his opinions on some of the major problems of the past three years. Inevitably, these problems will change in coming months, and his own reaction to them will be different as he sees them from the lonely perspective of the White House. But at least this review will give us the flavor of his mind, the drift of his philosophy, the direction of his hopes. In this column there will be a review of his response to various problems in Europe, while the next column will attempt a similar review of Asian affairs.

Freedman

President de Gaulle, if he wants to break up NATO or to weaken the unity of Western Europe, will find no ally in President Johnson. The first mission which Vice President Johnson undertook for President Kennedy was to a NATO meeting in Paris. President Johnson believes very strongly in the partnership of America with Great Britain and all of Western Europe. He will oppose any fringe policy that reduces the scope of that partnership, that builds barriers of discrimination against Europe, that diminishes the central importance of Western Germany in the alliance, and that employs nuclear power as a calculated threat that carries the risk of nuclear war with Russia. On all these matters President de Gaulle will find President Johnson a strong defender of traditional American policies.

Within this context of continuity, however, there will be important differences.

ADMIRER OF DE GAULLE

President Johnson has never had any doubt about the personal greatness of President de Gaulle. He honors the French leader as a man whose distinction makes most of the other figures on the world stage look like moral pygmies. For this reason, if for no other, he regrets the note of dogmatism and complaint that has crept into American comments on French policy. He has long believed that the United States has made a mistake in allowing the conflict over policy to be regarded as a dispute between France and America. It is really a conflict between France and her European partners about the future of Western Europe.

Seen in those terms, the controversy no longer becomes a confrontation between President de Gaulle and the White House. It allows greater influence to be exerted by the European countries themselves in this discussion of high policy. Instead of regretting this development, which permits greater European participation, President Johnson will welcome it.

In addition, he will prefer to have American policy in Europe conceived less in terms of intellectual first principles than of specific practical problems. He has never liked political dogma, even when it wears an American label. He thinks we should have talked much less about a grand American design for European unity or else we should have done much more to achieve it. All too often we have merely irritated our European critics without encouraging our European friends.

On the question of American troops in Europe, he has always agreed with President Kennedy that the troops should return home the moment Western Europe wants them to leave. But he also thinks America should never threaten withdrawal in a mood of irritation or petulance; nor should it use the American military commitment as a form of political pressure. The exact size of that commitment is open to review at different times. In strictly military terms, there is much to be said for Mr. Eisenhower's proposal for a large reduction in the number of American divisions that will be kept in Europe as part of the NATO guarantee against aggression. There is far less to be said in favor of that proposal when its inevitable political and diplomatic consequences are taken into account.

President Johnson has a long and honorable history on the Berlin problem, the most important issue in European security. During the first Berlin crisis of 1961 he urged President Kennedy to be completely candid in explaining the Soviet threat to congressional leaders of both parties. He advised the President to give special attention to the views of the Republican leaders. Mr. Johnson told him that in all his experience with Congress he had never known the leaders of either party to deal with national security in a spirit of partisan political advantage. His wisdom was soon justified. At that conference the first man to propose a larger defense budget to meet the growing danger in Europe was Representative Charles Halleck, the Republican leader in the House of Representatives. Mr. Johnson has never forgotten this fact.

FRIEND TO GERMANS

When President Kennedy sent Mr. Johnson to Berlin in 1961, the least important part of this mission was his public assurances of American support to the divided city. He carried out that part of his assignment with a distinction which gave him a personal triumph; but the really important result of his mission was the foundation which it laid for closer co-operation between the German and American governments.

This history is well known to Chancellor Erhard and Mayor Brandt of Berlin. It provides a reserve fund of respect and good will on which President Johnson can draw in his relation with German leaders.

President Johnson has never believed that the fundamental issues which divide Russia and the democratic nations can be settled by negotiation. That does not mean however that he is unwilling to give reason and diplomacy their full scope in trying to reduce the burden of fear in world affairs, and to join with Russia in every measure that eases world tension. For President Johnson the principle has always been the test of recriprocity. He is ready to march with Russia every foot of the way on the hard journey to peace, provided Russia is not leading us to the abyss, and is making equivalent concessions at every stage of the diplomatic process. He thinks it is an error to be so eager to negotiate that our very eagerness becomes a barrier to successful negotiation.

Finally, there is reason to believe that President Johnson thinks Mr. Rusk is much wiser than other officials in Washington in being very cautious in his estimate of the potential gains to the United States from the Moscow-Peiping quarrel. He shares Mr. Rusk's view that many elements of the Communist controversy are subject to change, and that the American people cannot allow themselves to believe that their burdens will be miraculously lightened by an incurable conflict inside the Communist camp.

Russia will soon discover that President Johnson believes neither in the shouted slogan nor in the clenched fist. Mr. Khrushchev can win his co-operation by deserving it. There is no easier way.

Oswald Egocentric And Had Delusions

Accused Assassin Dissatisfied With America, Rejected by Reds

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The picture of Lee Harvey Oswald which emerges so far is that of a crybaby, self-centered, undisciplined, half-educated, a mind too poor to understand what he read, and with delusions about himself.

When the facts are all in, he may look different. But this ex-Marine, 24, assassinated after being charged with killing President John F. Kennedy, was a nobody who clearly wanted to be somebody.

It may turn out he was part of a conspiracy. But the information revealed up to this time indicates the exact opposite. He called himself a Marxist without seeming to understand a Marxist revolution is a job for an organization. Oswald was too undisciplined to be a good organization man.

Boasted of Books

He boasted about the books he had read, but he never learned to spell well. He was dissatisfied with the American society but never learned how to do a job well enough to keep it so he could support himself in this society.

And while he kept talking of a more perfect society, in this one he skipped out on his rent. He called himself pro-Castro and anti-Castro. He glorified the Soviet Union and wanted to write a book condemning it.

He complained about the hardships his mother had suffered during the depression, before he was born, but the evidence indicates that after he was able to go to work, he contributed little or nothing to her support.

Out of Work

He complained to a family friend he was out of work and his wife was expecting their second baby. The friend drove first child, returned to her home to New Orleans for the wife and in Dallas with them, and took care of them for weeks.

Oswald apparently never contributed a nickel to this woman friend of the family for the support of his wife and child and second baby but, instead, went to Mexico to arrange a trip for himself to Europe.

His problem started early. In the very short time he and his mother lived in New York he became such a delinquent in school he was given a psychiatric examination. He was found to be "wild." Perhaps the delusions showed up then.

Quit School

At 17 he quit school to go into the Marines. He didn't do well under the discipline. He was court-martialed twice and was in constant conflict with other Marines.

He was given a special, hardship discharge so he could go home and help his mother, who had been badly injured at her job.

Instead of staying with his mother to help, he got a job on a freighter and, unknown to his mother but with $1,000 saved up from his Marine days, went to the Soviet Union.

In Moscow he called a news conference to announce he was defecting and wanted to become a Soviet citizen. He called himself a Marxist, said he was the youngest in the United States.

This demonstrated, at least, that he had some delusions about his importance. The Russians seemed unimpressed, withheld citizenship, and gave him a job in a factory at Minsk.

2 Happenings

Two things happened: He got married and became disillusioned with the Soviet Union. The idea of working at the same job perhaps became too much for his undisciplined spirit. Perhaps he felt frustrated by being treated as just another worker.

The fact that he had to go to the Soviet Union to understand how it operated — that there was absolute discipline under the Communists and discipline meant work because the Communists dislike bums—is as good an insight as any into the poor quality of his mind and his stability.

He was allowed to return to this country by the American government after three years in the Soviet Union. Here he bounced around from job to job, never really competent in anything except the most menial jobs.

TV Discussion

In the meantime he tried to call attention to himself as pro-Castro and anti-Castro. He got into a television discussion on communism and Marxism and made a mess of himself.

Last September he went to the Cuban Consulate in Mexico City to get a visa to Cuba and the Soviet Union. When he was told it would take time he stormed out, slamming the door.

Felt Rejected

It's possible Oswald then felt rejected by both Moscow and Cuba. This is also possible, if he is the man who killed Kennedy, that he decided he would single-handedly show the Soviet and Cuban Communists how a revolutionist should act by killing the President.

He never seemed to understand that the really effective revolutionists—like Lenin, Stalin, Khrushchev—did not act singly but as part of an organization.

They looked upon the individual trying some crime on his own not as a revolutionary but as a romantic. For a Communist there is nothing so deserving of contempt as a romantic.

Mother's Duty to Stop Husband Bullying Children

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I have spent 11 years standing between my seven children and my 6-foot, 200-pound bully of a husband. So don't tell me I'm a weakling.

Dr. Jones

He doesn't let our children go anywhere except in the fenced in yard. We live across the street from the school and unless they're home five minutes after school is over, he raises the roof. Not one of them, not even the oldest, who's 11, is allowed to go to the bathroom, get a drink of water, read a book, pick up a toy, get off a chair, or even leave a room without his permission.

We live in constant turmoil, arguing, fighting, beatings, tears, and misery. I've tried separation to bring him to his senses, but that didn't work. And I tried going to an agency for counseling help by myself, hoping that maybe he would accompany me eventually. But he didn't.

How can I bring my children up to respect and love a man like this? I know he's a sick man, and I know it doesn't do any good to reason or plead with him. MRS. P.N.

No one can respect anyone who isn't respectable. So you're fighting a lost battle in trying to make your children feel anything except anger, fear, and possibly pity for their father.

And they'll probably soon lose all affection and respect for you, too.

After all, if your husband isn't home day and night, he can't very well be the only parent making your children obey such unreasonable commands.

Stop being a co-bully because you're afraid to antagonize your husband. His demands are the product of his sick mind and should be opposed by you, even if you have to contradict him openly in front of the children. Tell him he must stop being a slavedriver, whether he stays or goes or seeks treatment.

In case you don't believe this can help, read the next letter.

Dear Dr. Jones: I've always believed in the strap for our six-year-old son when he disobeyed. But my wife read where you said that a woman who lets a man bully a child is a spineless weakling. And she told me I have to stop.

I don't know how to explain what's happening for the past week. But I told my wife I'm writing to you to ask for a name of a clinic we can go to to get help four our problems. I don't want to lose my wife and my child. And I know that she's right, finally. MR. P.K.

Thanks ever so much for writing. The name of the agency is on the way. And give your wife a big hug from me, will you?

Reynolds Says Discrimination Is Immoral

Government Must Convince Public On Legislation

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gov. John W. Reynolds said Sunday the inability of government leaders to convince many citizens that discrimination is immoral is the reason state and federal governments have not enacted meaningful civil rights legislation.

"The state will be helpless in solving this problem unless human rights is looked upon as a moral issue," Reynolds said.

"We must convince our fellow man," Reynolds continued, "that a denial of the brotherhood of man is a denial of the fatherhood of God."

No Attempt

The governor told the Catholic Inter-racial Council of Milwaukee that "no attempt by the state to achieve a real system of equal opportunity will succeed unless our citizens want it to succeed."

The nation lost a "great champion in the cause of human rights" with the death of President Kennedy the governor said, and he expressed confidence in the devotion of President Johnson to the cause of civil rights.

"No man can question the sincerity with which President Johnson speaks on this issue," he added. By birth a Southerner, he has assumed the responsibility of speaking to all of us—in the North as well as in the South—of the unfulfilled pledges of a hundred years ago."

of Stevens Point and crashed into a ditch.

Elmer J. Rude, 46, LaCrosse, was killed Sunday when struck by a car as he stepped from his automobile in front of his home.

Gerhart C. Burkhart, 52, a Chippewa Falls funeral director died Saturday when his car plunged into the Chippewa River after leaving Highway 176 about four miles south of Cornel. Officials said he drowned.

Mrs. Mary Klarkowski, 69, of Preble, a suburb of Green Bay, was killed Saturday when struck by a car as she walked home from church services.

Hits Embankment

Harold Mardous, 36, of Stillwater, Minn., was injured fatally Saturday when his car hit an embankment nine miles northwest of Hudson in St. Croix County.

Others killed during the holiday period, which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended last midnight, were Mrs. Marion Herrmann, 22, of rural Oshkosh, Mrs Alex Rzatkiewicz, 47, of Milwaukee, Elwood Woodhull, 47, of Taylor, and Calvin J. Early, 24, of Two Rivers

1 Dead, 5 Hurt in Car-Bus Collision

DAYTON, Tex. (AP) — A cross-country bus and an automobile collided in a drizzle today, killing the car driver, A.D. Garrett, 54, of Center, Tex.

Five bus passengers were injured.

The accident occurred about 6 a.m. eight miles west of Dayton.

The bus was en route from New York to Houston. The injured, none believed seriously hurt, were taken to a Dayton hospital

Says Scientist Alone Can't Solve Problems Created by Science

NEW YORK (AP)—"Science is too serious a matter to be left to the scientist," says David Sarnoff, board chairman of the Radio Corp of America.

Speaking to a meeting of the American Friends of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Sarnoff said "Technological progress will inevitably create new problems, and the scientist alone cannot be expected to provide all the solutions."

asked to decide whether two controversial chapters of that schema—on Jews and on religious freedom — were acceptable for detailed debate.

Statement Expected

Bishops questioned over the weekend expected a statement from the council moderators that the two chapters were distributed too late this session for study by each prelate, but would not be shelved during the recess until the council resumes in September.

The ecumenism schema's chapter on Jews says all mankind shares equally in responsibility for Christ's crucifixion. The chapter on religious freedom says a person is free to follow his conscience on belief in a religion.

Tuesday, the council, with Pope Paul present, will commemorate the 400th anniversary of the closing of the Council of Trent and the nearly 100 disciplinary decrees it issued.

Wednesday the full body of prelates, together with the Pope, will give another formal approval and promulgation of the worship and communications schemata as solemn decrees.

Wisconsin Listed Fifth Largest School in Nation

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Wisconsin was listed as the fifth largest school in the nation, on the basis of full time students, in the annual report for School and Society, an educational journal.

The report, released Sunday and prepared by Dr. Garland G. Parker, registrar at the University of Cincinnati, listed the Wisconsin enrollment at 30,868. Wisconsin ranked sixth largest on the basis of grand total enrollments, those including part-time students, with 38,883.

Schools ranking ahead of Wisconsin in the list of full time students were California 62,240, State University of New York 52,893, City University of New York 40,580, and Minnesota 35,112.

Larger than Wisconsin on grand total enrollments were City University of New York 101,247, California 101,064, State University of New York 72,918, Minnesota 49,228 and New York University 41,700.

Heritage Trail Meeting At Rochester, Minn. 4-State Delegation

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)— The third meeting to discuss a proposed "Heritage" trail winding through Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois will be held in Rochester, Minn., Tuesday and will be attended by representatives of the four states.

Stephen Quigley, head of Minnesota's Commission of Administration, said that he will propose governors of the four states meet in Minneapolis in January to discuss final plans for the auto touring route.

Quigley said he expects Tuesday's meeting to produce an agreement by the representatives on the route and a name. He said he will propose it be called "Hiawatha Heritage Trail."

Decisions resulting from the meeting will be forwarded, Quigley said, to the American Petroleum Institute, which he said has indicated it will invest as much as $1 million in a national promotion of the trail.

at breakfast with Robert C. Robinson, deputy commissioner of the urban renewal administration. Green Bay possibilities under the urban renewal program were outlined to Robinson, who indicated the city was well along on preliminary planning requirements. Robinson advised the group to outline specific ideas to the Chicago regional office of his agency.

Rebuilding Program

The proposals outlined to Robinson included some for rebuilding downtown properties and the plan to create a bayshore park and boating facility.

Green Bay was presented by Mayor Roman Dennissen, John Borgenson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, John Sommerville, chamber president; Frank Shekore, chairman of the Citizen's Committee for Urban Renewal, and Donald Dockery and Michael Barnard, Greeen Bay real estate men who are members of a chamber committee on redeveolpment.

Dennissen was to be a member of a panel discussion at the conference later today.

Cites Advantages

In his keynote talk, Reynolds said urban renewal had both economic advantages by improving business and the local government tax base and social benefits by attacking poor housing, crime and disease. Such neighborhoods can be improved, he said. "They are man-made problems and therefore lend themselves to man-made solutions."

The preliminary requirements of detailed local planning before application can be made to federal urban renewal funds, Reynolds said, is a benefit in itself because it isolates housing and zoning problems.

"The very process of taking stock of ourselves is beneficial in itself," Reynolds said. Reynolds pledged that the State Department of Resource and Development would actively support and aid local governments in preparing federal urban renewal applications daughters attended services Sunday at St. Mark's Episcopal Church. Then the Johnson family drove to Arlington National Cemetery where the President placed a bouquet of red roses on the grave of his assassinated predecessor, John F. Kennedy.

But, he said, the state's role in the field is "like that of a midwife," and that the detailed planning and energy must come from the local officials.

The visits of Erhard, Segni and Douglas-Home are in line with Johnson's vow to carry out Kennedy's objective of strengthening ties within the Atlantic Alliance.

Erhard due Dec. 27

Erhard will confer with Johnson Dec. 27-28 at the Johnson ranch near Johnson City, Tex. Segni will pay a state visit to Washington Jan. 14-15, and Douglas - Home will come to Washington for talks with Johnson Feb. 12-13.

President Charles de Gaulle of France also is expected to visit the United States next year, but no date has been set. The slowness in fixing a date apparently reflects the deep differences with France on Western policy.

Meanwhile, the FBI is looking over a Soviet consular file on Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of Kennedy. Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin voluntarily turned over the file to Secretary of State Dean Rusk Saturday.

Oswald, who was slain two days after the assassination of the President, lived in Russia for nearly three years.

of fire poured into the windows of the United Press International agency on the ninth floor of an office building. One bullet nicked the chest of cameraman Carl Warner of Miami, Fla., and other bullets knocked out the lights and power supply.

Another gun battle raged outside the building housing The Associated Press until national guard troops blocked the streets with barbed wire and drove the snipers from the roof tops.

The slow official vote count continued, meanwhile, without interruption in the Congress Building surrounded by troops.

About 10,000 police and national guardsmen were posted in Caracas and another 40,000 throughout the country to protect voters.

TV News Said to Whet Appetite For Written Word

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Television coverage of major news events sharpens the viewer's appetite for the written word, several newspaper editors agreed Sunday night at a meeting of the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League.

Martin Wolman, league president and business manager of Madison Newspapers, Inc., which prints the Wisconsin State Journal and the Madison Capital Times, said sales of the two newspapers run about 10,000 a day more than normal during the reporting of the assassination of President Kennedy.

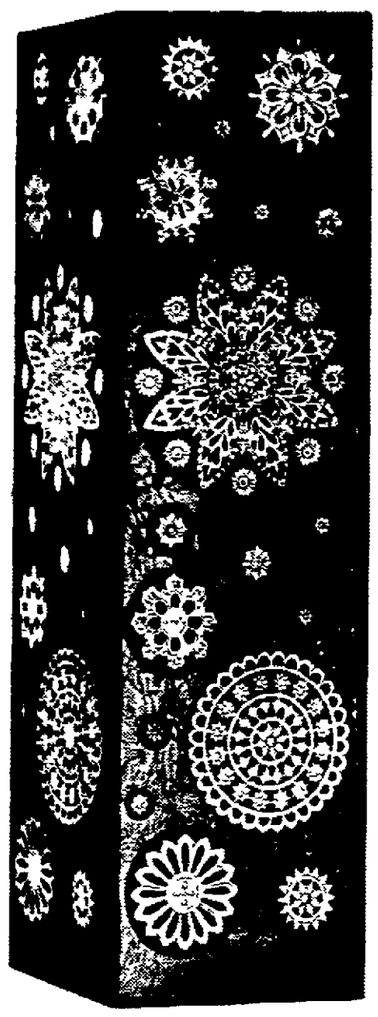

"The people wanted to verify what they saw on television by reading it in their newspapers," Wolman said. "They wanted more explanation and they wanted it in detail."

Henry Youmans, publisher of the Waukesha Daily Freeman, said television coverage of news events "sharpened the viewer's appetite for newspaper accounts."

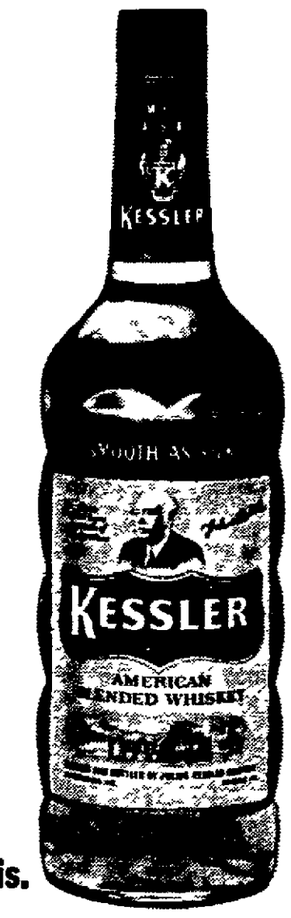

V. I. Minahan, publisher of the Appleton Post - Crescent, said that television news coverage "makes people grab for papers to read about what they saw on television."

Others expressing the same view were H. R. LePoidevin, co-publisher of the Racine Journal-Times; Elmer C. Tryon, in charge of circulation and advertising for the Marinette Eagle - Star, and W. F. McCormick, general manager of the Wausau Record - Herald.
